Mobutu Breaks Off Relations With UN, Will Seek U.S. Aid

2 More Face Arrest For Gas Thefts

Oil Firm's Workers To Be Charged; First Suspect Posts Bond

Charges will be filed Monday in Municipal Court by the State Highway Patrol against two employes of a bulk gasoline plant on the River Rd. who have been implicated in the large-scale theft of several thousand gallons of gasoline.

Meanwhile, a Chester man first to be arrested Wednesday in connection with the operation, was released on bond Friday from City Jail, where he was being held on a charge of grand larceny.

A special plainclothes team and city police cracked the case Wednesday, confiscating two camouflaged pickup trucks used to haul the stolen fuel.

Sgt. R. A. Jakmas of the Warren headquarters of the patrol said today he will file charges Monday against two employes of the American Oil Co. plant on the River Rd. Authorities believe over 500,000 gallons of gasoline was stolen and resold to area service station operators.

Sgt. Jakmas, the plainclothes officer who directed the crackdown, said he has signed statements from the two employes. He said they readily admitted their part in the theft.

Jakmas said the investigation is continuing and that he expects to make further arrests. He said he knows that charges will be filed shortly against a fourth man.

Jakmas also said he has a complete record of those who have received deliveries of the stolen fuel. "It will take quite a while to clear up the case," he said.

Investigation revealed that the gasoline was resold to dealers in the area, including West Virginia. State tax officials also are readying a study of the case.

James Ronald Glover, 41, of 104 Church St., Chester, was released from jail early yesterday afternoon after Cody Deering of near Calcutta posted a $3,000 property bond. His bond had been set at $1,500 pending a hearing.

Officers said Glover had been under surveillance for some time. He was driving a truck loaded with gas in a tank hidden beneath a tarpaulin when picked up on S. Market St. near 3rd St.

The larcency charge against Glover was filed by Cpl. William Cutting of the special patrol detail. It alleges Glover stole 500 gallons of fuel, valued at about $125 from the terminal Wednesday.

After Glover's arrest, the patrol obtained a search warrant and found another truck in an E. 2nd St. site. This truck also was equipped with a hidden tank.

Authorities said the trucks are registered in the name of Robert Deering, 401 Elizabeth St.

Authorities said the tax involved would include the 4-cent Ohio tax and 7-cent federal tax on each gallon. None of the tax was paid on the stolen gasoline.

10 Lose Lives In Freighter, Ship Collision

BURAS, La. (AP)—At least 10 persons were reported dead in a predawn collision between an Italian freighter and an American passenger ship in th Mississippi River near Buras today.

A reporter on the scene said at least 10 were dead.

The Plaquemines Parish Sheriff's Office at Port Sulphur, La., said official reports listed five dead and another six missing.

At least 25 other persons were reported injured, some critically.

The Alcoa Corsair, a Caribbean cruise ship carrying around 50 passengers, was crippled in the collision. The ship's master beached the vessel to keep it from sinking.

The Lorenzo Marcello, a freighter bound from Houston to New Orleans, was heavily damaged. Its bow ripped open, it was proceeding slowly upstream towards New Orleans.

The Alcoa Corsair was en route to San Juan, P.R., according to shipping records. It left New Orleans Friday.

The passenger vessel was raked from near the bow along most of one side, and one hold was flooded.

A Coast Guard officer said cause of the collision was not determined. He said there may have been some fog on that stretch of the river, about 30 miles upstream from the mouth.

$10,000 Loss Set In Men's Store Blaze

Wife Of Proprietor Discovers Flames In Brian Haberdashery

Unofficial estimates have placed the loss at nearly $10,000 in a fire that caused extensive damage to Brian's Men's Store on W. 5th St. early Friday afternoon and smoke damage to an adjoining office supply firm and a second-floor apartment.

Richard G. Brian, operator of the clothing store, was unable to indicate the amount of the loss today until a check can be made of the merchandise.

The cause of the fire is listed officially as undetermined but Chief Charles Bryan believes it may have been started from a lighted cigarette left burning on a shelf in a rear stockroom.

The store operator told firemen he does not smoke in the store. He indicated faulty wiring may have touched off the fire.

Brian had left the store just a few minutes before the blaze was discovered by his wife.

Mrs. Brian said she was waiting on a customer when she heard a noise at the rear and investigated, finding a mass of flames. The customer ran into the Kennedy Office Supply store next door to call firemen while Mrs. Brian attempted to beat out the flames with a cushion.

Firemen said the blaze started on shelving in a rear stockroom where some Christmas gift boxes had been stored.

The first alarm was received at 1:30 p. m., sending a pumper and aerial ladder from Central Station to the blaze. A second alarm was turned in a new minutes later, bringing two more pumpers to the scene.

Firemen used the aerial ladder to reach the roof of the two-story frame building while others fought the flames from the interior. Oxygen masks were required because of the dense smoke. The building is owned by John Golding.

The only damage in the Kennedy store and the apartment occupied by Lawrence J. Zollinger was from smoke, firemen said.

Eight firemen responded to the two alarms along with nine off-duty firemen.

A cigarette also was blamed for a rubbish fire last night in Summit Ln. at the rear of a restaurant and an auto supply firm.

Firemen were called to the rear of Ann's Restaurant and Burke Auto Supply at 7:30 p. m. when cartons stacked in a passageway were ignited by the discarded cigarette.

Sic Temper Confusit; DST Ends In Week

My, how time flies! Another week and we'll have to turn back the clocks an hour.

All Tri-State communities will drop Daylight Saving Time Sunday, Oct. 30, resuming Eastern Standard Time and ending a month of time confusion.

Many school districts and some towns in the area went back to EST the first Sunday this month. But everybody "will be in step" after Sunday a week.

Residents lost an hour's sleep when fast time started April 24. The hour is regained with the time switch.

'Special Gifts' Unit To Begin Bid For Funds

First solicitation in the Community Fund campaign will begin Monday when the Special Gifts Division takes to the field to contact some 125 larger, individual contributors.

Traditionally the first to be activated in the drive, the division is headed this year by Winston A. Porter and Sidney C. Porter Jr., as co-chairmen.

Five teams, comprised of 22 women volunteers serving in the division, met Friday at the Country Club where pledge cards, workers' kits and other campaign supplies were distributed. The group heard a brief talk by Winston Porter.

Porter, who is a past president of the Community Fund Association and a member of its Board of Directors, also served as campaign chairman several years ago. President of the Globe Brick Co., he is active in many local organizations. He is on the Board of Directors of East Liverpool City Hospital, the city chapter of the American Red Cross and the Potters Savings & Loan Co. He is on the Board of Trustees of Trinity Presbyterian Church and is a member of Rotary Club, Chamber of Commerce, Masonic Riddle Lodge 315 and the Upper Ohio Valley Development Council.

Sidney C. Porter Jr., serving as co-chairman of the Special Gifts Division, is likewise active in community affairs.

He is president of the Columbiana County Heart Council and also serves on the Board of Directors of the Youngstown Area Heart Association, the local Rotary Club, the YMCA, the Potters Bank & Trust Co. and the Globe Brick Co. of Newell, with which he is associated. He is a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Trinity Presbyterian Church here.

Volunteers serving in the Special Gifts Division include these team captains: Mrs. Robert Wells, Mrs. Robert Hand, Mrs. William Pickin, Mrs. William F. Porter, Mrs. Sidney C. Porter Jr. and Mrs. Winston A. Porter.

At yesterday's meeting, the division co-chairmen announced that the unit is expected to complete its solicitation within a two-week period, with final reports from team captains due by Nov. 7. A quota of $7,500 has been set for this division in the overall campaign goal of $82,368.

Jury Dismissed After Deadlock On Verdict

A jury, reporting it was unable to reach a verdict, was dismissed about noon Friday by Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard in the trial of Frank Bookman, 20, of East Liverpool, charged with the cutting with intent to wound Noah Soliday of Canton, Aug. 20, in a bar fight at Miner's Tavern in Kensington.

The jury was charged by Judge Buzzard Thursday and was given the case about 2 p. m. The panel deliberated until 4:30 Thursday, then was released, resuming deliberations at 9 a. m. Friday. About noon the panel informed the court it couldn't agree.

Harassment Of Dag Clear Aim Of Soviet

Climax Looms First Of Week When He Seeks Congo Funds

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Soviets made clear today they intend to keep harassing Dag Hammarskjold in the apparent hope of forcing him to quit as secretary-general.

The attacks, steadily mounting in intensity, are expected to reach a climax Monday or Tuesday when Hammarskjold is slated to put in an estimated bill of $150 million to $200 million to cover the cost of the Congo operation through next year.

The Soviet bloc served notice in the 99-nation Financial Committee Friday that they will not pay any part of the Congo bill. Czechoslovakia accused the United Nations of playing a "dirty role" in the strife-torn African state and charged Hammarskjold with hypocrisy and showing partiality to the West.

The attack sparked a sharp reply from the United States which branded it a move aimed at wrecking the United Nations.

Albert F. Bender, U.S. delegate, called the Czech statement "one of the most deplorable ever made in this body."

He said that by charging the United Nations with playing a dirty role, Czech delegate Miroslav Nacvalac had hurled insults at Hammarskjold, the U. S. government and all other nations which voted to set up a U. N. force in the Congo.

"Our organization is built on good faith," Bender declared. "I suggest that whoever attempts to destroy that good faith is not only violating the spirit of the charter: he may well be considered to have as his goal the total destruction of the United Nations itself by sowing the seeds of distrust."

Later the Soviets issued a statement accusing Hammarskjold of following a policy of "direct sabotage" of Security Council resolutions on the Congo.

Both Camps Cite Victory In Debates

Nixon And Kennedy Clash On Cuba; 5th Rematch Seen Slim

NEW YORK (AP)—The fourth Nixon-Kennedy debate has gone into history with both sides claiming success in an unprecedented series that may—although the possibility is slim—be extended to another match.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy disputed, challenged and rebuked each other for the better part of an hour Friday night before a television and radio audience spread across the nation.

They clashed sharply over U.S. policy toward Cuba. Nixon said his Democratic rival had been irresponsible as never before in proposing aid to Cuban elements hostile to both Prime Minister Fidel Castro and former dictator Fulgencio Batista.

Kennedy said economic curbs thrown against Cuba by the Eisenhower administration and supported by the GOP candidate were inadequate to cope with Communist penetration of the island republic less than 100 miles from the U.S. coast.

Kennedy said communism is most vulnerable in eastern Europe.

Nixon said the Soviets may be cheating on the suspension of nuclear tests.

These latter points were two of the newer slants in the fourth debate. For the most part the candidates rehashed views stated in their previous meetings or on the campaign stump. And for that reason, voters who previously had seen or heard them argue could more quickly pick the man they favored beforehand as the winner.

Whether or not the fourth debate would stir public demand for an unplanned fifth, Kennedy renewed his call on Nixon to meet again and Nixon said he doesn't rule out anything.

Kennedy had asserted a fifth debate, if not more, would be necessary to keep the record straight.

The candidates settled nothing between themselves. Kennedy hurried from the American Broadcasting Co. studio, where the combined network program originated, to make an appearance at Madison Square Garden and then take off for St. Louis, where he launches a Midwest tour. He and the vice president shook hands.

Nixon told Kennedy he had received the senator's wire, presumably one proposing a fifth

Phone Interviews Conducted

Kennedy May Have Edge In Debates, Check Shows

WASHINGTON (AP)—A spot check of 90 voters across the country indicated today that Sen. John F. Kennedy may have derived a bit more benefit from the four television debates than Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

In telephone interviews conducted by Associated Press newsmen in nine cities, 32 voters said they thought Kennedy had gained most from the debates and 24 said they thought Nixon had gained most.

The 34 others replied either that they couldn't decide, that neither had gained, or that both had gained.

Fifty of the voters said the debates had not influenced their preference at all. Of the 40 who said they were influenced, 21 said the debates strengthened or swayed them toward Kennedy, 17 said the debates strengthened or swayed them toward Nixon, and two admitted influence but could not say toward which candidate.

Although Kennedy had a slight lead over Nixon in the number of voters who thought he gained or influenced them because of the debates, this did not show up when voters were asked who they intended to vote for.

Kennedy and Nixon each won 34 voters. The 22 others said they were undecided.

The Associated Press conducted the survey immediately after Friday night's fourth television debate. Newsmen in each of the nine bureaus phoned residents of the area at random until ten were found who (1) were qualified voters and (2) had heard the entire debate.

Merchants To Co-Operate

3-Day Auto Show Will Be Held On E. 5th St. Section

Seventy-five models of all the new 1961 cars will be displayed in downtown East Liverpool Nov. 3-5 in the most unique and colorful auto show in the city's history.

E. 5th St. will be closed to traffic between Market St. and Broadway for the entire three-day show, called "Auto Mall."

The show will be linked with special sales events planned by all downtown merchants in which new fall and winter merchandise will be featured.

It's a co-operative effort of the East Liverpool Merchants Association and the eight franchised new car dealers, assisted by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

THE SHOW will open on Thursday, Nov. 3, and continue through Saturday, Nov. 5. Stores normally are open from 9:30 a. m. to 8:30 p. m. each Thursday. During "Auto Mall," downtown stores will extend their hours to 9:30-8:30 on Friday, Nov. 4, and follow the usual schedule, 9-5, on Saturday, Nov. 5.

As both traffic and parking will be eliminated in the two-block section of E. 5th St., all the wide street area will be devoted to displaying the new autos. There will

Council Will Ratify 3-Day Route Change

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet has called a special session of Council Monday night at 7 to consider an ordinance ratifying a temporary change in westbound Route 39 through downtown East Liverpool while a section of E. 5th St. is closed for the auto show Nov. 3-5.

The legislation will designate the bypass route officially — action requested by the State Highway Department. Westbound Route 39 traffic will be shunted around the area via Broadway, E. and W. 4th Sts. and Jefferson St. Eastbound Route 39 traffic uses E. and W. 6th Sts., so it will be unaffected by the show.

Fall 'Slump' No Recession, Mueller Says

Secretary Foresees Business Regaining Losses Before 1961

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller, meeting today with 100 of the biggest names of industry, refuses to label the fall business hesitation a recession. He predicts better business ahead.

Despite the drop of most business indexes in September, Mueller said national output will more than regain its lost ground before the end of the year. It then will hold at a record high plateau until mid-1961, he forecast, and thereafter climb sharply.

Mueller said most of the major corporation heads who made up the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council, meeting behind closed doors with him here, are "exceedingly optimistic."

But reporters found some who said privately they considered the country to be going through a mild, brief recession. The council's head, Board Chairman Ralph J. Cordiner of General Eelectric Co., agreed generally with Mueller.

"I don't think of it as a recession," Cordiner said. He described the letdown as "an adjustment from inflation"—a lull marked by weakened consumer demand which, he said, is characteristic of the end of a rapid inflationary advance.

Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson was expected to reinforce Mueller's optimism on today's BAC program. Anderson's aides said he was prepared to report that the country already has passed through a relatively painles "inventory adjustment" and that advances can be expected.

2 Bandits Get $200

ROCHESTER—Two man, armed with a rifle, took about $200 in the robbery of the Lester Paul Jr. service station a mile north of Beaver Falls on Route 18 Friday night about 10:45. The Rochester barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police said Paul Cendeoski, the attendant, alone at the time, was bound with tape.

Mayor Leads Liquor Raid At Chester Post

American Legion's Steward Cited After Police Find Whisky

Mayor Ray Collins, a patrolman and two deputized citizens raided American Legion Post 121 in Chester Friday night about 11:30 and confiscated two partially filled fifths of whisky and one unopened. They had a brush with the doorman before getting into the grill-room.

The raid was made by Patrolman Clarence Lennens and the two special officers on a search and seizure warrant signed by the mayor, who had promised a "clean-up" when he took office in July.

Ray C. Gilliland of Carolina Ave., a steward, was arrested on a charge of illegal possession of liquor.

Gilliland was released on his own recognizance without bond.

Because Collins signed the complaint, the mayor cannot conduct his hearing, which will be held Monday night at 8 before Squire Eugene Allison of Chester.

Mike Kiszczak of Florida Ave., the doorman, will be given a hearing Monday at 7 p. m. before the mayor for interfering with an officer "in the discharge of his duties."

Commenting on the raid, Mayor Collins said he intends to "uphold the law."

The mayor, as the city's chief executive, apparently led the raid as Police Chief Harold Davis did not participate.

The special officers, Alvin Arner Jr. and Donald Chaney, were "extra special" as they were deputized by the mayor shortly before the raid.

Both have been identified in the cleanup movement and Chaney is Chester co-chairman for the Hancock County Citizens Committee for Better Government.

The city's regular force consists of the chief and the patrolman.

Kiszczak was cited apparently because of his refusal to admit the raiders at first. He also was not required to post bond.

The main door of the home is not locked but the doorman guards the vestibule entry to the grill-room, admitting known members

Treating Me Like Child, He Declares

Foes Launch Drive To Restore Pro-Red Lumumba To Power

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Army leader Col. Joseph Mobutu announced today he will leave for New York next week to seek support for his tottering, pro-Western military regime.

Immediately, Mobutu's political enemies launched a drive to bring deposed pro-Communist Premier Patrice Lumumba back to power.

Mobutu refused to deal with U.N. Congo head Rajeshawar Dayal, of India, and said he wants to disclose Dayal's attitude personally to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

He said he also wants to meet American officials to plead for help.

The announcement broke off the tense and stormy relations between Mobutu and the U.N. Congo command. Mobutu accused Dayal of "treating me like a child."

Meanwhile, Leopoldville province President Cleophas Kamitatu, one of the principal forces behind Lumumba's effort to return to Lumumba to discuss "an immediate solution" to the Congo crisis.

Kamitatu told a news conference in his luxurious villa guarded by grey uniformed city police: "Mr. Dayal has given me the impression that it is time to treat with the legal government."

Mobutu made the announcement in a fortified military zone held by his loyal troops in Binza, outside the city. He moved there from the main army camp when support of some of his ill-disciplined troops began to waver.

Mobutu vowed he intended to do "all in my power" to keep his regime of technical commissioners from collapsing.

Appeal Slated In Fining Of Bar Operator

A Hancock County tavern owner who was fined $200 and costs Friday morning on charges of violating the West Virginia beer law has filed notice of appeal to Hancock County Circuit Court.

He is Carol Z. Mills, licensee of the Sunset Inn on State Route 2 in back of Chester, who was fined by Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland on a charge of selling non-intoxicating beer to a minor under 18.

Mills, along with four other tavern owners, was named in warrants obtained by Probation Officer William Paolisso following the arrest over the weekend of two 17-year-old boys from Newell and Rochester on intoxication charges.

Mary Jobe, licensee of Mary's Place in Newell, was fined $50 and costs by Squire Eugene Allison of Chester on the beer violation charge.

James E. White of Jim's Bar, known as Bob's Bar, was acquitted of a similar charge of selling non-intoxicating beer to minors under 18 at a hearing Friday morning before Squire Herron.

Paolisso also obtained a warrant for Russell Cook of Club 66 in Chester in connection with selling the "3.2" beer to one of the youths. The warrant has not yet been served.

Mills gave notice of the appeal but has not posted the necessary $400 bond before Squire Herron. It must be posted within 10 days from Friday for the appeal to go to Circuit Court, authorities said.

A jury, reporting it was unable to reach a verdict, was dismissed about noon Friday by Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard in the trial of Frank Bookman, 20, of East Liverpool, charged with the cutting with intent to wound Noah Soliday of Canton, Aug. 20, in a bar fight at Miner's Tavern in Kensington.

The jury was charged by Judge Buzzard Thursday and was given the case about 2 p. m. The panel deliberated until 4:30 Thursday, then was released, resuming deliberations at 9 a. m. Friday. About noon the panel informed the court it couldn't agree.

Harassment Of Dag Clear Aim Of Soviet

Climax Looms First Of Week When He Seeks Congo Funds

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Soviets made clear today they intend to keep harassing Dag Hammarskjold in the apparent hope of forcing him to quit as secretary-general.

The attacks, steadily mounting in intensity, are expected to reach a climax Monday or Tuesday when Hammarskjold is slated to put in an estimated bill of $150 million to $200 million to cover the cost of the Congo operation through next year.

The Soviet bloc served notice in the 99-nation Financial Committee Friday that they will not pay any part of the Congo bill. Czechoslovakia accused the United Nations of playing a "dirty role" in the strife-torn African state and charged Hammarskjold with hypocrisy and showing partiality to the West.

The attack sparked a sharp reply from the United States which branded it a move aimed at wrecking the United Nations.

Albert F. Bender, U.S. delegate, called the Czech statement "one of the most deplorable ever made in this body."

He said that by charging the United Nations with playing a dirty role, Czech delegate Miroslav Nacvalac had hurled insults at Hammarskjold, the U. S. government and all other nations which voted to set up a U. N. force in the Congo.

"Our organization is built on good faith," Bender declared. "I suggest that whoever attempts to destroy that good faith is not only violating the spirit of the charter; he may well be considered to have as his goal the total destruction of the United Nations itself by sowing the seeds of distrust."

Later the Soviets issued a statement accusing Hammarskjold of following a policy of "direct sabotage" of Security Council resolutions on the Congo.

Phone Interviews Conducted

Kennedy May Have Edge In Debates, Check Shows

WASHINGTON (AP)—A spot check of 90 voters across the country indicated today that Sen. John F. Kennedy may have derived a bit more benefit from the four television debates than Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

In telephone interviews conducted by Associated Press newsmen in nine cities, 32 voters said they thought Kennedy had gained most from the debates and 24 said they thought Nixon had gained most.

The 34 others replied either that they couldn't decide, that neither had gained, or that both had gained.

Fifty of the voters said the debates had not influenced their preference at all. Of the 40 who said they were influenced, 21 said the debates strengthened or swayed them toward Kennedy, 17 said the debates strengthened or swayed them toward Nixon, and two admitted influence but could not say toward which candidate.

Although Kennedy had a slight lead over Nixon in the number of voters who thought he gained or influenced them because of the debates, this did not show up when voters were asked who they intended to vote for.

Kennedy and Nixon each won 34 voters. The 22 others said they were undecided.

The Associated Press conducted the survey immediately after Friday night's fourth television debate. Newsmen in each of the nine bureaus phoned residents of the area at random until ten were found who (1) were qualified voters and (2) had heard the entire debate.

Regime Tottering

Mobutu Breaks Off Relations With UN, Will Seek U.S. Aid

Foes Launch Drive To Restore Pro-Red Lumumba To Power

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Army leader Col. Joseph Mobutu announced today he will leave for New York next week to seek support for his tottering, pro-Western military regime.

Immediately, Mobutu's political enemies launched a drive to bring deposed pro-Communist Premier Patrice Lumumba back to power.

Mobutu refused to deal with U.N. Congo head Rajeshwar Dayal, of India, and said he wants to disclose Dayal's attitude personally to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

He said he also wants to meet American officials to plead for help.

The announcement broke off the tense and stormy relations between Mobutu and the U.N. Congo command. Mobutu accused Dayal of "treating me like a child."

Meanwhile, Leopoldville province President Cleophas Kamitatu, one of the principal forces behind Lumumba's effort to return to Lumumba to discuss "an immediate solution" to the Congo crisis.

Kamitatu told a news conference in his luxurious villa guarded by grey uniformed city police: "Mr. Dayal has given me the impression that it is time to treat with the legal government."

Mobutu made the announcement in a fortified military zone held by his loyal troops in Binza, outside the city. He moved there from the main army camp when support of some of his ill-disciplined troops began to waver.

Mobutu vowed he intended to do "all in my power" to keep his regime of technical commissioners from collapsing.

He openly accused the United Nations Congo operation of supporting the return to power of former Premier Patrice Lumumba, living under U.N. guard in the official premier's residence.

Both Camps Cite Victory In Debates

Nixon And Kennedy Clash On Cuba; 5th Rematch Seen Slim

NEW YORK (AP)—The fourth Nixon-Kennedy debate has gone into history with both sides claiming success in an unprecedented series that may—although the possibility is slim—be extended to another match.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy disputed, challenged and rebuked each other for the better part of an hour Friday night before a television and radio audience spread across the nation.

They clashed sharply over U.S. policy toward Cuba. Nixon said his Democratic rival had been irresponsible as never before in proposing aid to Cuban elements hostile to both Prime Minister Fidel Castro and former dictator Fulgencio Batista.

Kennedy said economic curbs thrown against Cuba by the Eisenhower administration and supported by the GOP candidate were inadequate to cope with Communist penetration of the island republic less than 100 miles from the U.S. coast.

Kennedy said communism is most vulnerable in eastern Europe.

Nixon said the Soviets may be cheating on the suspension of nuclear tests.

These latter points were two of the newer slants in the fourth debate. For the most part the candidates rehashed views stated in their previous meetings or on the campaign stump. And for that reason, voters who previously had seen or heard them argue could more quickly pick the man they favored beforehand as the winner.

Whether or not the fourth debate would stir public demand for an unplanned fifth, Kennedy renewed his call on Nixon to meet again and Nixon said he doesn't rule out anything.

Kennedy had asserted a fifth debate, if not more, would be necessary to keep the record straight.

The candidates settled nothing between themselves. Kennedy hurried from the American Broadcasting Co. studio, where the combined network program originated, to make an appearance at Madison Square Garden and then take off for St. Louis, where he launches a Midwest tour. He and the vice president shook hands.

Nixon told Kennedy he had received the senator's wire, presumably one proposing a fifth

Merchants To Co-Operate

3-Day Auto Show Will Be Held On E. 5th St. Section

Seventy-five models of all the new 1961 cars will be displayed in downtown East Liverpool Nov. 3-5 in the most unique and colorful auto show in the city's history.

E. 5th St. will be closed to traffic between Market St. and Broadway for the entire three-day show, called "Auto Mall."

The show will be linked with special sales events planned by all downtown merchants in which new fall and winter merchandise will be featured.

It's a co-operative effort of the East Liverpool Merchants Association and the eight franchised new car dealers, assisted by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

THE SHOW will open on Thursday, Nov. 3, and continue through Saturday, Nov. 5. Stores normally are open from 9:30 a. m. to 8:30 p. m. each Thursday. During "Auto Mall," downtown stores will extend their hours to 9:30-8:30 on Friday, Nov. 4, and follow the usual schedule, 9-5, on Saturday, Nov. 5.

As both traffic and parking will be eliminated in the two-block section of E. 5th St., all the wide street area will be devoted to displaying the new autos. There will

Council Will Ratify 3-Day Route Change

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet has called a special session of Council Monday night at 7 to consider an ordinance ratifying a temporary change in westbound Route 30 through downtown East Liverpool while a section of E. 5th St. is closed for the auto show Nov. 3-5.

The legislation will designate the bypass route officially — action requested by the State Highway Department. Westbound Route 30 traffic will be shunted around the area via Broadway, E. and W. 6th Sts. and Jefferson St. Eastbound Route 30 traffic uses E. and W. 6th Sts., so it will be unaffected by the show.

Fall 'Slump' No Recession, Mueller Says

Secretary Foresees Business Regaining Losses Before 1961

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller, meeting today with 100 of the biggest names of industry, refuses to label the fall business hesitation a recession. He predicts better business ahead.

Despite the drop of most business indexes in September, Mueller said national output will more than regain its lost ground before the end of the year. It then will hold at a record high plateau until mid-1961, he forecast, and thereafter climb sharply.

Mueller said most of the major corporation heads who made up the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council, meeting behind closed doors with him here, are "exceedingly optimistic."

But reporters found some who said privately they considered the country to be going through a mild, brief recession. The council's head, Board Chairman Ralph J. Cordiner of General Electric Co., agreed generally with Mueller.

"I don't think of it as a recession," Cordiner said. He described the letdown as "an adjustment from inflation"—a lull marked by weakened consumer demand which, he said, is characteristic of the end of a rapid inflationary advance.

Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson was expected to reinforce Mueller's optimism on today's BAC program. Anderson's aides said he was prepared to report that the country already has passed through a relatively painless "inventory adjustment" and that advances can be expected.

2 Bandits Get $200

ROCHESTER—Two men, armed with a rifle, took about $200 in the robbery of the Lester Paul Jr. service station a mile north of Beaver Falls on Route 18 Friday night about 10:45. The Rochester barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police said Paul Cendenski, the attendant, alone at the time, was bound with tape.

Mayor Leads Liquor Raid At Chester Post

American Legion's Steward Cited After Police Find Whisky

Mayor Ray Collins, a patrolman and two deputized citizens raided American Legion Post 121 in Chester Friday night about 11:30 and confiscated two partially filled fifths of whisky and one unopened. They had a brush with the doorman before getting into the grill room.

The raid was made by Patrolman Clarence Lemmons and the two special officers on a search and seizure warrant signed by the mayor, who had promised a "clean-up" when he took office in July.

Ray C. Gilliland of Carolina Ave., a steward, was arrested on a charge of illegal possession of liquor.

Gilliland was released on his own recognizance without bond.

Because Collins signed the complaint, the mayor cannot conduct his hearing, which will be held Monday night at 8 before Squire Eugene Allison of Chester.

Mike Kisorcak of Florida Ave., the doorman, will be given a hearing Monday at 7 p. m. before the mayor for interfering with an officer "in the discharge of his duties."

Commenting on the raid, Mayor Collins said he intends to "uphold the law."

The mayor, as the city's chief executive, apparently led the raid as Police Chief Harold Davis did not participate.

The special officers, Alvin Arner Jr. and Donald Chaney, were "extra specials" as they were deputized by the mayor shortly before the raid.

Both have been identified in the cleanup movement and Chaney is Chester co-chairman for the Hancock County Citizens Committee for Better Government.

The city's regular force consists of the chief and the patrolman.

Kisorcak was cited apparently because of his refusal to admit the raiders at first. He also was not required to post bond.

The main door of the home is not locked but the doorman guards the vestibule entry to the grill room, admitting known members

Appeal Slated In Fining Of Bar Operator

A Hancock County tavern owner who was fined $200 and costs Friday morning on charges of violating the West Virginia beer law has filed notice of appeal to Hancock County Circuit Court.

He is Carol E. Mills, licensee of the Sunset Inn on State Route 2 in back of Chester, who was fined by Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland on a charge of selling non-intoxicating beer to a minor under 18.

Mills, along with four other tavern owners, was named in warrants obtained by Probation Officer William Paolisso following the arrest over the weekend of two 17-year-old boys from Newell and Rochester on intoxication charges.

Mary Johe, licensee of Mary's Place in Newell, was fined $50 and costs by Squire Eugene Allison of Chester on the beer violation charge.

James E. White of Jim's Bar, known as Bob's Bar, was acquitted of a similar charge of selling non-intoxicating beer to minors under 18 at a hearing Friday morning before Squire Herron.

Paolisso also obtained a warrant for Russell Cook of Club 66 in Chester in connection with selling the "3.2" beer to one of the youths. The warrant has not yet been served.

Mills gave notice of the appeal but has not posted the necessary $400 bond before Squire Herron. It must be posted within 10 days from Friday for the appeal to go to Circuit Court, authorities said.

Truman Carries His Drive To Louisiana

DECATUR, Ala. (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman swings his campaign tour into Louisiana today after telling Alabama rally Friday that if Vice President Richard M. Nixon "ever told the truth politically, it was an accident."

Pouring it on to the delight of almost 10,000 persons at an outdoor Democratic rally in this northern Alabama city, Truman said "It's hard to tell what Nixon believes in, because he votes one way and talks another. He doesn't live on principle. He tries to say things people like."

The crowd, standing in nippy but sunny weather in a city park, interrupted him frequently with cheers and applause.

Salem Mayor Delays Solicitor Appointment

SALEM — Mayor Dean Cranmer said no immediate appoinment is expected for a successor to City Solicitor James D. Primm, who earlier this week resigned his post effective Oct. 31.

Primm's action came less than 24 hours after the mayor had preferred charges against the solicitor in City Council, citing "habitual drunkenness and gross neglect of duy."

Mayor Cranmer said the city had suffered "many setbacks" because the law office "has not been operated correctly for some months." Primm, 34, was serving his third term.

Industry Women's Club Sees Film On Transplant Of Cornea

"The Boy With the Blindfold," a movie on sight restoration through transplanting of the cornea, was screened at the monthly meeting of the Industry Borough Women's Club Thursday night in the Ohio View School.

Representatives of the Beaver County Lighthouse Eyebank in New Brighton participated in the program. Mrs. Leeman Hall of Aliquippa stressed the importance of the eyebank and Mrs. Eleanor Folson of Monaca spoke on the local eyebank. Regis Neehan of Monaca explained functions of the organization in Pittsburgh and Dr. Charles McConnel of Beaver led the question-and-answer period following the program. Forms were distributed for persons wishing to leave a legacy of their eyes.

Members decided to send a petition to Rep. Frank M. Clark, requesting that the 1-cent increase in the gasoline tax be allowed to lapse June 30, 1961, as promised by Congress when the rate was increased a year ago.

Mrs. Paul Brucker, county Federation Board member, and Mrs. Jack Peck, club secretary, will represent the club at the fall county meeting of the Beaver County Federation Thursday at the First Presbyterian Church in Beaver. A special tree planting ceremony in the memorial grove at the county home in honor of Mrs. Harrell Bomar of Ohio View, past president of the federation, will precede the meeting at 9 a.m.

Members will participate in the Ohio View Library Board's public card party to be held Thursday night at 8 in the Industry fire hall. Mrs. William Ralph, library board chairman, and board members are in charge of tickets. Proceeds will go to purchase of new books.

A letter of acknowledgement was read from the Industry fire department for the folding table donated by the club for the firehall.

Mrs. Lysle Bradshaw, ways and means chairman, will distribute tickets to members for the club's Christmas project.

A report on the Southwest District meeting held in Greensburg recently was read by Mrs. Peck, who with Mrs. Bradshaw attended.

Mrs. Fritz Dobrontz won the project prize donated by Mrs. Frank Timblin.

Mrs. Joseph Boyle of Industry Heights was a guest.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Fred Schmidt and Mrs. James M. Miller.

William Orr, Midland jeweler, will present a program, "Mining and Marketing of Diamonds," at the next meeting Nov. 17 at 8 p.m. in the school. Mrs. Peck will be hostess chairman.

Subdivision Open On Stagecoach Rd

A new subdivision called "Stagecoach Settlement" is being developed in St. Clair Township off Park Way Ext., taking its name from a long-forgotten road dedicated 155 years ago.

Part of the farm of Frank M. Fisher of the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd., the subdivision is being developed by George Bright, E. 6th St. realtor, Forty-two lots are included in the first allotment, but all 422 acres of the farm are available for subdividing, he said.

The property lies along Stagecoach Rd., which was dedicated on Nov. 21, 1805, according to records at the Courthouse. The survey was made by Lewis Kenney. Stagecoach Rd. runs off Park Way Ext. about midway between the Country Club and Hoppels Corners. It runs east about 4,200 feet and then intersects with a road that links with the Calcutta Smiths-Ferry Rd. The Fisher property abuts on Stagecoach Rd. for about 2,100 feet.

County commissioners recognized the dedication of the 155-year-old road and have slagged a portion of the thoroughfare for renewed public use, Bright said. They have indicated it will be blacktopped in the near future, he added.

Newell District Man Cited In Hit-Skip Case

Charles W. Monroe Jr. of Snow Hill, near Newell, will be given a hearing Nov. 3 before Chester Mayor Ray Collins on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident without making his identity known.

He was cited Friday by Patrolman Lennens on the complaint Elizabeth Turvey of Bergholz whose car was struck while parked on Fairview Rd. when she was in East Liverpool Wednesday. A neighbor reported it was hit by a red pickup truck.

A neighbor also reported that Monroe had stopped and left his name and address and said he would pay for any damages, Lennens' investigation disclosed. There was damage to a rear fender of the car.

Truman Carries His Drive To Louisiana

DECATUR, Ala. (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman swings his campaign tour into Louisiana today after telling Alabama rally Friday that if Vice President Richard M. Nixon "ever told the truth politically, it was an accident."

Pouring it on to the delight of almost 10,000 persons at an outdoor Democratic rally in this northern Alabama city, Truman said "It's hard to tell what Nixon believes in, because he votes one way and talks another. He doesn't live on principle. He tries to say things people like."

The crowd, standing in nippy but sunny weather in a city park, interrupted him frequently with cheers and applause.

Salem Mayor Delays Solicitor Appointment

SALEM — Mayor Dean Cranmer said no immediate appointment is expected for a successor to City Solicitor James D. Primm, who earlier this week resigned his post effective Oct. 31.

Primm's action came less than 24 hours after the mayor had preferred charges against the solicitor in City Council, citing "habitual drunkenness and gross neglect of duty."

Mayor Cranmer said the city had suffered "many setbacks" because the law office "has not been operated correctly for some months." Primm, 34, was serving his third term.

Hookstown Legion, Auxiliary Plan Events

Fund-raising activities will be sponsored Tuesday night by American Legion Post 952 and its auxiliary at Hookstown.

"The Boy With the Blindfold," a movie on sight restoration through transplanting of the cornea, was screened at the monthly meeting of the Industry Borough Women's Club Thursday night in the Ohio View School.

Representatives of the Beaver County Lighthouse Eyebank in New Brighton participated in the program. Mrs. Leeman Hall of Aliquippa stressed the importance of the eyebank and Mrs. Eleanor Folson of Monaca spoke on the local eyebank. Regis Neehan of Monaca explained functions of the organization in Pittsburgh and Dr. Charles McConnel of Beaver led the question-and-answer period following the program. Forms were distributed for persons wishing to leave a legacy of their eyes.

Members decided to send a petition to Rep. Frank M. Clark, requesting that the 1-cent increase in the gasoline tax be allowed to lapse June 30, 1961, as promised by Congress when the rate was increased a year ago.

Mrs. Paul Brucker, county Federation Board member, and Mrs. Jack Peck, club secretary, will represent the club at the fall county meeting of the Beaver County Federation Thursday at the First Presbyterian Church in Beaver. A special tree planting ceremony in the memorial grove at the county home in honor of Mrs. Harrell Bomar of Ohio View, past president of the federation, will precede the meeting at 9 a.m.

Members will participate in the Ohio View Library Board's public card party to be held Thursday night at 8 in the Industry fire hall. Mrs. William Ralph, library board chairman, and board members are in charge of tickets. Proceeds will go to purchase of new books.

A letter of acknowledgement was read from the Industry fire department for the folding table donated by the club for the firehall.

Mrs. Lysle Bradshaw, ways and means chairman, will distribute tickets to members for the club's Christmas project.

A report on the Southwest District meeting held in Greensburg recently was read by Mrs. Peck, who with Mrs. Bradshaw attended.

Mrs. Fritz Dobrontz won the project prize donated by Mrs. Frank Timblin.

Mrs. Joseph Boyle of Industry Heights was a guest.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Fred Schmidt and Mrs. James M. Miller.

William Orr, Midland jeweler, will present a program, "Mining and Marketing of Diamonds," at the next meeting Nov. 17 at 8 p.m. in the school. Mrs. Peck will be hostess chairman.

Subdivision Open On Stagecoach Rd

A new subdivision called "Stagecoach Settlement" is being developed in St. Clair Township off Park Way Ext., taking its name from a long-forgotten road dedicated 155 years ago.

Part of the farm of Frank M. Fisher of the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd., the subdivision is being developed by George Bright, E. 6th St. realtor. Forty-two lots are included in the first allotment, but all 422 acres of the farm are available for subdividing, he said.

The property lies along Stagecoach Rd., which was dedicated on Nov. 21, 1805, according to records at the Courthouse. The survey was made by Lewis Kenney. Stagecoach Rd. runs off Park Way Ext. about midway between the Country Club and Hoppels Corners. It runs east about 4,200 feet and then intersects with a road that links with the Calcutta Smiths-Ferry Rd. The Fisher property abuts on Stagecoach Rd. for about 2,100 feet.

County commissioners recognized the dedication of the 155-year-old road and have slagged a portion of the thoroughfare for renewed public use, Bright said. They have indicated it will be blacktopped in the near future, he added.

Newell District Man Cited In Hit-Skip Case

Charles W. Monroe Jr. of Snow Hill, near Newell, will be given a hearing Nov. 3 before Chester Mayor Ray Collins on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident without making his identity known.

He was cited Friday by Patrolman Lennens on the complaint Elizabeth Turvey of Bergholz whose car was struck while parked on Fairview Rd. when she was in East Liverpool Wednesday. A neighbor reported it was hit by a red pickup truck.

A neighbor also reported that Monroe had stopped and left his name and address and said he would pay for any damages, Lennens' investigation disclosed. There was damage to a rear fender of the car.

Jury Begins 4th Day In Finch Deliberations

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Eleven women and one man begin their fourth day of deliberations today in the second Finch murder trial.

The jury at the first trial of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff deadlocked after a week's deliberations. The first case lasted 10 weeks. The second panel received the case Wednesday after 17 weeks of testimony.

Dr. Finch, a once wealthy surgeon, is accused with his former paramour of murdering his estranged wife, Barbara Jean, July 18, 1959. He claims she was shot accidentally.

Finch is 42 and Carole is 23.

Big Hearing 'In The Works'

Prober Releases Evidence Of Anti-Catholic Material

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate investigator turns over evidence to Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-NY, today on the mailing of anonymous anti-Catholic literature during the election campaign.

The investigator, Roy A. Sheaff, said Friday night there is evidence that Texas oil millionaire H. L. Hunt may have paid for printing and mailing some of the material.

A big hearing on the whole issue of bigotry in the campaign may be in the works, the counsel said.

Sheaff, who made his comments in New York, is minority counsel of the Senate subcommittee on privileges and elections. Keating is the subcommittee's ranking minority member. Sen. Theodore F. Green, D-R.I., heads the group.

The subcommittee's investigators want to interview Hunt, Sheaff said, but they have been unable to reach him or his assistant, John A. Curington of Dallas.

Hunt, who was a friend and financial supporter of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., heads the Hunt Oil Co., largest independent oil producer in the nation.

Sheaff said the subcommittee may hold a full-scale public hearing on the part religious bigotry has played in the campaign, possibly before election day.

The counsel quoted publisher Ralph B. Raughley of Donigar & Raughley as telling the subcommittee that Hunt's assistant, Curington, arranged for printing and distributing 102,000 copies of an anti-Catholic sermon.

The sermon was by the Rev. W. A. Criswell, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Dallas. He delivered it last July.

Dear Citizens of Hancock County:

The office of Prosecuting Attorney is a local office, vitally concerned with the welfare of all the people of Hancock County, regardless of Party affiliation. The nominees have been selected. The final decision as to who can best serve is up to you on November 8th.

My candidacy is respectfully submitted on the basis of my character, legal education, active practice of the law, practical experience, understanding of human relations and knowledge of the problems of the people of Hancock County.

You may be assured that I shall sincerely endeavor to faithfully perform the duties of Prosecuting Attorney in a manner that will spell JUSTICE, HONOR and DIGNITY to the citizens of Hancock County.

This is a personal appeal to REPUBLICANS and DEMOCRATS to join together to make it possible for me to extend my efforts for the common good of all the citizens of Hancock County.

Very truly yours,

Macedonia Call Offering Sought

Members of the United Presbyterian Churches in all 50 states will be asked Sunday to contribute to a special offering entitled "The Macedonian Call to the Churches," according to the Steubenville Presbytery of the Ohio Synod.

Authorized by the 172nd General Assembly, the special offering was inspired by an invitation of Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, Africa, to establish new mission work in the tribal areas of his nation.

The offering will be used for this purpose and to support certain other key projects in mission work, education and medicine, new church development and race relations, according to G. W. Jenkins, chairman of public relations for the Steubenville Presbytery.

World Order Sunday will be observed tomorrow.

Officials Due For Chamber Dinner Event

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, Safety - Service Director Lee Copenhaver and all members of Council have been invited to the fall membership meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night at 6:30 at the Country Club, which will center on the theme: "Business Area Improvement."

Principals speakers will be C. Allen Milliken and Frank R. Logan, both executives of the Newark Chamber. They will explain a community improvement program now under way at Newark, using slides to illustrate some points. A question-and-answer period will follow. The program was arranged by the East Liverpool Merchants Association.

T. Fred Edwards, Chamber president, will preside. Don Eckert, chairman of the merchants' association, will introduce the speakers. The Rev. James Gardner of the Orchard Grove Community Methodist Church will give the invocation.

The program will follow a buffet dinner. Carl Kahler, executive assistant, will represent the Ohio State Council of Retail Merchants at Columbus.

Dinner arrangements were made by the Chamber banquet and entertainment committee: John Pinney and Ralph A. Finley, co-chairmen, Frank A. Dawson, Robert A. Miller and Winston A. Porter. The ELMA committee in charge of the program is comprised of Eckert, E. C. Derr and Edwin Maloney.

Beth Newtz Crowned As Queen At Midland

Miss Beth Ann Newtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clem J. Newtz, 447 Ohio Ave., Midland, was crowned homecoming queen Friday evening during halftime of the Midland-Hopewell game.

She was crowned by Miss Jeanne Brown, last year's queen, and presented a bouquet of yellow mums. She is a senior. Her attendants were Sally Van Fossan and Betty DeProspero, seniors, Beatrice Marciniak, a junior, and Noreen Yurick, a sophomore.

The crowning followd a parade led by Miss Brown, and included three floats of high school classes. The winning float, "The Untouchables," will receive a prize. Two members of the Board of Education were judges.

The homecoming event was sponsored by the "Rodis" yearbook staff with Darrell Stillwagon, advisor, in charge.

Lodge Declares Reds Will Never Dominate

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican vice presidential candidate, said Friday night that the world faces 25 years of international tension but that the Communists will never succeed in global domination.

"The Communist mind is a very special thing. They don't respond to reasoning," Lodge said in a television interview taped for later viewing. "After the next quarter century, I think we'll be in a better fix."

Catholic Bishops' Letter

Political Storm Boils Up In Puerto Rico's Election

By HORST BUCHHOLZ

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) —A political storm raged in this U.S. commonwealth today over a pastoral letter by three Roman Catholic bishops telling members of their church not to vote for Gov. Luis Munoz Marin's popular Democratic party in the election Nov. 8.

Munoz Marin, a Catholic seeking re-election on this predominately Catholic island, declared the bishops' letter an "incredible and unjust intervention in political liberties of Puerto Rican citizens."

The independent newspaper San Juan Star said the bishops have "grievously transgressed against the Catholic Church." It urged that Pope John XXIII transfer them from the island and replace them with "representatives of catholicism who recognize the indispensability of the principle of separation of church and state."

Twenty teachers from the University of Puerto Rico picketed the Roman Catholic Cathedral Friday night with signs protesting the letter. One sign said, "would Kennedy follow his bishop?"

Through his press secretary, Sen. John F. Kennedy, Democratic candidate for president and a Roman Catholic, issued a statement in New York that he "considers it wholly improper" for churchmen of any faith to tell members of their church how to vote.

Puerto Rico's popular Democratic party which got 65 per cent of the popular vote in 1956 is not affiliated with the mainland Democratic party. The island's Republican party, which is campaigning for statehood, has connections with the mainland Republican party but Puerto Ricans do not have a vote for president of the United States.

Ike Pauses On Speaking Tour To Get In Some Licks At Golf

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)— President Eisenhower is back in this land of golf and sunshine today.

He got in a round of golf at the Eldorado Country Club immediately after arriving here from San Diego, Friday.

He changed from business clothes to golf togs on the jet airliner that brought him. He came off wearing golf cap and spiked shoes, and was whisked by helicopter to a spot near the first tee.

Eisenhower plans to remain here until Monday morning and then resume the cross-country speaking tour he started last Monday.

On Monday he will fly to Ciudad Acuna, just south of the Texas border in Mexico, for a brief meeting with Mexico's Presidnt Adolfo Lopez Mateos. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter will join the two presidents for that conference.

Then Eisenhower will go on to Houston, Tex., for a speech there that evening at Rice University. He is scheduled to fly back to Washington from Houston Tuesday.

Eisenhower's host this weekend is his old friend George E. Allen, Washington businessman who has a desert home at nearby La Quinta, Calif. Allen had not arrived when Eisenhower flew in ahead of schedule earlier in the week, so the President stayed then at the plush Eldorado Club.

In San Diego Friday Eisenhower got a rousing welcome on a motorcade through the downtown area. Then he went on to suburban Chula Vista where he addressed the Inter-American Congress of Municipalities.

The White House has labeled the President's tour as nonpolitical, but the camp of Sen. John F. Kennedy, Democratic presidential nominee, has charged that Eisenhower made a political attack on Kennedy in a speech in San Francisco Thursday night. James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, declined comment.

Big Hearing 'In The Works'

Prober Releases Evidence Of Anti-Catholic Material

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate investigator turns over evidence to Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-NY, today on the mailing of anonymous anti-Catholic literature during the election campaign.

The investigator, Roy A. Sheaff, said Friday night there is evidence that Texas oil millionaire H. L. Hunt may have paid for printing and mailing some of the material.

A big hearing on the whole issue of bigotry in the campaign may be in the works, the counsel said.

Sheaff, who made his comments in New York, is minority counsel of the Senate subcommittee on privileges and elections. Keating is the subcommittee's ranking minority member. Sen. Theodore F. Green, D-R.I., heads the group.

The subcommittee's investigators want to interview Hunt, Sheaff said, but they have been unable to reach him or his assistant, John A. Curington of Dallas.

Hunt, who was a friend and financial supporter of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., heads the Hunt Oil Co., largest independent oil producer in the nation.

Sheaff said the subcommittee may hold a full-scale public hearing on the part religious bigotry has played in the campaign, possibly before election day.

The counsel quoted publisher Ralph B. Raughley of Donigar & Raughley as telling the subcommittee that Hunt's assistant, Curington, arranged for printing and distributing 102,000 copies of an anti-Catholic sermon.

The sermon was by the Rev. W. A. Criswell, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Dallas. He delivered it last July.

Dear Citizens of Hancock County:

The office of Prosecuting Attorney is a local office, vitally concerned with the welfare of all the people of Hancock County, regardless of Party affiliation. The nominees have been selected. The final decision as to who can best serve is up to you on November 8th.

My candidacy is respectfully submitted on the basis of my character, legal education, active practice of the law, practical experience, understanding of human relations and knowledge of the problems of the people of Hancock County.

You may be assured that I shall sincerely endeavor to faithfully perform the duties of Prosecuting Attorney in a manner that will spell JUSTICE, HONOR and DIGNITY to the citizens of Hancock County.

This is a personal appeal to REPUBLICANS and DEMOCRATS to join together to make it possible for me to extend my efforts for the common good of all the citizens of Hancock County.

Very truly yours,

Macedonia Call Offering Sought

Members of the United Presbyterian Churches in all 50 states will be asked Sunday to contribute to a special offering entitled "The Macedonian Call to the Churches," according to the Steubenville Presbytery of the Ohio Synod.

Authorized by the 172nd General Assembly, the special offering was inspired by an invitation of Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, Africa, to establish new mission work in the tribal areas of his nation.

The offering will be used for this purpose and to support certain other key projects in mission work, education and medicine, new church development and race relations, according to G. W. Jenkins, chairman of public relations for the Steubenville Presbytery.

World Order Sunday will be observed tomorrow.

Officials Due For Chamber Dinner Event

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, Safety - Service Director Lee Copenhaver and all members of Council have been invited to the fall membership meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night at 6:30 at the Country Club, which will center on the theme: "Business Area Improvement."

Principals speakers will be C. Allen Milliken and Frank R. Logan, both executives of the Newark Chamber. They will explain a community improvement program now under way at Newark, using slides to illustrate some points. A question-and-answer period will follow. The program was arranged by the East Liverpool Merchants Association.

T. Fred Edwards, Chamber president, will preside. Don Eckert, chairman of the merchants' association, will introduce the speakers. The Rev. James Gardner of the Orchard Grove Community Methodist Church will give the invocation.

The program will follow a buffet dinner. Carl Kahler, executive assistant, will represent the Ohio State Council of Retail Merchants at Columbus.

Dinner arrangements were made by the Chamber banquet and entertainment committee: John Pinney and Ralph A. Finley, co-chairmen, Frank A. Dawson, Robert A. Miller and Winston A. Porter. The ELMA committee in charge of the program is comprised of Eckert, E. C. Derr and Edwin Maloney.

Beth Newtz Crowned As Queen At Midland

Miss Beth Ann Newtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clem J. Newtz, 447 Ohio Ave., Midland, was crowned homecoming queen Friday evening during halftime of the Midland-Hopewell game.

She was crowned by Miss Jeanne Brown, last year's queen, and presented a bouquet of yellow mums. She is a senior. Her attendants were Sally Van Fossan and Betty DeProspero, seniors, Beatrice Marciniak, a junior, and Noreen Yurick, a sophomore.

The crowning followed a parade led by Miss Brown, and included three floats of high school classes. The winning float, "The Untouchables," will receive a prize. Two members of the Board of Education were judges.

The homecoming event was sponsored by the "Rodis" yearbook staff with Darrell Stillwagon, advisor, in charge.

Lodge Declares Reds Will Never Dominate

Catholic Bishops' Letter

By HORST BUCHHOLZ

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) —A political storm raged in this U.S. commonwealth today over a pastoral letter by three Roman Catholic bishops telling members of their church not to vote for Gov. Luis Munoz Marin's popular Democratic party in the election Nov. 8.

Munoz Marin, a Catholic seeking re-election on this predominately Catholic island, declared the bishops' letter an "incredible and unjust intervention in political liberties of Puerto Rican citizens."

The independent newspaper San Juan Star said the bishops have "grievously transgressed against the Catholic Church." It urged that Pope John XXIII transfer them from the island and replace them with "representatives of catholicism who recognize the indispensability of the principle of separation of church and state."

Twenty teachers from the University of Puerto Rico picketed the Roman Catholic Cathedral Friday night with signs protesting the letter. One sign said, "would Kennedy follow his bishop?"

Through his press secretary, Sen. John F. Kennedy, Democratic candidate for president and a Roman Catholic, issued a statement in New York that he "considers it wholly improper" for churchmen of any faith to tell members of their church how to vote.

Puerto Rico's popular Democratic party which got 65 per cent of the popular vote in 1956 is not affiliated with the mainland Democratic party. The island's Republican party, which is campaigning for statehood, has connections with the mainland Republican party but Puerto Ricans do not have a vote for president of the United States.

Ike Pauses On Speaking Tour To Get In Some Licks At Golf

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)— President Eisenhower is back in this land of golf and sunshine today.

He got in a round of golf at the Eldorado Country Club immediately after arriving here from San Diego, Friday.

He changed from business clothes to golf togs on the jet airliner that brought him. He came off wearing golf cap and spiked shoes, and was whisked by helicopter to a spot near the first tee.

Eisenhower plans to remain here until Monday morning and then resume the cross-country speaking tour he started last Monday.

On Monday he will fly to Ciudad Acuna, just south of the Texas border in Mexico, for a brief meeting with Mexico's Presidnt Adolfo Lopez Mateos. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter will join the two presidents for that conference.

Then Eisenhower will go on to Houston, Tex., for a speech there that evening at Rice University. He is scheduled to fly back to Washington from Houston Tuesday.

Eisenhower's host this weekend is his old friend George E. Allen, Washington businessman who has a desert home at nearby La Quinta, Calif. Allen had not arrived when Eisenhower flew in ahead of schedule earlier in the week, so the President stayed then at the plush Eldorado Club.

In San Diego Friday Eisenhower got a rousing welcome on a motorcade through the downtown area. Then he went on to suburban Chula Vista where he addressed the Inter-American Congress of Municipalities.

The White House has labeled the President's tour as nonpolitical, but the camp of Sen. John F. Kennedy, Democratic presidential nominee, has charged that Eisenhower made a political attack on Kennedy in a speech in San Francisco Thursday night. James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, declined comment.

Party Leader vs. Pitch Man

Richard Nixon has this special problem in the 1960 election:

He is the only candidate in the race who represents a political party.

His opponent represents a collection of blocs and minorities put together with baling wire and string.

Yet, because this coalition is numerically stronger than Mr. Nixon's Republican party, he must appeal to voters who otherwise would identify themselves with one or more of the various minorities in the Democratic coalition.

To do this, he must play down—or believes he must play down—his identity as a Republican.

He must try to keep it from coming to general attention that is what is left of the classical two-party system in the United States he is the only spokesman for a party.

JOHN KENNEDY cannot speak for the southern Democratic faction in the coalition he is leading. That job has been turned over to Lyndon Johnson.

Sen. Johnson, on the other hand, cannot speak for Americans for Democratic Action, the radical pressure bloc that exerts steady pressure to move the Democratic coalition toward the extreme left.

Walter Reuther, the United Auto Workers president and vice president of AFL-CIO, cannot reconcile anything he stands for in the coalition with anything any southern Democratic or northern conservative stands for.

And Sen. Kennedy, who must try to conceal the disparities in his following, cannot afford to let himself be identified with any of its disparate factions, although it's his role to front for all of them.

When he speaks of all the things he would do if elected president, he is sketching a picture of a Never-Never Land that even Franklin D. Roosevelt, who put the Democratic coalition together, never reached. Nor did Harry Truman, who finally was reduced to sulking in the White House while the policies of the United States were hammered out by a majority of conservatives in the House and Senate. Sen. Kennedy previewed his helplessness as a coalition leader in the August session of Congress.

It's as though Sen. Kennedy were promising miraculous cures with a patent medicine while Vice President Nixon was practicing bona fide medicine.

NIXON KNOWS the limitations of the political art. He is aware of the problems as well as the potentialities of party government.

He has been part of the party government presided over by President Eisenhower since 1953. No one knows better how far apart the viewpoints of Nelson Rockefeller and Barry Goldwater are, or how much bitterness was generated during the Eisenhower years by friction between the party's ultraconservatives and its "progressive moderates."

Mr. Nixon has been the intermediary in some of the clashes. His hardest job in the Republican National Convention this year was to reconcile differences between the Goldwater faction on the extreme right and the Rockefeller faction on the extreme left.

Inside the Republican party, however, differences can be reconciled, because the party's leaders and its followers share a basic belief that there must be limitations on the welfare state the labor unions and the ADA stalwarts are trying to build.

This belief holds them together.

There is no basic belief among the factions inside the Democratic coalition.

There is no party basis for Democrats.

It is being proposed by some unionists that the coalition's labor wing should split off entirely and make its own way.

Southerners split off in 1948, again in 1952, then again in 1956, and this year are being held in place only by the gooey good will of Sen. Johnson, who is corn-poning and fat-backing his way through a situation that finds southerners still 100 per cent Democratic in local politics but leery of being identified nationally with northern Negroes, northern labor leaders and northern socialists.

BUT HOW WOULD Richard Nixon be able to head up a party government unless Republicans had a majority in the House and Senate?

Republicans have no chance to control the Senate and only an outside chance to control the House; Nixon, like Eisenhower, would face a Democratic majority in Congress if he became president.

What Nixon would have that Kennedy could not have would be a voting majority. As the leader of the Republican party, he could count on its votes in all divisions on substantive issues. As spokesman for moderation in government, he could count on the support of conservatives in the Democratic coalition.

These are not considerations that sway popular votes. Not one out of 10 voters gives a thought to the fact there is today in the United States only one political party, battered and bent but still intact, and one political coalition—a loose collection of minorities, blocs and individuals that cannot speak to one another.

Yet it is a fact with direct bearing on government in the United States.

The patent medicine man has set up his pitch across the street from the party leader who still has faith in a standard remedy called "Party Government."

But so much has happened since people last knew what it was like to live under a genuine two-party system that Vice President Nixon feels he must play down his role as a party candidate, in the hope of attracting some of the crowd away from his rival.

It is a special problem of the 1960 campaign.

Makes It Hard To Communicate

Labor Secretary Mitchell has tried his best to stay on good terms with both unions and management. When he thought either had stepped out of line, he always said so. But he never picked fights with them. He has been faithful to President Eisenhower's principle that the federal government should represent all the people; that it is not in office to grind any minority's ax.

But giving Secretary Mitchell credit for good intentions, we think he went a little far in a speech to the Northern Ohio Steel Institute this week when he said the 1959 steel strike reflected a failure in communications between management and labor.

"It was basically an unpopular strike that became a crusade when the union leaders were able to translate managment's position on work practices into terms of management's taking away something the workers had had for many years,' Secretary Mitchell said.

We do not believe it would have mattered two rat-a-tat-tats with a chipping hammer what management in the steel industry said about the work practices it wanted to eliminate, in an effort to bring down its production costs.

This was no failure of communication on management's part. It was a failure of sympathy on the part of steel union strategists, who seized on the work practices issues and distorted it into a Halloween monster because it was the only emotional wallop they could find in an otherwise grim, drab work stoppage the workers didn't want.

It is not a failure of communications when an opponent twists meanings to fool people into doing something they otherwise would not think of doing. If Secretary Mitchell wants reminders about the technique, he needs only to note what the politicians are doing right now to make bogeymen slither and sneer where otherwise there would be nothing to get excited about.

Politics and labor unionism are both high in emotional content. There is no way to avert distortion when distortion is the intent.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The start of Broadway shows at 7:30 one night a week is having tough going. David Merrick, producer of six hits now running, ran out on the idea fast but others are still giving a break to theater-goers who like to see a show and be in bed by midnight. Playgoers as a whole, however, take the attitude they are entitled to night-life, liberty to miss the first act, and pursuit of taxicabs.

The 7:30 curtain folks must get early dinner and reach the theater when most theatergoers are still deciding what to wear and stoutly refusing to let drama interfere with their cocktail capacities. To reach the theater at that hour the wife has to hurry the dishwashing and powder her nose far ahead of schedule.

Her man has to get home early, take the bicarbonate before instead of after eating and reach Broadway in the mood of a marathon runner.

When he gives his theater destination so early in the evening the taxicab driver looks at his watch to make sure it hasn't stopped. He thinks the passenger must be an electrician on a hurry call to repair a failure in the marquee lights.

Early curtain folks always have a feeling they are making actors get up too early. They are a hardy lot, knowing, as they do, that when they get inside the theater around 7 or 7:15 all the famous personalities are still in the saloons.

The play begins while they are awake. They know they are violating a Broadway code against seeing more than half of the first act. They don't know what a break this can be.

THE NATIONAL AUTO SHOW, after half a century is being held in Detroit for the first time, although it has long been auto center. The city has evidently decided that the horseless carriage is here to stay.

New York schoolteachers talk of strike Nov. 7. Kids are deeply worried. They're afraid it won't happen.

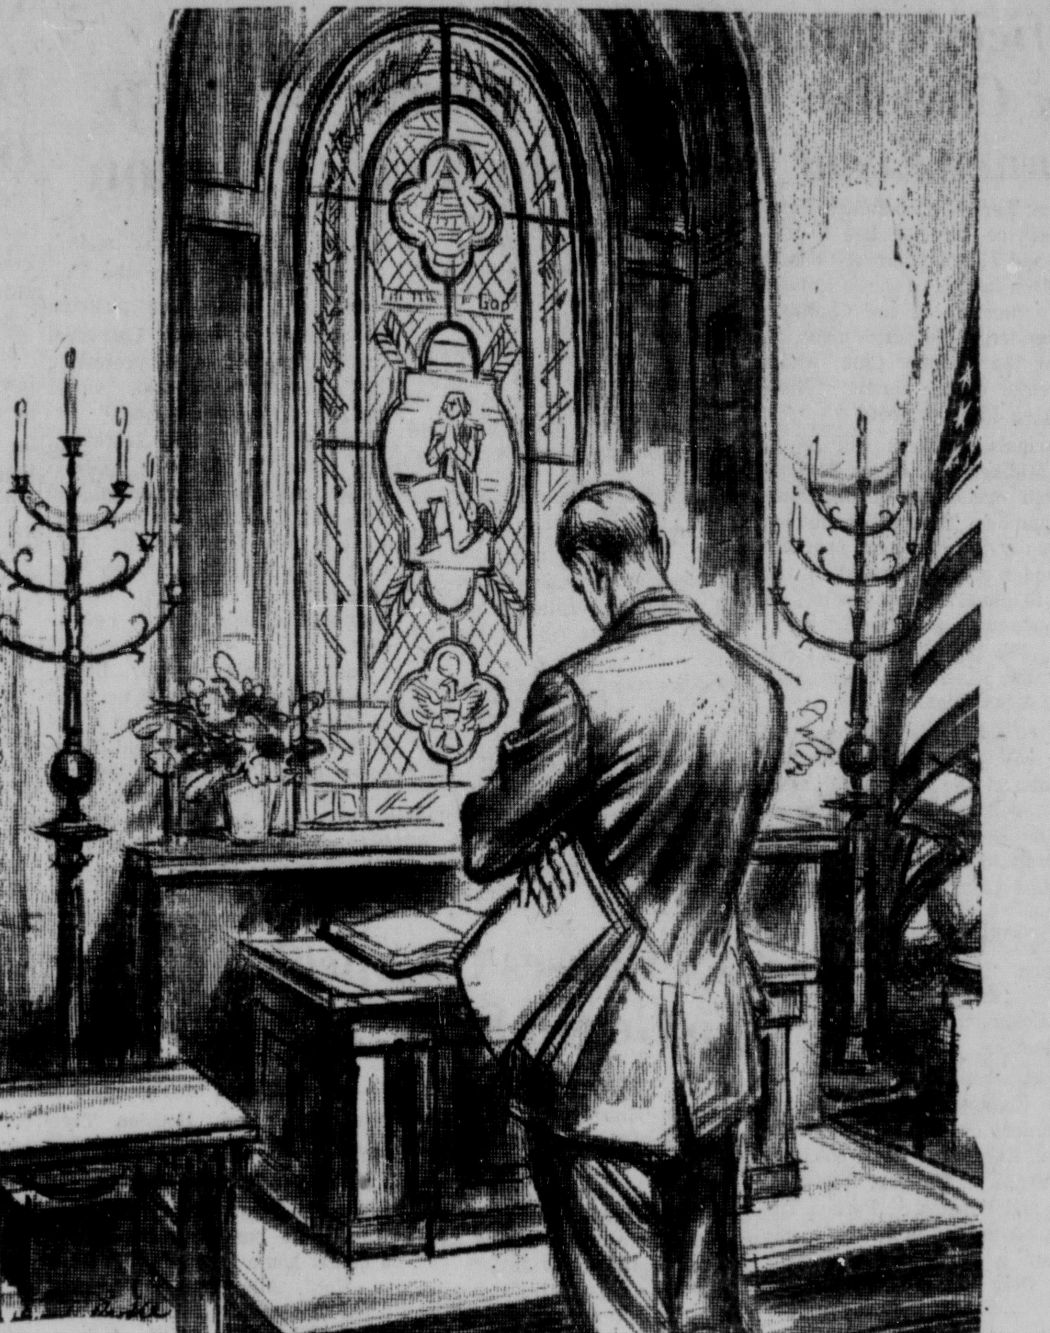
From 60 to 70 per cent of New York policemen also work at outside jobs, union head says. (We just heard of a traffic cop who, after a hectic day at a busy corner, goes to work as a watchman in a hospital for nervous disorder.

We are still plugging for Casey Stengel as a member of the U.S. delegation to the United Nations. We have nobody there who is a skilled double-talker and the need of the hour is for a man whose words are not easy to follow. "Stenglese" has become famous in the sports world, through Casey's rare skill in making it hard to be sure what he is driving at. The Russians are overstaffed in this respect. Many other nations, including India, leave you asking "What did he say?" after every speech. America's U.N. delegates speak clearly. They can be understood without effort. If Casey quits baseball, he can help end this clarity. It's a terrific handicap.

Candid Camera, which up to now has been one of the funniest TV shows, still suffers from a new format using professional actors and actresses and from "Oh, wait until you see this scene: you'll die laughing" routine before each episode. It is bound to take the kick out of camera fun. And when professional performers are used in any way it casts suspicion on the show

The Power Of Faith

by Howard Brodie



Since the first meeting of Congress, it has been customary to begin the day with prayer. Today, Rev. Frederick Brown Harris, a Methodist, is Senate Chaplain; Rev. Bernard Braskamp, a Presbyterian, is House Chaplain. Rabbis and Catholic priests, as well as other Protestants, have been guest chaplains. Their message, such as "Grant that we may meet the tasks and responsibilities of this new day with a resolute faith in the guiding and sustaining presence of Thy spirit (Rev. B. B.)", offer inspiration to the legislators.

New Labor-Management Showdown?

By Victor Riesel

A man who never gambles is General Electric's vice president, Jack Parker, who flew into Las Vegas the other day and laid it on the line. He was no where near the roll of the dice nor spin of the wheel — but the stakes seldom were bigger.

Jack Parker, who reflects the highest echelon of the struck GE directorship, told some industrialists there that the time had come to organize rank-and-file union members, non-union employes, dealers, customers and the community to offset the influence of the nation's labor leaders.

Jack Parker, whom legend has it can take a jet engine apart with his own hands and reassemble the thing, is symbolic of the "younger" post-war industrial leadership.

Their words are the headlines and history of the '60s.

PARKER'S WORDS were blunt as he talked to a mining executives' congress.

"The basic need," he said, "is to develop a relationship between employes and the business in which they are concerned so that they understand it and can go forward together with all the others who are interested parties in the business — the owners, customers, suppliers, distributors, dealers and, in a more indirect way, but still to an important degree, community neighbors and the general public."

There is the implication, too, that the highest GE officials believe that all industry should be ready to invest heavily in the drive to isolate some of the labor leadership.

AS JACK PARKER put it at the American Mining Congress, the words are guaranteed to raise the eyebrows and blood pressure of turbulent strike leader Jim Carey:

"This means applying to employe relations," asserted Parker, looking far ahead of the strike of some 50,000 employes in some 50 plants, "the same thoughtful attention, the same creative energy and the same unremitting effort that a responsible business manager devotes to the other groups concerned.

"For example, businesses today spend millions of dollars and millions of man-hours of each year finding out what the customer wants, designing and producing it for him, and then explaining to him not only how the product meets his need and fulfills his desires, but also, if necessary, why he can't have more for less.

"As managers of the nation's businesses, we have kept our customers well informed about the values which we have to offer them. But we have often neglected the function of keeping our employes similarly well informed about their relationship to the business and keeping the public well informed about the management-employe relationship."

Then came the direct challenge to America's labor leadership:

"What is needed is a truly concerted effort to stimulate employe interest in the common goals and problems of business life and to encourage among employes greater understanding of their rail economic interests as individuals."

SPEAKING OF STRIKES, Parker said, "All too often they become the test of power of the union officials as against the effectiveness of the leadership offered by the company management. . . ."

There are in this document of Parkers' many harsh criticisms of labor in such phrases as "a super government . . . politically expedient (settlements) . . . continual struggle for power."

There is much significance in the fact that this speech, delivered on Oct. 12, paralleled similar statements of another influential industrial, Heath Larry, vice president of U.S. Steel, though the men did not consult each other. Mr. Larry spoke in Dallas two weeks earlier.

Both are of the new executive generation. Both deal with many score unions.

Obviously the first real showdowns since the 1937 sit-downs are coming with the mass unions in the mass industries.

May I give my reasons for favoring Nixon? Once I did not, because of his bluntness and self-confidence.

But what could be more important at this time than to have a man who lets everyone know exactly where he stands, how he thinks and believes and has proven that he won't back down or be swayed easily or bluffed? A blessing is that he knows right from wrong.

There has been much dirt thrown, but I feel Nixon has handled the situation in such a manner that he has gained in stature. Always he seems to put the concern of how a matter will effect the nation or world above personal feelings. If you take the trouble to look into his past you will learn that all his life Nixon was concerned about the welfare of others. When he felt something must be done it was done, not for personal reward or glory but for the sake of its need.

Nixon and Lodge are a team, working together toward a united goal, with the approval and support of many people who have had much experience in dealings with mankind. When people who I have much respect for feel as I do about Nixon, it reaffirms my faith in him.

If I felt this way about Kennedy, I would support him. It's not the party—it's the man. My prayers go out for them both, that they may say and do what is right.

You who don't vote keep quiet after the election. You who vote, please don't go back to sleep afterward and forget your own responsibilities. Someone is going to have to help make all these dreams come true that everyone promises during an election year.

I want to comment on our "donothing" St. Clair Township trustees. Right now on Bloomfield Ave. they have left two open catch basins which were to have had gratings put over them and have been left open for over a year, two potential "leg-breakers".

Also some storm sewer ditches haven't been cleaned out in over three years. We hate to ask them to do anything because if they ever do it's usually a batched-up job— in my opinion— leaving a big mess behind.

As for the police protection levy of one dollar on a thousand-dollar valuation, it would mean their getting control of about four thousand extra tax dollars and protecting the constable's public employe pension, in my opinion. Just a few years ago our present township clerk went all around requesting our votes so he would get in his 20 years and share in this fund, his own daily job was not under social security. Yet many of the taxpayers don't even realize there is such a thing as the public employe pension fund.

Just what laws can or will they enforce? Remember the oldtime Calcutta speed trap? There existed a Bloomfield Community Association, meeting in the old Bloomfield School which tried to get us under the East Liverpool Municipal Court I believe when it was formed to get away from the high fines of the oldtime justices of peace. Right now a citizen with a complaint must file in Lisbon, then appear in County Court at East Palestine. I wish the duties of the constable and the trustees could be clarified.

And I might add I do not have anything against the one constable we have. He lived in Bloomfield when he was a little boy and I have voted for him under the old system.

The state of North Dakota came into the Union with a complete impartiality. Voting for president for the first time in 1892, it gave one electoral vote each to the Republican, Democratic and People's parties.

Presidential electors were chosen by the state legislature, instead of by popular vote, in South Carolina until 1860.

Abraham Lincoln, who was born in Kentucky, never won the electoral vote of his native state in the two times he successfully ran for president.

The South's Dilemma

By David Lawrence

Election Outcome To Greatly Effect South

David Lawrence

Whatever else the presidential election may bring, the outcome is certain to affect the political fate of the South more than any other region of the country.

The possible impact of a Kennedy victory or a Nixon victory is being widely discussed in the South, of course, but even more pointed is the attitude of the so-called "liberal" bloc in the North which foresees in a Kennedy victory a chance to upset the very thing the southern Democrats in Congress have clung to advantageously for decades — namely, the seniority system in choosing chairmen of committees in both houses.

Perhaps the most interesting expression on this point has come from the "New York Post," which, in announcing editorially its support for Sen. Kennedy, says in part:

"With respect to the great issue of civil rights, neither party can claim any large virtue. But on this front, too, the most meaningful immediate goal is to increase the representation of liberal Democrats in both houses.

"The deadly bottleneck is the coalition of conservative Republicans and southern Democrats; under Nixon, as under Eisenhower, that coalition is likely to flourish, with Lyndon Johnson retaining his power as Senate leader; under Kennedy it may be finally challenged.

"Fearful as we were of Johnson's possible effect on the tone and substance of the Kennedy campaign, his replacement as Senate chieftain may finally enable liberal Democrats and Republicans to end the stalemate on civil rights.

"In larger terms it is surely plain that the fate of the Negro is inextricably involved with the fate of the general human community."

THE ARGUMENT of the professional Democrats throughout the South — those who hold office or are candidates for office on the Democratic ticket this autumn — is that support must be given to the party as such and that in this way the influence of the South, through the seniority system in Congress, will be preserved.

Many of the professionals know they are going against local sentiment but they feel that it is expedient for them to be recorded in favor of the Democratic ticket.

In some instances, there are slates of independent electors on the ballot, the assumption being that, in a close race in the Electoral College, these states may hold the balance of power.

The truth is that the people of the South have before them a critical decision. They would like to support their local political leaders, who, in the main, have borne the brunt of the "civil rights" struggle. But the big question is whether the coalition of conservative Republicans and southern Democrats in Congress will be preserved in the event of a Kennedy victory, or whether the dissolution of the bipartisan combination is likely.

Actually, the coalition means even more on a conservative or radical basis than it does in the "civil rights" controversy.

The South is for the most part conservative. Its businessmen fear the rise of the labor monopoly because many southern plants will will not be able to compete with northern businesses if unionization becomes extensive and new labor laws give the unions more and more power.

NOTWITHSTANDING these fears, the fact is that the Democratic party leaders in the South are for the most part supporting the Kennedy - Johnson ticket this time, and it will be interesting to see the extent to which the voters follow those leaders.

Many southern newspapers, hitherto backing a long line of Democratic presidential nominees, have come out for Nixon. This may be one reason why news dispatches from the South in recent weeks say that there are many "doubtful" states.

One thing attracting attention is the attitude of the Negro voters. One report is that Richmond, Va., for instance, may be strongly Democratic this time because of the Negro vote.

Certainly this is a surprise but the Republicans may be in for more surprises when they examine the Negro vote in several northern states.

Despite all that the Republicans did at Little Rock and about school integration and notwithstanding what they have done through the Department of Justice to help the Negroes in the South on voting rights, the northern Negroes do not appear to be grateful politically.

It is reported that in New York City, for instance, the Democratic ticket will get the largest support in years from the Negro voters.

THE DEFEAT of Republican nominees for Congress and the election of more and more Democrats from the so-called "liberal" side in the North will, of course, weaken the coalition if a Democratic president is elected.

The people of the South are doubtless weighing all these factors, and that's why there is so much talk this year about a "close" election in the South.

A few years ago the people of South Carolina elected a senator on a "write-in" basis, defeating the regular party nominee. The result was attributed to the influence of the newspapers as against the local party organization.

Not the least interesting of the stories that will be written after election day from different parts of the country will be the explanation of what the people of the South did at the polls.

Leave It To The Girls

By Truman Twill

My attention is automatically riveted on reports of what women are doing, even in politics. Correction: Especially in politics.

I think one of the greatest social forces gathering momentum in these times is the rising strength of the female majority in the United States.

Women already are doing most of the spadework in politics.

This is the presidential year when experts think they may bust loose and do most of the voting, because due to the high death rate among perishable males women now outnumber men in the United States by millions.

This means that whenever women are ready to pull a coup d'etat at the ballot box, all they have to do is move in and take over. They can have their own way.

If I could hang on long enough, I am sure this country will have a woman president, a woman secretary of state, a woman secretary of the interior etc.

If I hang on only until Election Day this year, I think I am going to see the next president of the United States elected because of the female factor in the campaign.

Experts have been trying to make it appear that Jack Kennedy has the edge in appeal to women because he is generally acknowledged to be on the handsome side. Not everybody thinks so, of course, but generally speaking the man from Massachusetts is considered to be a dreamboat.

I doubt that it works this way. The lady I live with has convinced me that most women who have outgrown the teen-age point of view go for ugly men like me and Dick Nixon, except that I am uglier than he is.

Matter of fact, he isn't ugly at all, except by comparison with men who are held to be good looking, whereas I am ugly, period. Anyway, the lady whose opinion I respect most of all says women mistrust men who are handsome because they always know they're attractive and never quit trying to make something of it, whereas men who know they're ugly finally realize their limitations and become reconciled to a routine existence.

Women helped to put Dwight Eisenhower into office; he wowed 'em.

Pick out the candidate with the extra something that appeals to women in 1960, then draw all your savings out of the bank and bet it on his nose. You can't lose.

Party Leader vs. Pitch Man

Richard Nixon has this special problem in the 1960 election:

He is the only candidate in the race who represents a political party.

His opponent represents a collection of blocs and minorities put together with baling wire and string.

Yet, because this coalition is numerically stronger than Mr. Nixon's Republican party, he must appeal to voters who otherwise would identify themselves with one or more of the various minorities in the Democratic coalition.

To do this, he must play down—or believes he must play down—his identity as a Republican.

He must try to keep it from coming to general attention that is what is left of the classical two-party system in the United States he is the only spokesman for a party.

JOHN KENNEDY cannot speak for the southern Democratic faction in the coalition he is leading. That job has been turned over to Lyndon Johnson.

Sen. Johnson, on the other hand, cannot speak for Americans for Democratic Action, the radical pressure bloc that exerts steady pressure to move the Democratic coalition toward the extreme left.

Walter Reuther, the United Auto Workers president and vice president of AFL-CIO, cannot reconcile anything he stands for in the coalition with anything any southern Democratic or northern conservative stands for.

And Sen. Kennedy, who must try to conceal the disparities in his following, cannot afford to let himself be identified with any of its disparate factions, although it's his role to front for all of them.

When he speaks of all the things he would do if elected president, he is sketching a picture of a Never-Never Land that even Franklin D. Roosevelt, who put the Democratic coalition together, never reached. Nor did Harry Truman, who finally was reduced to sulking in the White House while the policies of the United States were hammered out by a majority of conservatives in the House and Senate. Sen. Kennedy previewed his helplessness as a coalition leader in the August session of Congress.

It's as though Sen. Kennedy were promising miraculous cures with a patent medicine while Vice President Nixon was practicing bona fide medicine.

NIXON KNOWS the limitations of the political art. He is aware of the problems as well as the potentialities of party government.

He has been part of the party government presided over by President Eisenhower since 1953. No one knows better how far apart the viewpoints of Nelson Rockefeller and Barry Goldwater are, or how much bitterness was generated during the Eisenhower years by friction between the party's ultraconservatives and its "progressive moderates."

Mr. Nixon has been the intermediary in some of the clashes. His hardest job in the Republican National Convention this year was to reconcile differences between the Goldwater faction on the extreme right and the Rockefeller faction on the extreme left.

Inside the Republican party, however, differences can be reconciled, because the party's leaders and its followers share a basic belief that there must be limitations on the welfare state the labor unions and the ADA stalwarts are trying to build.

This belief holds them together.

There is no basic belief among the factions inside the Democratic coalition.

There is no party basis for Democrats.

It is being proposed by some unionists that the coalition's labor wing should split off entirely and make its own way.

Southerners split off in 1948, again in 1952, then again in 1956, and this year are being held in place only by the gooey good will of Sen. Johnson, who is corn-poning and fatbacking his way through a situation that finds southerners still 100 per cent Democratic in local politics but leery of being identified nationally with northern Negroes, northern labor leaders and northern socialists.

BUT HOW WOULD Richard Nixon be able to head up a party government unless Republicans had a majority in the House and Senate?

Republicans have no chance to control the Senate and only an outside chance to control the House; Nixon, like Eisenhower, would face a Democratic majority in Congress if he became president.

What Nixon would have that Kennedy could not have would be a voting majority. As the leader of the Republican party, he could count on its votes in all divisions on substantive issues. As spokesman for moderation in government, he could count on the support of conservatives in the Democratic coalition.

These are not considerations that sway popular votes. Not one out of 10 voters gives a thought to the fact there is today in the United States only one political party, battered and bent but still intact, and one political coalition—a loose collection of minorities, blocs and individuals that cannot speak to one another.

Yet it is a fact with direct bearing on government in the United States.

The patent medicine man has set up his pitch across the street from the party leader who still has faith in a standard remedy called "Party Government."

But so much has happened since people last knew what it was like to live under a genuine two-party system that Vice President Nixon feels he must play down his role as a party candidate, in the hope of attracting some of the crowd away from his rival.

It is a special problem of the 1960 campaign.

Makes It Hard To Communicate

Labor Secretary Mitchell has tried his best to stay on good terms with both unions and management. When he thought either had stepped out of line, he always said so. But he never picked fights with them. He has been faithful to President Eisenhower's principle that the federal government should represent all the people; that it is not in office to grind any minority's ax.

But giving Secretary Mitchell credit for good intentions, we think he went a little far in a speech to the Northern Ohio Steel Institute this week when he said the 1959 steel strike reflected a failure in communications between management and labor.

"It was basically an unpopular strike that became a crusade when the union leaders were able to translate managment's position on work practices into terms of management's taking away something the workers had had for many years," Secretary Mitchell said.

We do not believe it would have mattered two rat-a-tat-tats with a chipping hammer what management in the steel industry said about the work practices it wanted to eliminate, in an effort to bring down its production costs.

This was no failure of communication on management's part. It was a failure of sympathy on the part of steel union strategists, who seized on the work practices issues and distorted it into a Halloween monster because it was the only emotional wallop they could find in an otherwise grim, drab work stoppage the workers didn't want.

It is not a failure of communications when an opponent twists meanings to fool people into doing something they otherwise would not think of doing. If Secretary Mitchell wants reminders about the technique, he needs only to note what the politicians are doing right now to make bogeymen slither and sneer where otherwise there would be nothing to get excited about.

Politics and labor unionism are both high in emotional content. There is no way to avert distortion when distortion is the intent.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The start of Broadway shows at 7:30 one night a week is having tough going. David Merrick, producer of six hits now running, ran out on the idea fast but others are still giving a break to theater-goers who like to see a show and be in bed by midnight. Playgoers as a whole, however, take the attitude they are entitled to night-life, liberty to miss the first act, and pursuit of taxicabs.

The 7:30 curtain folks must get early dinner and reach the theater when most theatergoers are still deciding what to wear and stoutly refusing to let drama interfere with their cocktail capacities. To reach the theater at that hour the wife has to hurry the dishwashing and powder her nose far ahead of schedule.

Her man has to get home early, take the bicarbonate before instead of after eating and reach Broadway in the mood of a marathon runner.

When he gives his theater destination so early in the evening the taxicab driver looks at his watch to make sure it hasn't stopped. He thinks the passenger must be an electrician on a hurry call to repair a failure in the marquee lights.

Early curtain folks always have a feeling they are making actors get up too early. They are a hardy lot, knowing, as they do, that when they get inside the theater around 7 or 7:15 all the famous personalities are still in the saloons.

The play begins while they are awake. They know they are violating a Broadway code against seeing more than half of the first act. They don't know what a break this can be.

THE NATIONAL AUTO SHOW, after half a century is being held in Detroit for the first time, although it has long been auto center. The city has evidently decided that the horseless carriage is here to stay.

New York schoolteachers talk of strike Nov. 7. Kids are deeply worried. They're afraid it won't happen.

From 60 to 70 per cent of New York policemen also work at outside jobs, union head says. (We just heard of a traffic cop who, after a hectic day at a busy corner, goes to work as a watchman in a hospital for nervous disorder.

We are still plugging for Casey Stengel as a member of the U.S. delegation to the United Nations. We have nobody there who is a skilled double-talker and the need of the hour is for a man whose words are not easy to follow. "Stenglese" has become famous in the sports world, through Casey's rare skill in making it hard to be sure what he is driving at. The Russians are overstaffed in this respect. Many other nations, including India, leave you asking "What did he say?" after every speech. America's U.N. delegates speak clearly. They can be understood without effort. If Casey quits baseball, he can help end this clarity. It's a terrific handicap.

Candid Camera, which up to now has been one of the funniest TV shows, still suffers from a new format using professional actors and actresses and from "Oh, wait until you see this scene: you'll die laughing" routine before each episode. It is bound to take the kick out of camera fun. And when professional performers are used in any way it casts suspicion on the show

Since the first meeting of Congress, it has been customary to begin the day with prayer.

Today, Rev. Frederick Brown Harris, a Methodist, is Senate Chaplain; Rev. Bernard Braskamp, a Presbyterian, is House Chaplain. Their message, such as "Grant that we may meet the tasks and responsibilities of this new day with a resolute faith in the guiding and sustaining presence of Thy spirit (Rev. B. "Fearful as we were of Johnson's possible effect on the tone and substance of the Kennedy campaign, his replacement as Senate chieftain may finally enable liberal Democrats and Republicans to end the stalemate on civil rights.

"In larger terms it is surely plain that the fate of the Negro is inextricably involved with the fate of the general human community."

THE ARGUMENT of the professional Democrats throughout the South — those who hold office or are candidates for office on the Democratic ticket this autumn — is that support must be given to the party as such and that in this way the influence of the South, through the seniority system in Congress, will be preserved.

Many of the professionals know they are going against local sentiment but they feel that it is expedient for them to be recorded in favor of the Democratic ticket.

In some instances, there are slates of independent electors on the ballot, the assumption being that, in a close race in the Electoral College, these states may hold the balance of power.

The truth is that the people of the South have before them a critical decision. They would like to support their local political leaders, who, in the main, have borne the brunt of the "civil rights" struggle. But the big question is whether the coalition of conservative Republicans and southern Democrats in Congress will be preserved in the event of a Kennedy victory, or whether the dissolution of the bipartisan combination is likely.

Actually, the coalition means even more on a conservative or radical basis than it does in the "civil rights" controversy.

The South is for the most part conservative. Its businessmen fear the rise of the labor monopoly because many southern plants will will not be able to compete with northern businesses if unionization becomes extensive and new labor laws give the unions more and more power.

NOTWITHSTANDING these fears, the fact is that the Democratic party leaders in the South are for the most part supporting the Kennedy - Johnson ticket this time, and it will be interesting to see the extent to which the voters follow those leaders.

Many southern newspapers, hitherto backing a long line of Democratic presidential nominees, have come out for Nixon. This may be one reason why news dispatches from the South in recent weeks say that there are many "doubtful" states.

One thing attracting attention is the attitude of the Negro voters. One report is that Richmond, Va., for instance, may be strongly Democratic this time because of the Negro vote.

Certainly this is a surprise but the Republicans may be in for more surprises when they examine the Negro vote in several northern states.

Despite all that the Republicans did at Little Rock and about school integration and notwithstanding what they have done through the Department of Justice to help the Negroes in the South on voting rights, the northern Negroes do not appear to be grateful politically.

It is reported that in New York City, for instance, the Democratic ticket will get the largest support in years from the Negro voters.

THE DEFEAT of Republican nominees for Congress and the election of more and more Democrats from the so-called "liberal" side in the North will, of course, weaken the coalition if a Democratic president is elected.

The people of the South are doubtless weighing all these factors, and that's why there is so much talk this year about a "close" election in the South.

A few years ago the people of South Carolina elected a senator on a "write-in" basis, defeating the regular party nominee. The result was attributed to the influence of the newspapers as against the local party organization.

Not the least interesting of the stories that will be written after election day from different parts of the country will be the explanation of what the people of the South did at the polls.

Leave It To The Girls

By Truman Twill

My attention is automatically riveted on reports of what women are doing, even in politics. Correction: Especially in politics.

I think one of the greatest social forces gathering momentum in these times is the rising strength of the female majority in the United States.

Women already are doing most of the spadework in politics.

This is the presidential year when experts think they may bust loose and do most of the voting, because due to the high death rate among perishable males women now outnumber men in the United States by millions.

This means that whenever women are ready to pull a coup d'etat at the ballot box, all they have to do is move in and take over. They can have their own way.

If I could hang on long enough, I am sure this country will have a woman president, a woman secretary of state, a woman secretary of the interior etc.

If I hang on only until Election Day this year, I think I am going to see the next president of the United States elected because of the female factor in the campaign.

Experts have been trying to make it appear that Jack Kennedy has the edge in appeal to women because he is generally acknowledged to be on the handsome side. Not everybody thinks so, of course, but generally speaking the man from Massachusetts is considered to be a dreamboat.

I doubt that it works this way. The lady I live with has convinced me that most women who have outgrown the teen-age point of view go for ugly men like me and Dick Nixon, except that I am uglier than he is.

Matter of fact, he isn't ugly at all, except by comparison with men who are held to be good looking, whereas I am ugly, period. Anyway, the lady whose opinion I respect most of all says women mistrust men who are handsome because they always know they're attractive and never quit trying to make something of it, whereas men who know they're ugly finally realize their limitations and become reconciled to a routine existence.

Women helped to put Dwight Eisenhower into office; he owned 'em.

Pick out the candidate with the extra something that appeals to women in 1960, then draw all your savings out of the bank and bet it on his nose. You can't lose.

Confident Living

By Norman Vincent Peale

Are You A Victim Of Resentment?

We human beings have a curious way of making needless extra trouble for ourselves when our feelings have been hurt. That is what we do in harboring resentment. And in many cases, I have noticed, the biggest obstacle to a person's getting over his resentment is his insistence that his resentment is justified. A young lady wrote to me for advice. Among other things she had very bitter feelings toward her father. In my reply I referred her to the chapter on resentment in my booklet What's Your Trouble. I did not hear from her again for more than a year.

DR. PEALE

Then she wrote, "I read your chapter on resentment and tried to follow the suggestions given. At first I did not notice any change, but as I practiced those suggestions there came a time when I felt that gradually my resentment was going away.

"I did not realize what a destructive force resentment is or how I had allowed it to dominate me. I think the most difficult step in overcoming it is admitting it is wrong. I had been trying to justify it, telling myself my feelings were perfectly natural. Once I admitted to myself that it was wrong," she concluded, "I was willing for God to help me get rid of it."

RESENTMENT is a natural reaction, it can be understandable, but as to being really justified that is very questionable. It doesn't get you anywhere; it makes you miserable. It causes tension, saps your energy, is bad for your health; and it can jeopardize your happiness by blinding you to the best course of action in a crisis.

I recall the case of a woman who came to see me when she discovered that her husband had been having a clandestine affair with another woman. Seldom have I seen anyone so angry.

She and her husband, she kept repeating, had been married 20 years. She had trusted him. She had thought all was well between them. She could not find words strong enough for what she thought of him. He was a double-dealer. He was the lowest kind of heel.

I certainly could not condone the husband's conduct, but so self-righteous was this woman's attitude and so vindictive that, actually, I could not help feeling some sympathy for the man.

I could find no way effectively to shut off the flow of her vituperation.

So, cutting her short, I told her about the religio-psychiatric clinic conducted in conjunction with our church, and sent her to one of the psychiatrists. After several consultations she improved at least to the extent that every once in a while she would stop talking for a moment and give her listener a chance.

BUT ONLY for a moment. We still were not making much progress in helping her. Finally, after praying for guidance, I decided upon a kind of dramatic method. I said to her, "Now look. We aren't getting anywhere with this matter. So I suggest that you just let go of the problem for a while. Drop it in my hands."

I stood up, cupped my hands and held them out to her as though taking her problem into them. I opened the door, made a gesture of tossing something into the next room, closed the door again and said, "Now your problem is out there in the other room. Let's leave it there and turn our minds to God for His guidance. Let's sit here quietly and simply think about God for a few minutes. Don't you say a word, and neither will I. Just think about God." Surprised though she was, she did as suggested. And I was even more surprised, because of the intensity of her anger.

When at length I took the Bible and read aloud for perhaps ten minutes from the Psalms and New Testament, she spoke very differently from before — quietly and slowly and with new intelligence.

She said, "Harry is a fine man anyway and I still love him. Maybe I haven't been all I should be, either. I'm going to pray for God to bless and help him. I'm sure God will help Harry see this woman in proper perspective." And then she said amazingly, "I'm going to pray for her, too. She's misguided and she must need help."

It was a most remarkable statement and it lead to an improved situation. Some things in life to turn out right in the end, like the old-fashioned novels that conclude with the hero and heroine living happily ever after. This woman and her husband managed to close the breach between them and make their marriage a happy one again. But that would never have happened had it not been possible to break through the barrier of her intense righteous indignation.

Next time you get your feelings hurt and react resentfully, better do some praying quickly before you get so obsessed by your "justifiable" resentment that no room is left for rational thinking and acting.

Confident Living

By Norman Vincent Peale

Are You A Victim Of Resentment?

DR. PEALE

We human beings have a curious way of making needless extra trouble for ourselves when our feelings have been hurt. That is what we do in harboring resentment. And in many cases, I have noticed, the biggest obstacle to a person's getting over his resentment is his insistence that his resentment is justified. A young lady wrote to me for advice. Among other things she had very bitter feelings toward her father. In my reply I referred her to the chapter on resentment in my booklet What's Your Trouble. I did not hear from her again for more than a year.

Then she wrote, "I read your chapter on resentment and tried to follow the suggestions given. At first I did not notice any change, but as I practiced those suggestions there came a time when I felt that gradually my resentment was going away.

"I did not realize what a destructive force resentment is or how I had allowed it to dominate me. I think the most difficult step in overcoming it is admitting it is wrong. I had been trying to justify it, telling myself my feelings were perfectly natural. Once I admitted to myself that it was wrong," she concluded, "I was willing for God to help me get rid of it."

RESENTMENT is a natural reaction, it can be understandable, but as to being really justified that is very questionable. It doesn't get you anywhere; it makes you miserable. It causes tension, saps your energy, is bad for your health; and it can jeopardize your happiness by blinding you to the best course of action in a crisis.

I recall the case of a woman who came to see me when she discovered that her husband had been having a clandestine affair with another woman. Seldom have I seen anyone so angry.

She and her husband, she kept repeating, had been married 20 years. She had trusted him. She had thought all was well between them. She could not find words strong enough for what she thought of him. He was a double-dealer. He was the lowest kind of heel.

I certainly could not condone the husband's conduct, but so self-righteous was this woman's altitude and so vindictive that, actually, I could not help feeling some sympathy for the man.

I could find no way effectively to shut off the flow of her vituperation.

So, cutting her short, I told her about the religio-psychiatric clinic conducted in conjunction with our church, and sent her to one of the psychiatrists. After several consultations she improved at least to the extent that every once in a while she would stop talking for a moment and give her listener a chance.

BUT ONLY for a moment. We still were not making much progress in helping her. Finally, after praying for guidance, I decided upon a kind of dramatic method. I said to her, "Now look. We aren't getting anywhere with this matter. So I suggest that you just let go of the problem for a while. Drop it in my hands."

I stood up, cupped my hands and held them out to her as though taking her problem into them. I opened the door, made a gesture of tossing something into the next room, closed the door again and said, "Now your problem is out there in the other room. Let's leave it there and turn our minds to God for His guidance. Let's sit here quietly and simply think about God for a few minutes. Don't you say a word, and neither will I. Just think about God." Surprised though she was, she did as suggested. And I was even more surprised, because of the intensity of her anger.

When at length I took the Bible and read aloud for perhaps ten minutes from the Psalms and New Testament, she spoke very differently from before — quietly and slowly and with new intelligence.

She said, "Harry is a fine man anyway and I still love him. Maybe I haven't been all I should be, either. I'm going to pray for God to bless and help him. I'm sure God will help Harry see this woman in proper perspective." And then she said amazingly, "I'm going to pray for her, too. She's misguided and she must need help."

It was a most remarkable statement and it lead to an improved situation. Some things in life to turn out right in the end, like the old-fashioned novels that conclude with the hero and heroine living happily ever after. This woman and her husband managed to close the breach between them and make their marriage a happy one again. But that would never have happened had it not been possible to break through the barrier of her intense righteous indignation.

Next time you get your feelings hurt and react resentfully, better do some praying quickly before you get so obsessed by your "justifiable" resentment that no room is left for rational thinking and acting.

Joint Church Group Named

A temporary committee to administer preliminary affairs for the planned merger of West Beaver, Madison and New Lebanon United Presbyterian Church Session is being organized.

Cunningham Hurls ELHS To Victory Despite 'Rough' Night

Salem's Stout Defense Shackles Wellsville In 10-0 Victory

Brief Brawl Near End Of Contest Marks 28-To-0 Game

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

With 1:33 remaining in the East Liverpool-Struthers game Friday night at Patterson Field, Potter quarterback Kenny Cunningham blew his top.

But before he did, Cunningham, an All-Ohio football player if we ever saw one, was his usual cool self and calmly led a scrappy bunch of Potters to a 28-0 shutout over Struthers before a homecoming crowd of 3,800.

Statistics

	EL	S
First Downs	11	6
Yds. Gained Rushing	215	109
Yds. Lost Rushing	13	13
Total Yds. Gained Rushing	202	96
Passes Attempted	15	6
Passes Completed	7	0
Passes Interecepted	1	1
Yds. Gained Passing	136	0
Total Yds. Gained	338	96
Fumbles	1	4
Own Fumbles Recovered	1	2
Yds. Lost Penalties	50	35

Cunningham was a marked man in the Potter lineup from the opening whistle and took a body beating throughout.

Each time he faded back to pass he was hit by a Struthers lineman, usually end Jack Stefano or Tony Fire.

THE OFFICIALS called roughing the passer twice, but it was hardly enough. Finally, with the game almost over, Cunnigham took matters into his own hands and threw a punch at Stefano.

This touched off a brief brawl, but three plays later the game ended with tempers still flaring. Glenn Mays, Potter guard, and Stefano were ejected from the game.

Cunningham, Mike Geon, Joe Thompson and the Potter defense shared the honors in East Liverpool's fifth victory in seven games.

The Potter quarterback had a hand in all but two points last night. He threw three touchdown passes, scored the final TD on a 5-yard sweep around end and passed for two extra points.

Coach Lou Venditti's team struck quickly with two first period touchdowns.

The first came on a 32-yard pass which Thompson grabbed with 7:30 still remaining in the opening quarter.

Then Cunningham and Geon clicked for two touchdowns in a row, with Geon making nice catches of both. The first was an 11-yard flip with 3:37 left in the first period. The second came in the third quarter with 2:41 showing on the stadium clock and was good for 12 yards.

Cunningham climaxed the scoring in the fourth period when he shot around the right side for 5 yards and a touchdown. Fullback John Goodballet threw the key block which got the Potter quarterback loose.

A Cunningham-to-Archer pass was good for one conversion and Thompson ran for another.

FRIDAY'S victory ended a successful home stand for the Potters, with the Blue and White winning five of six games. East Liverpool travels to Steubenville next Saturday night to meet the Catholic Central Crusaders.

The Potter defense, weak up the middle on occasions, played Struthers off its feet according to the final statistics.

The Wildcats gained a net of only 96 yards rushing and didn't complete any of six passes. Struthers, hampered by four fumbles, went to the Potter 22 for its farthest penetration of the evening.

East Liverpool, again blending its running and passing game, came out with a total of 335 yards gained — 202 on the ground and 133 in the air. Cunningham completed 6 of 14 passes for 116 yards and Craig O'Neil fired one for 20 yards on the last play of the game.

East Liverpool picked up 11 first downs and Struthers 6.

Venditti moved Joe Smith into the middle guard spot later in last night's game and Smith, along with Skip Hall, stopped most of the Wildcat thrusts up the middle.

Bud Myers came up with a timely recovery of a Struthers fumble in the first period. East Liverpool was in danger after gambling on fourth down on its own 39-yard line. An offside penalty gave Struthers the ball on the Potter 40, but three plays later Myers recovered the fumble on the East Liverpool 34.

It took the Blue and White only two plays to move 66 yards for a touchdown. Cunningham threw to Thompson on a play covering 34 yards. This put the ball on the Struthers 32. The same combination clicked again for the score.

ANOTHER fumble recovered by alert Jim Ferello gave East Liverpool the ball on the Struthers 36.

A first-down pass, Cunningham to Douglas, netted 13 yards and a first down. Goodballet then bolted 13 yards to the 23, but a clipping penalty set the ball back on the Struthers 28.

After another pass failed, the officials called their first roughing the passer penalty, which moved the Potters to the Wildcats 11.

Thompson shot to the five, but a 5-yard penalty for illegal motion put East Liverpool back to the 11. A play later Cunningham flipped to Geon, who was guarded by two defenders but managed a fine catch in the end zone.

Struthers came back and drove to the Potter 22, but the Potter defense tightened and pushed back the Wildcats to the 35-yard line.

Roughing of Cunningham in the third quarter cost Struthers another 15 yards and moved the Potters to the Struthers 14-yard line.

Goodballet picked up two yards and set the stage for a Cunningham-to-Geon pass with 2:41 remaining in the third quarter.

Thompson followed Hall over tackle for the conversion.

Struthers found itself in hot water again late in the third period when two Wildcat backs let the kickoff roll between them and the visitors took over on their own 4-yard line.

Struthers punted out to its own 32 and in six plays East Liverpool was on the Struthers 5. Cunningham took things into his hands and rolled around right end for the touchdown.

The Wildcats of Coach Ed Strauss, a Potter assistant coach four years ago, attempted to go to the air late in the fourth period, but Cunningham intercepted a pass thrown by John McComish and ran the ball back to the Wildcats' 38.

After Goodballet's fumble was recovered by Rick Karis, Struthers punted to the Potter 49-yard line where the brawl was touched off three plays before the game ended.

Record Broken, Driver Injured In Race Practice

FT. ORD, Calif. (AP) — Briton Sterling Moss, hitting top speeds of over 120 miles an hour, broke Laguna Seca's race course record Friday, shortly after a San Jose sports car driver was seriously injured in a practice run.

Moss did not appear to be pushing his 2.5-litre Lotus MK XIX as he averaged 90.5 miles an hour in a qualifying run over the twisting 1.9-mile asphalt course.

His time of 1 minute 17.3 seconds was 2.4 seconds better than the record set last year by Charles Howard of China Camp, Calif,. in a Huffaker Special.

Unless some other driver beats Moss Sunday morning, he'll have the pole position for the afternoon 200-mile $20,000 Pacific Grand Prix.

Here's How 8 Of Top 10 Faired On Friday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Here's how eight of the top 10 teams in The Associated Press high school football poll faired in Friday night's games (two did not play):

East Palestine Wins 5th, Blanks Minerva, 24-To-0

EAST PALESTINE — The East Palestine Bulldogs took a step closer to their fifth straight Tri-County title by blanking dangerous Minerva, 24-0, here Friday night.

The Bulldogs need a victory over Poland, which is also tied for the lead. Poland visits East Palestine next Friday.

Jerry Bush crossed the goal twice for Coach Howard Weyers' Bulldogs last night. The 165-pound halfback shot over from the 4-yard line in the first period and then came back in the second quarter to score from 3 yards away.

Willard Leake ended East Palestine's scoring with a 2-yard blast through the line in the fourth quarter.

Defensive play by the Bulldogs marked Friday's win, their fifth in six starts and fourth straight in Tri-County action.

Mike Lemley, an end, blocked a punt and recovered on the Minerva 1-yard line in the first quarter and tackles Fred Hoaglin and Pete Kliner, along with end Gene Moss, were lions on defense.

East Palestine rolled up 385 yards on the ground while Minerva got 166.

Wheeling Upsets Weirton, 18-14

Weirton, top-ranked Class AAA high school in West Virginia, was upset Friday night in football activities that also saw another of the big school powers go down to defeat.

Wheeling, which went into the game with a 3-3 record, handed Weirton's Red Riders their first loss in seven starts, 18-14.

Wheeling's 6-foot-5 quarterback, Dick Tomlinson, spelled trouble for the Riders. Tomlinson scored all three of the victors' touchdowns, all on sneaks from within the one-yard line.

Two of Wheeling's touchdowns were set up by fumbles. Weirton threatened in the third period, although trailing 12-7, by marching within Wheeling's 20-yard line on two occasions.

Quakers Still Unbeaten, Hold Tigers To 84 Yards Rushing

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

Eleventh-ranked Salem threw up a stout defense to hold Wellsville in check most of the way and used the bruising rushes of fullback Ron Janovec, 200-pound senior, as a battering offensive weapon to score a 10-0 victory Friday night.

An overflow crowd of 5,000 at Reilly Stadium in Salem saw the battle of the unbeatens in nippy weather.

Janovec, rushing for 98 yards in 24 carries, appeared to be the deciding factor in the bruising defensive struggle that found Wellsville toppled from the undefeated ranks.

BUT MUCH of the credit for Salem's triumph — seventh in a row — went to rugged left end Don Davidson, 190-pounder, who piled up Wellsville's outside rushing attack in a great defensive performance.

Coach Ken Woods' Wellsville eleven saw four scoring opportunities halted by two intercepted passes, a fumble and a call that probably will have Wellsville curbstone quarterbacks talking to themselves for days to come.

Salem turned an intercepted pass into a first period touchdown on Janovec's two-yard buck and padded the lead with a 25-yard field goal in the fourth quarter by Rick Sulea.

In between, it was Janovec to the left side, Janovec to the right side, and Janovec up the middle as the Quakers monopolized the game with time-consuming drives.

The victory was Salem's 17th in a row over the Tigers and ended prospects of the first unbeaten season in Wellsville's history.

WELLSVILLE'S offense, built around star quarterback Roger Ours, quick-thinking 150-pounder and a great passer, was limited to 84 yards on the ground.

Ours' aerials helped the Tigers mount offensive drives which carried to Salem's 28, 27, 32 and 16 yard lines. Key interceptions by Salem halted two drives, a fumble stopped the other and the fourth died after the questionable call.

Salem's strong line, anchored on the outside by the lanky Davidson, and on the inside by guard Fred Harshman, maintained its status of having been scored on only twice this year.

The Tiger offense was well-scouted and Salem's linemen kept the pressure on quarterback Ours all through the game. Only John Euill, developing into a fine inside threat, could pick up much yardage.

The play that still has Wellsville fans up in the air came with a little more than two minutes left in the first half.

With fourth down and six yards to go on Salem's 32, the Tigers punted instead of calling the most obvious play — a pass. The punt rolled into Salem's end zone and Salem had time for just four plays from its own 20 before the half ended.

DEFENSIVE stars were plentiful in the fast-moving contest and Wellsville's center Phil Baldwin, an All-Ohio candidate, was equally as tough as Davidson of Salem.

In addition, Bill Long, 150-pound middle guard, turned in a surprising performance for the Tigers in pulling down Salem runners many times. Guard Roger Merriman and end Jack Culp also gave stellar line performances. Most of the secondary tackles were made by Bob Kiggans and Dick Brown.

The first quarter was marked by fumbles by each team after the opening kickoff by Wellsville. Halfback John Delfavero's interception at the Salem 30 of an Ours pass led to the first touchdown.

Delfavero returned the interception to the Wellsville 47 to start the Quakers on their way. Three rushes by Janovec placed the ball on the Wellsville 36. Quarterback Gary Devan passed to Delfavero to the 20, Janovec crashed to the 17 and Delfavero on a pitchout carried to the Wellsville 2. On a crash over left tackle, Janovec scored the touchdown from two yards out and Sulea booted the conversion with 2:05 left in the first period.

WELLSVILLE was forced to punt after receiving the kickoff and moving to the Salem 30. The Quakers immediately fumbled and Wellsville's Alvin Jackson recovered on the Salem 34.

Two rushes by Ours placed the ball at the Salem 27, and then Ours' pass fell incomplete. The drive ended on the next play as Devan intercepted at the Salem 10.

Following a Salem punt midway through the second quarter, Wellsville started another touchdown drive from its own 29 with Euill ripping off runs of 15 and 17 yards to keep the attack moving.

With a first down on the Salem 36, halfback Doug Thomas picked up two yards to the 34. Brown got one yard over tackle and Euill was downed at the Salem 32 by Davidson for a one-yard loss.

The clock showed a little over two minutes as end Willard Mobley entered the Wellsville lineup as a substitution. With fourth down and six on the 32, the Tigers punted and Salem took possession after the ball went into the end zone.

Wellsville caught fire in the third quarter to again threaten after Salem was forced to punt. From the Wellsville 34, Thomas swept to the 40, but a 15-yard penalty against Wellsville for holding moved the ball back to the 20.

Ours passed to Brown in the flat to the 24, then faded back on the next play and threw deep to end Mobley who hauled in the aerial over his shoulder and fell out of bounds at the Salem 46 in a 31-yard operation.

TWO PLAYS by Euill moved the ball to the Salem 45, and Ours again passed, this time to Kiggans, who was pulled down at the Salem 28. Ours moved to the 23 on a keeper and then passed incomplete. He fumbled on the next play while running left end and the threat ended at the Salem 17.

The field goal by Sulea came with 8:29 left in the fourth quarter. The line of scrimmage was the Wellsville 7, and Sulea booted from the 15, splitting the uprights with a perfect kick.

Individual rushing statistics show Euill leading the Wellsville runners with 42 yards gained in 11 carries, with Ours netting only 18 in eleven carries. Brown gained 17 in six attempts.

The muscular Janovec averaged 4 yards per carry in spearheading Salem. His runs were short for the most part, with the longest being only 10 yards.

Cunningham Hurls ELHS To Victory Despite 'Rough' Night

Brief Brawl Near End Of Contest Marks 28-To-0 Game

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

With 1:33 remaining in the East Liverpool-Struthers game Friday night at Patterson Field, Potter quarterback Kenny Cunningham blew his top.

But before he did, Cunningham, an All-Ohio football player if we ever saw one, was his usual cool self and calmly led a scrappy bunch of Potters to a 28-0 shutout over Struthers before a homecoming crowd of 3,800.

Cunningham was a marked man in the Potter lineup from the opening whistle and took a body beating throughout.

Each time he faded back to pass he was hit by a Struthers lineman, usually end Jack Stefano or Tony Fire.

THE OFFICIALS called roughing the passer twice, but it was hardly enough. Finally, with the game almost over, Cunnigham took matters into his own hands and threw a punch at Stefano.

This touched off a brief brawl, but three plays later the game ended with tempers still flaring. Glenn Mays, Potter guard, and Stefano were ejected from the game.

Cunningham, Mike Geon, Joe Thompson and the Potter defense shared the honors in East Liverpool's fifth victory in seven games.

The Potter quarterback had a hand in all but two points last night. He threw three touchdown passes, scored the final TD on a 5-yard sweep around end and passed for two extra points.

Coach Lou Venditti's team struck quickly with two first period touchdowns.

The first came on a 22-yard pass which Thompson grabbed with 7:30 still remaining in the opening quarter.

Then Cunningham and Geon clicked for two touchdowns in a row, with Geon making nice catches of both. The first was an 11-yard flip with 2:27 left in the first period. The second came in the third quarter with 2:41 showing on the stadium clock and was good for 12 yards.

Cunningham climaxed the scoring in the fourth period when he shot around the right side for 5 yards and a touchdown. Fullback John Goodballet threw the key block which got the Potter quarterback loose.

A Cunningham-to-Archer pass was good for one conversion and Thompson ran for another.

FRIDAY'S victory ended a successful home stand for the Potters, with the Blue and White winning five of six games. East Liverpool travels to Steubenville next Saturday night to meet the Catholic Central Crusaders.

The Potter defense, weak up the middle on occasions, played Struthers off its feet according to the final statistics.

The Wildcats gained a net of only 96 yards rushing and didn't complete any of six passes. Struthers, hampered by four fumbles, went to the Potter 22 for its farthest penetration of the evening.

East Liverpool, again blending its running and passing game, came out with a total of 335 yards gained — 202 on the ground and 133 in the air. Cunningham completed 6 of 14 passes for 116 yards and Craig O'Neil fired one for 20 yards on the last play of the game.

East Liverpool picked up 11 first downs and Struthers 6.

Venditti moved Joe Smith into the middle guard spot later in last night's game and Smith, along with Skip Hall, stopped most of the Wildcat thrusts up the middle.

Bud Myers came up with a timely recovery of a Struthers fumble in the first period. East Liverpool was in danger after gambling on fourth down on its own 39-yard line. An offside penalty gave Struthers the ball on the Potter 40, but three plays later Myers recovered the fumble on the East Liverpool 34.

It took the Blue and White only two plays to move 66 yards for a touchdown. Cunningham threw to Thompson on a play covering 34 yards. This put the ball on the Struthers 32. The same combination clicked again for the score.

ANOTHER fumble recovered by alert Jim Ferello gave East Liverpool the ball on the Struthers 36.

A first-down pass, Cunningham to Douglas, netted 13 yards and a first down. Goodballet then bolted 13 yards to the 23, but a clipping penalty set the ball back on the Struthers 28.

After another pass failed, the officials called their first roughing the passer penalty, which moved the Potters to the Wildcats 11.

Thompson shot to the five, but a 5-yard penalty for illegal motion put East Liverpool back to the 11. A play later Cunningham flipped to Geon, who was guarded by two defenders but managed a fine catch in the end zone.

Struthers came back and drove to the Potter 22, but the Potter defense tightened and pushed back the Wildcats to the 25-yard line.

Roughing of Cunningham in the third quarter cost Struthers another 15 yards and moved the Potters to the Struthers 14-yard line.

Goodballet picked up two yards and set the stage for a Cunningham-to-Geon pass with 2:41 remaining in the third quarter.

Thompson followed Hall over tackle for the conversion.

Struthers found itself in hot water again late in the third period when two Wildcat backs let the kickoff roll between them and the visitors took over on their own 4-yard line.

Struthers punted out to its own 22 and in six plays East Liverpool was on the Struthers 5. Cunningham took things into his hands and rolled around right end for the touchdown.

The Wildcats of Coach Ed Strauss, a Potter assistant coach four years ago, attempted to go to the air late in the fourth period, but Cunningham intercepted a pass thrown by John McComish and ran the ball back to the Wildcats' 30.

After Goodballet's fumble was recovered by Rick Karis, Struthers punted to the Potter 49-yard line where the brawl was touched off three plays before the game ended.

Record Broken, Driver Injured In Race Practice

FT. ORD, Calif. (AP) — Briton Sterling Moss, hitting top speeds of over 120 miles an hour, broke Laguna Seca's race course record Friday, shortly after a San Jose sports car driver was seriously injured in a practice run.

Moss did not appear to be pushing his 2.5-litre Lotus MK XIX as he averaged 90.5 miles an hour in a qualifying run over the twisting 1.9-mile asphalt course.

His time of 1 minute 17.3 seconds was 2.4 seconds better than the record set last year by Charles Howard of China Camp, Calif., in a Hullaker Special.

Unless some other driver beats Moss Sunday morning, he'll have the pole position for the afternoon 200-mile $20,000 Pacific Grand Prix.

Here's How 8 Of Top 10 Faired On Friday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Here's how eight of the top 10 teams in The Associated Press high school football poll faired in Friday night's games (two did not play):

Massillon, No. 1, defeated Mansfield 16-6.

Alliance, No. 2, downed Springfield South, No. 5, by 24-14.

Lima Senior, No. 3, got by Middletown 34-14.

Sandusky, No. 4, coasted over Lorain 44-0.

Cincinnati Roger Bacon, No. 6, shut out Cincinnati Central 30-0.

Marion Harding, No. 7, flattened Findlay 40-0.

Canton McKinley, No. 10, was beaten by Steubenville 20-16.

Dayton Chaminade, No. 8, goes against Dayton Belmont, and Niles McKinley, No. 9, takes on Akron South in tonight's games.

Ours passed to Brown in the flat to the 24, then faded back on the next play and threw deep to end Mobley who hauled in the aerial over his shoulder and fell out of bounds at the Salem 46 in a 31-yard operation.

TWO PLAYS by Euill moved the ball to the Salem 45, and Ours again passed, this time to Kiggans, who was pulled down at the Salem 28. Ours moved to the 23 on a keeper and then passed incomplete. He fumbled on the next play while running left end and the threat ended at the Salem 17.

The field goal by Sulea came with 8:29 left in the fourth quarter. The line of scrimmage was the Wellsville 7, and Sulea booted from the 15, splitting the uprights with a perfect kick.

Individual rushing statistics show Euill leading the Wellsville runners with 42 yards gained in 11 carries, with Ours netting only 18 in eleven carries. Brown gained 17 in six attempts.

The muscular Janovec averaged 4 yards per carry in spearheading Salem. His runs were short for the most part, with the longest being only 10 yards.

Stanton Local Smothers Winless Newell In 44-0 Decision

Sims' Eleven Records 4th Straight Win

IRONDALE — Stanton Local came up with its top offensive effort of the season to blank rival Newell, 44-0, here Friday night.

The 44 points represent a new high for the season and the victory was the fourth straight for the Ironmen.

Stanton scored in every period as John Pearson crossed the goal line twice while Bob Mills, the nifty quarterback, played another stellar role, passing for two touchdowns and running 28 yards for another.

Curt Rose added a touchdown for Stanton on an 8-yard pass play from Mills while Pearson took a 20-yard aerial for a TD.

Kent Cline fought his way over from 10 yards out for the first Stanton touchdown and Ernie Leedy capped the scoring on an 8-yard run.

The Ironmen came up with a stubborn defense that allowed Newell as far as their 20-yard line in the first quarter but after that the winless Vikings didn't move inside the 40.

Stanton sports a 5-2 record now while Newell hasn't come up with a victory in seven starts.

Coach Fred Sims' team travels to Brilliant next Saturday. Last night's victory followed a 14-6 upset win over Wayne, which marked the big surprise in Jefferson County football.

Rookie, 100-1 Medical Shot To Aid Celts

BOSTON (AP)—A bash rookie and a 100-to-1 shot surgical recovery make the Boston Celtics more awesome than ever opening defense of their National Basketball Association title Saturday night.

The opponent for the Boston Garden test is Detroit.

The rookie who crashed Boston's talent-laded lineup is Tom (Satch) Sanders from New York University.

Jim Loscutoff is the man considered a minor medical miracle. Loscutoff, 6-foot-5 policeman from Oregon, missed virtually all last season due to a painful disc condition in his back. He underwent an operation. Very few athletes ever return to the grind after such an operation. Loscutoff not only has succeeded but says he feels better than he has in three years.

All this means that the Celts are much stronger at the forward positions than a year ago when they swept to the NBA title with a record 59 regular season triumphs. Tommy Heinsohn, Frank Ramsey and sophomore Gene Guarilia round out the corner staff.

Elsewhere the Celts are the same team which has won three NBA crowns in the past four years. Veteran backcourt wizards Bob Cousy and Bill Sharman are spelled by the fabulous Jones boys, K.C. and Sam. At center, 6-foot-10 Bill Russell is relieved by Gene Conley.

Jesse Owens' Daughter Reigns As OSU Queen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Marlene Owens, 21-year-old daughter of Olympic track star Jesse Owens, reigns today as homecoming queen at the Ohio State-Wisconsin football game here.

The Chicago girl, a senior in Ohio State's college of commerce, is majoring in social work. She was among five finalists chosen in campus - wide balloting last Wednesday. The results of the vote were announced Friday night at the annual homecoming dance.

Runners - up to the queen and members of her court are:

Paula Grant, 21, of Cleveland; Jayne Haynes, 19, of Ashtabula; Elaine Rigdon, 19, of West Union, and Linda Radabaugh, 19, of Toledo.

Bobby Layne Expected To Miss Sunday's Game

PITTSBURGH — Quarterback Bobby Layne of the Pittsburgh Steelers is expected to miss Sunday's National Football League game at Washington.

The veteran pro signal caller suffered a stoved right thumb in last week's game with St. Louis. Rudy Bukich is slated to take over the quarterbacking duties for the Steelers.

QUEEN FOR A DAY. Pretty Miss Susan Shaffer wears her crown proudly after she was named queen of the 1960 homecoming celebration Friday night during the East Liverpool-Struthers game. Miss Shaffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur J. Shaffer, 935 St. Clair Ave., was crowned by Pete Mullen, vice-president of the Potters Boosters Club.

Salineville Is Beaten By Wayne's Lyttle & Co.

Wayne High's Jack Lyttle did a lot of scoring as the Wolves of Jefferson County thumped once-victorious Salineville, 36-8, Friday afternoon.

Wayne, unbeaten in 13 games until upset last week by Irondale, sprung Lyttle loose on runs of 64, 10, 4 and 11 yards to pin the sixth defeat of the campaign on Coach Al Girone's Indians.

The Wolves also got a fifth score on a 45-yard pass operation from Charles Waligan to Tom Butler.

Salineville marched 55 yards for a fourth period touchdown scored by quarterback Jack Baker from the Wayne 2-yard line.

Halfback Ron Giannone carried over the conversion.

Baker nearly added another touchdown in the fading moments of the final period after hauling in a pass at the Wayne 1-yard line. He stepped out of bounds after the catch. The game ended on the next play.

Columbus Taking Ohio State, Wisconsin Battle 'In Stride'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's capital, once the craziest football town in America, took Ohio State's homecoming game with Wisconsin in stride today.

Only a few folk were noted downtown Friday night as most of the returning grads did their celebration near the campus, several miles north of Broad and High streets.

A few years ago, on homecoming eve before a big game, the hotels removed all furniture from the lobbies to prevent damage by the snake - dancing Buckeye fans who celebrated far into the wee hours.

Not a chair was missing from a lobby Friday night—and few of them were filled. It was just an ordinary Friday night.

More fireworks were expected on the gridiron as the Bucks and Badgers, each 3-1 overall and 1-1 in the Big Ten race, battled to decide which should drop from title contention.

The Buckeyes, perhaps because Coach Woody Hayes said "We figure to win it," were eight-point favorites. That was an oddity, for the Bucks suffered their lone loss to Purdue, 24-21, a week after Wisconsin had squelched the Boilermakers 24-13.

The big question was whether Ron Miller, Wisconsin's passmaster quarterback, had recovered from an ankle injury sufficiently to throw with his usual precision. If the Lyons, Ill., tosser is right, the Badgers could finish on top, since the Ohio defensive secondary has undergone some changes due to various injuries. Wisconsin hasn't won here since 1918—an 11-game span — but triumphed 12-3 at Madison a year ago as the Badgers won the Big Ten title and the Rose Bowl bid.

The kickoff, before 83,000 fans in perfect weather, was scheduled at 1:30 p.m. (EST).

20 Students Arrested In Wild Sports Parade

MONTREAL (AP)—At least 20 college students were taken into custody Friday night as an estimated 1,500 McGill University students paraded through downtown Montreal in a wild demonstration to welcome visiting University of Toronto football, soccer and rugger teams.

The demonstration started at Central Station when the first contingent of Toronto athletes arrived. It overflowed onto Dorchester Boulevard as cheering students snake danced northward towards McGill, disrupting traffic in the downtown district.

Mays Drops Fly Ball, Japs Edge Giants, 1-0

TOKYO (AP) — The favored San Francisco Giants were shut out 1-0 today by the Yomiuri Giants as the visitors opened their 16-game goodwill tour of Japan.

The Tokyo team scored its run in the seventh inning.

Brown-Robbins Paired In Senior Golf Finals

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — J. Walcott Brown of Sea Girt, N.J., and Tom Robbins of Pinehurst, two veterans of the North and South Senior Golf Tournament, meet on the Pinehurst Country Club course today for the 1960 tourney championship.

Brown, 57, defeated James McAlvin of Lake Forest, Ill., 4 and 3 in a semifinals match Friday. Robbins, 67, won 5 and 4 over Eugene Pittman of Washington, D.C.

Robbins won the tournament here in 1956 and Brown won in 1958.

Griffith And Toweel Clash In 10-Rounder

NEW YORK (AP)—Emile Griffith of the Virgin Islands and Willie Toweel of South Africa meet in a 10-round bout in Madison Square Garden tonight with the winner advancing another notch up the welterweight ladder.

Toweel, who has fought only twice this year, thinks he deserves a shot at the welterweight title, currently held by Benny (Kid) Paret.

The bout will be nationally telecast by ABC-TV starting at 9 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

Poland Struggles To Edge Leetonia

LEETONIA — The defensive - minded Leetonia Bears' almost sprang a major upset in the Tri-County League action here Friday, but Poland left with an 8-6 victory.

The margin of one two-point conversion was the difference as Poland remained tied with East Palestine for the league lead.

Poland drew first blood by scoring its 8 points in the first period. Chuck Worsencromt scooted over from the 10-yard line and then quarterback Bob Ludt ran over for the conversion, which later proved the margin of victory.

Leetonia came storming back in the second period when Joe Gallo cracked over from the 3-yard line, but a pass in an effort to tie the game failed.

Jody Sevenich, Leetonia's outstanding linebacker, and tackle George King turned in all-out defensive efforts. Sevenich is being tabbed for all-state honors on a defensive unit.

The loss was Leetonia's sixth straight.

McPherson, Bowling Click In Lisbon's 32-12 Victory

Quarterback Larry McPherson's long aerial strikes to halfback Rick Bowling highlighted Lisbon's 32-12 triumph over invading Louisville in a Tri-County League encounter Friday night.

McPherson tossed three touchdown passes to Bowling, coming on plays covering 75, 63 and 34 yards.

The victory was the second in seven games for Coach Bud Bucher's Blue Devils who piled up 444 yards to Louisville's 186. Louisville has an identical 2-5 record after the loss.

Louisville's Dick Krabiell ran seven yards in the first quarter and scored another in the fourth against Lisbon reserves but in between the Blue Devils struck rapidly on McPherson's passes.

Paul Fry scooted three yards in the second period as Lisbon deadlocked the score, 6-6, and then moved ahead on Fry's running conversion, 8-6.

Then McPherson took over and put the Blue Devils far ahead with the three long aerials to Bowling. Fry carried over two of the conversions and Rose added a third.

First downs favored Lisbon, 12-7.

Casper Seeks Fourth Straight Golf Victory

OCEANSIDE, Calif. (AP)—Billy Casper of Chula Vista, Calif., the hottest golfer on the fall circuit, tries for his fourth straight win in the $16,000 El Camino PGA pro-amateur tourney opening today.

Casper last weekend added the Orange County Open title to his string, which includes the Portland Open and the Hesperia Open.

The 36-hole El Camino has attracted Tommy Bolt, Marty Furgol, Doug Sanders, Jack Fleck, George Bayer and Paul Harney among others.

Farm Hand Fatally Hurt While Working

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—A 65-year-old farm hand died Friday night after he became entangled in the power shaft of a corn elevator.

The country coroner, Dr. L. L. Kersell, withheld a ruling in the death of Franklin Fickle of nearby Baltimore, Rt. 1, pending an autopsy today. Deputy Sheriff Rick Brown said there was the possibility that Fickle may have suffered a fatal heart attack and fallen into the machine.

Oilers-Titans Battle Heads Card In AFL

By The Associated Press

The Houston Oilers will try to cement their hold on the American Football League's Eastern Division lead Sunday in their game with the hard-pressing Titans in New York.

The contest highlights the three-game AFL schedule which also sends Boston to Denver to play the Western Division leader and has Oakland invading Buffalo. Dallas and Los Angeles are idle.

The game in New York promises to produce an interesting battle between two of the new circuit's most effective throwers, Al Dorow of the Titans and George Blanda of the Oilers.

Blanda got the better of Dorow in a preseason skirmish, won by Houston 30-14, and in a 27-21 regular season meeting.

In league play, Dorow has completed 44 of 93 passes, eight for touchdowns, for the fourth best percentage in the circuit. Blanda in playing one less game than his Titan rival, has hit on 42 of 90 passes, five for touchdowns. Dorow, however, is also among the top runners in the league.

The Titans are rated as slight favorites. Houston has a 4-1 record and New York is 4-2.

Denver, pacing the Western Division with three victories and two defeats, is a touchdown favorite over Boston, which at 2-3 is next-to-last in the Eastern Division race.

Buffalo is favored over Oakland, which has failed to muster a consistent offensive.

PERFECT KICK. The football (see arrow) soars high above the linemen on a successful 25-yard field goal boot by Salem's Rick Sulea Friday night as the Quakers defeated Wellsville, 10-0. The victory was the seventh in a row and 17th in succession over the Tigers. Wellsville lost its first game of the season.

New Cumberland Nips South Side

New Cumberland's John Hennis raced 20 yards into the end zone in the last three minutes of play to give the Blue Raiders a 12-7 victory over South Side Friday at Hookstown.

New Cumberland, leading 6-0 at halftime, gave up its lead when South Side scored a touchdown and added the extra point to grab a 7-6 edge early in the fourth period.

But Hennis saved the day with his gallop which gave Coach John Kuzio's squad its second victory in seven games. South Side suffered its sixth setback in seven starts.

Fullback Ron Haynes, returning to his old form, gave New Cumberland its 6-0 edge when he raced 30 yards in the second period. An attempted placement for the conversion failed.

South Side, not to be denied, came roaring back and sent fullback Dan Parsons over from the 5-yard line. Parsons then put the Rams ahead when he ran over for the extra point.

$3 Million Burglary Now Put At $70,000

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Retired stockbroker Raoul Fernandez, who reported Tuesday that burglars had stolen $3 million in jewelry, stocks and deeds from his West Hollywood apartment, revised his estimate.

The loss, he now says, is between $50,000 and $70,000 and consists of jewelry and deeds. Fernandez, who owned a large bloc of stock in a soft drink concern, said that in the excitement of the burglary he forgot that he had disposed of $2 million in this stock several years ago.

New Voting Machines Arrive For Franklin

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The first of 580 new voting machines for Franklin County have arrived. Election facilities were criticized at a hearing Monday, and a few irate citizens picketed the Capitol building.

County commissioners have purchased the machines at $1,750 each. Election officials said the equipment will be ready for the Nov. 8 election. The new machines bring the county total to 1,845 for 1,189 polling places.

The rookie who crashed Boston's talent-laden lineup is Tom (Satch) Sanders from New York University.

Jim Loscutoff is the man considered a minor medical miracle. Loscutoff, 6-foot-5 policeman from Oregon, missed virtually all last season due to a painful disc condition in his back. He underwent an operation. Very few athletes ever return to the grind after such an operation. Loscutoff not only has succeeded but says he feels better than he has in three years.

All this means that the Celts are much stronger at the forward positions than a year ago when they swept to the NBA title with a record 59 regular season triumphs. Tommy Heinsohn, Frank Ramsey and sophomore Gene Guarilia round out the corner staff.

Elsewhere the Celts are the same team which has won three NBA crowns in the past four years. Veteran backcourt wizards Bob Cousy and Bill Sharman are spelled by the fabulous Jones boys, K.C. and Sam. At center, 6-foot-10 Bill Russell is relieved by Gene Conley.

Jesse Owens' Daughter Reigns As OSU Queen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Marlene Owens, 21-year-old daughter of Olympic track star Jesse Owens, reigns today as homecoming queen at the Ohio State-Wisconsin football game here.

The Chicago girl, a senior in Ohio State's college of commerce, is majoring in social work. She was among five finalists chosen in campus-wide balloting last Wednesday. The results of the vote were announced Friday night at the annual homecoming dance.

Runners-up to the queen and members of her court are:

Bobby Layne Expected To Miss Sunday's Game

PITTSBURGH — Quarterback Bobby Layne of the Pittsburgh Steelers is expected to miss Sunday's National Football League game at Washington.

The veteran pro signal caller suffered a stoved right thumb in last week's game with St. Louis. Rudy Bukich is slated to take over the quarterbacking duties for the Steelers.

QUEEN FOR A DAY. Pretty Miss Susan Shaffer wears her crown proudly after she was named queen of the 1960 homecoming celebration Friday night during the East Liverpool-Struthers game. Miss Shaffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur J. Shaffer, 935 St. Clair Ave., was crowned by Pete Mullen, vice-president of the Potters Boosters Club.

Salineville Is Beaten By Wayne's Lyttle & Co.

Wayne High's Jack Lyttle did a lot of scoring as the Wolves of Jefferson County thumped once-victorious Salineville, 36-8, Friday afternoon.

Wayne, unbeaten in 13 games until upset last week by Irondale, sprung Lyttle loose on runs of 64, 10, 4 and 11 yards to pin the sixth defeat of the campaign on Coach Al Girone's Indians.

The Wolves also got a fifth score on a 45-yard pass operation from Charles Waligan to Tom Butler.

Salineville marched 55 yards for a fourth period touchdown scored by quarterback Jack Baker from the Wayne 2-yard line.

Halfback Ron Giannone carried over the conversion.

Baker nearly added another touchdown in the fading moments of the final period after hauling in a pass at the Wayne 1-yard line. He stepped out of bounds after the catch. The game ended on the next play.

Columbus Taking Ohio State, Wisconsin Battle 'In Stride'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's capital, once the craziest football town in America, took Ohio State's homecoming game with Wisconsin in stride today.

Only a few folk were noted downtown Friday night as most of the returning grads did their celebration near the campus, several miles north of Broad and High streets.

A few years ago, on homecoming eve before a big game, the hotels removed all furniture from the lobbies to prevent damage by the snake-dancing Buckeye fans who celebrated far into the wee hours.

Not a chair was missing from a lobby Friday night—and few of them were filled. It was just an ordinary Friday night.

More fireworks were expected on the gridiron as the Bucks and Badgers, each 3-1 overall and 1-1 in the Big Ten race, battled to decide which should drop from title contention.

The Buckeyes, perhaps because Coach Woody Hayes said "We figure to win it," were eight-point favorites. That was an oddity, for the Bucks suffered their lone loss to Purdue, 24-21, a week after Wisconsin had squelched the Boilermakers 24-13.

The big question was whether Ron Miller, Wisconsin's passmaster quarterback, had recovered from an ankle injury sufficiently to throw with his usual precision. If the Lyons, Ill., tosser is right, the Badgers could finish on top, since the Ohio defensive secondary has undergone some changes due to various injuries.

Wisconsin hasn't won here since 1918—an 11-game span — but triumphed 12-3 at Madison a year ago as the Badgers won the Big Ten title and the Rose Bowl bid.

The kickoff, before 83,000 fans in perfect weather, was scheduled at 1:30 p.m. (EST).

20 Students Arrested In Wild Sports Parade

MONTREAL (AP)—At least 20 college students were taken into custody Friday night as an estimated 1,500 McGill University students paraded through downtown Montreal in a wild demonstration to welcome visiting University of Toronto football, soccer and rugger teams.

The demonstration started at Central Station when the first contingent of Toronto athletes arrived. It overflowed onto Dorchester Boulevard as cheering students snake danced northward towards McGill, disrupting traffic in the downtown district.

Mays Drops Fly Ball, Japs Edge Giants, 1-0

TOKYO (AP) — The favored San Francisco Giants were shut out 1-0 today by the Yomiuri Giants as the visitors opened their 16-game goodwill tour of Japan.

The Tokyo team scored its run in the seventh inning.

Brown-Robbins Paired In Senior Golf Finals

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — J. Walcott Brown of Sea Girt, N.J., and Tom Robbins of Pinehurst, two veterans of the North and South Senior Golf Tournament, meet on the Pinehurst Country Club course today for the 1960 tourney championship.

Brown, 57, defeated James McAlvin of Lake Forest, Ill., 4 and 3 in a semifinals match Friday. Robbins, 67, won 5 and 4 over Eugene Pittman of Washington, D.C.

Robbins won the tournament here in 1956 and Brown won in 1959.

Griffith And Toweel Clash In 10-Rounder

NEW YORK (AP)—Emile Griffith of the Virgin Islands and Willie Toweel of South Africa meet in a 10-round bout in Madison Square Garden tonight with the winner advancing another notch up the welterweight ladder.

Toweel, who has fought only twice this year, thinks he deserves a shot at the welterweight title, currently held by Benny (Kid) Paret.

The bout will be nationally telecast by ABC-TV starting at 9 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

Poland Struggles To Edge Leetonia

LEETONIA — The defensive-minded Leetonia Bears almost sprang a major upset in the Tri-County League action here Friday, but Poland left with an 8-6 victory.

The margin of one two-point conversion was the difference as Poland remained tied with East Palestine for the league lead.

Poland drew first blood by scoring its 8 points in the first period. Chuck Worsencroft scooted over from the 10-yard line and then quarterback Bob Ludt ran over for the conversion, which later proved the margin of victory.

Leetonia came storming back in the second period when Joe Gallo cracked over from the 3-yard line, but a pass in an effort to tie the game failed.

Jody Sevenich, Leetonia's outstanding linebacker, and tackle George King turned in all-out defensive efforts. Sevenich is being tabbed for all-state honors on a defensive unit.

The loss was Leetonia's sixth straight.

McPherson, Bowling Click In Lisbon's 32-12 Victory

Quarterback Larry McPherson's long aerial strikes to halfback Rick Bowling highlighted Lisbon's 32-12 triumph over invading Louisville in a Tri-County League encounter Friday night.

McPherson tossed three touchdown passes to Bowling, coming on plays covering 75, 63 and 34 yards.

The victory was the second in seven games for Coach Bud Bucher's Blue Devils who piled up 444 yards to Louisville's 186. Louisville has an identical 2-5 record after the loss.

Louisville's Dick Krabiell ran seven yards in the first quarter and scored another in the fourth against Lisbon reserves but in between the Blue Devils struck rapidly on McPherson's passes.

Paul Fry scooted three yards in the second period as Lisbon deadlocked the score, 6-6, and then moved ahead on Fry's running conversion, 8-6.

Then McPherson took over and put the Blue Devils far ahead with the three long aerials to Bowling. Fry carried over two of the conversions and Rose added a third.

First downs favored Lisbon, 12-7.

Casper Seeks Fourth Straight Golf Victory

OCEANSIDE, Calif. (AP)—Billy Casper of Chula Vista, Calif., the hottest golfer on the fall circuit, tries for his fourth straight win in the $16,000 El Camino PGA pro-amateur tourney opening today.

Casper last weekend added the Orange County Open title to his string, which includes the Portland Open and the Hesperia Open.

The 36-hole El Camino has attracted Tommy Bolt, Marty Furgol, Doug Sanders, Jack Fleck, George Bayer and Paul Harney among others.

Farm Hand Fatally Hurt While Working

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—A 65-year-old farm hand died Friday night after he became entangled in the power shaft of a corn elevator.

The county coroner, Dr. L. L. Kersell, withheld a ruling in the death of Franklin Fickle of nearby Baltimore, Rt. 1, pending an autopsy today. Deputy Sheriff Rick Brown said there was the possibility that Fickle may have suffered a fatal heart attack and fallen into the machine.

Oilers-Titans Battle Heads Card In AFL

By The Associated Press

The Houston Oilers will try to cement their hold on the American Football League's Eastern Division lead Sunday in their game with the hard-pressing Titans in New York.

The contest highlights the three-game AFL schedule which also sends Boston to Denver to play the Western Division leader and has Oakland invading Buffalo. Dallas and Los Angeles are idle.

The game in New York promises to produce an interesting battle between two of the new circuit's most effective throwers, Al Dorow of the Titans and George Blanda of the Oilers.

Blanda got the better of Dorow in a preseason skirmish, won by Houston 30-14, and in a 27-21 regular season meeting.

In league play, Dorow has completed 44 of 95 passes, eight for touchdowns, for the fourth best percentage in the circuit. Blanda in playing one less game than his Titan rival, has hit on 42 of 90 passes, five for touchdowns. Dorow, however, is also among the top runners in the league.

The Titans are rated as slight favorites. Houston has a 4-1 record and New York is 4-2.

Denver, pacing the Western Division with three victories and two defeats, is a touchdown favorite over Boston, which at 2-3 is next-to-last in the Eastern Division race.

Buffalo is favored over Oakland, which has failed to muster a consistent offensive.

English Horse Is 6th Entry In International

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—Apostle, a 3-year-old English horse, is the sixth entry in the ninth running of the Washington, D.C., International at Laurel on Nov. 11.

In another change in the entry list for the $100,000 race, Chamour of Ireland was scratched Friday because of a leg injury.

'Early' Hunter Fined

LISBON — Kenneth Williams, 26, of Rayland received a suspended $15 fine Friday at a hearing before County Judge James L. MacDonald on a charge of hunting ducks before noon Oct. 20. He was cited by Rufus L. Lide, state game protector.

New Cumberland Nips South Side

New Cumberland's John Hennis raced 20 yards into the end zone in the last three minutes of play to give the Blue Raiders a 12-7 victory over South Side Friday at Hookstown.

New Cumberland, leading 6-0 at halftime, gave up its lead when South Side scored a touchdown and added the extra point to grab a 7-6 edge early in the fourth period.

But Hennis saved the day with his gallop which gave Coach John Kuzio's squad its second victory in seven games. South Side suffered its sixth setback in seven starts.

Fullback Ron Haynes, returning to his old form, gave New Cumberland its 6-0 edge when he raced 20 yards in the second period. An attempted placement for the conversion failed.

South Side, not to be denied, came roaring back and sent fullback Dan Parsons over from the 5-yard line. Parsons then put the Rams ahead when he ran over for the extra point.

$3 Million Burglary Now Put At $70,000

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Retired stockbroker Raoul Fernandez, who reported Tuesday that burglars had stolen $3 million in jewelry, stocks and deeds from his West Hollywood apartment, revised his estimate.

The loss, he now says, is between $50,000 and $70,000 and consists of jewelry and deeds. Fernandez, who owned a large bloc of stock in a soft drink concern, said that in the excitement of the burglary he forgot that he had disposed of $2 million in this stock several years ago.

New Voting Machines Arrive For Franklin

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The first of 500 new voting machines for Franklin County have arrived. Election facilities were criticized at a hearing Monday, and a few irate citizens picketed the Capitol building.

County commissioners have purchased the machines at $1,750 each. Election officials said the equipment will be ready for the Nov. 8 election. The new machines bring the county total to 1,845 for 1,180 polling places.

Fast Hopewell Backs Spell Out 32-13 Defeat For Midland

Chuldenko Scores For Leopards

Lightening fast backs swept across the gridiron Friday night as Hopewell took home a 32-13 decision over the Leopards in a homecoming game at Midland.

Hopewell piled up a 32-0 lead before Midland punched across a pair of touchdowns in the fourth quarter.

John Chuldenko accounted for both of Midland's TD's coming on runs of 4 yards. The first Midland drive was for 45 yards and the second for 30.

Bob Conti and Chuck Lundy paced Hopewell's atack by scoring two touchdowns each. Lundy tallied on runs of 5 and 20 yards while his teammate turned in a 42-yard sprint and one for 7.

Bob Fuller, a guard, picked up a fumble and ran 5 yards for the other Hopewell tally in the third quarter.

Hopewell's scoring came fast. The first touchdown by Lundy was turned in with the game only 3 minutes old. Four minutes later Conti was going over.

During halftime ceremonies; Miss Beth Ann Newtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Newtz, 447 Ohio Ave., was crowned the 1960 homecoming queen.

The loss gave Midland a 1-4-1 record.

Dewey Attacks Kennedy, Says He Backs Nixon

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey struck at Sen. John F. Kennedy Friday night in Oregon, a state Dewey carried in his 1948 bid for the presidency.

The former New York governor and two-time presidential nominee of the Republicans said he was for Vice President Richard M. Nixon because he felt Nixon had learned the lessons of history.

He praised the position of Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, on the defense of Quemoy and Matsu which Nixon said he would defend if they were attacked as a prelude to attacking Formosa.

Dewey said Kennedy's position had been rejected by the U.S. Senate, by the President and by history.

"So Sen. Kennedy says we should give up Quemoy and Matsu because they are only four miles off the shore of China," Dewey said. "He says the islands are indefensible.

"What about Berlin?" asked Dewey. "Berlin is not four miles from the Communist world. It is just across the street and entirely surrounded."

4 Negroes Given Death Sentences For Girl Attack

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Four Negroes heard the sentence of death by electrocution passed upon them Friday night, after a jury of 12 white men convicted them of raping a young white girl.

Robert Parks, 23; J. C. Kelley, 17; Wilson Williams, 17; and James Cunningham, 22, stood quietly as the sentences were read. Parks suddenly began weeping and pulled out a handkerchief to wipe his eyes.

Punishment, as provided by Tennessee law, was fixed by the jury, with Criminal Court Judge Campbell Carden passing sentence. The judge said he would set a date for the electrocution later.

Defense attorneys were given 30 days in which to file motion for a new trial. Negro attorney Adolpho Birch, defending all but Cunningham, indicated to reporters that such a motion would be filed.

The four Negroes were convicted of raping the 17-year-old girl Aug. 4 as she and a boy friend were parked in a lovers' lane. The girl, from Twenty-Nine Palms, Calif., was here visiting relatives at the time.

Dayton Area Man Gets 15 Years For Robbery

CLEVELAND (AP)—After commenting that Harry E. Highfill, 32, of near Dayton, had "hit high" in his $53,556 robberty of a Canton National Bank branch two months ago, Judge Girard E. Kalbfleisch sentenced him to 15 years in a federal prison Friday.

Highfill was arrested Sept. 9, two days after he robbed the bank, by FBI agents in a Dayton hotel. He had $47,000 of the loot with him. It was his first criminal venture.

Iowa, Mississippi Facing Stern Tests In Top Games

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The second half of the college football season gets under way today with Iowa and Mississippi, the two top clubs in the nation, facing stern tests.

Iowa, which has won only one of its four games by a decisive margin, tackles Purdue in a Big Ten game, while Mississippi, pushed out of the No. 1 spot in the Associated Press poll this week by the Hawkeyes, goes against Arkansas in a night game.

Iowa has beaten Oregon State, Michigan State and Wisconsin by a total of 29 points. The Hawkeyes did clobber Northwestern 42-0 in their sole show of offensive power.

Purdue is no setup. The Boilermakers are rated No. 10 in the country and a victory over Iowa would enhance their chances of winning the Big Ten title.

Like Iowa, Mississippi has had some uncomfortable moments, just as virtually every other major unbeaten in the nation. Arkansas (4-1) edged Texas last week and probably is Mississippi's toughest test yet. But fullback Jo Paul Alberty is out with injuries and that will hurt.

The Rebs, with Jake Gibbs spearheading their drive, have sailed through five opponents. But they had trouble with Memphis State and against punchless Tulane last week, finished operations with a 26-13 verdict.

Syracuse, relegated to the No. 3 spot because of unimpressive victories in its first four games, has a date with winless West Virginia. The Orange, national champions last year, will have to run up a big score to regain some of its prestige.

Navy, which is making threats to move in as top team in the East should Syracuse falter, is rated at No. 4 in the country. The Middies tangle with Penn of the Ivy League and should have no great problem.

Defense-minded Missouri, No. 5, hoping to displace Oklahoma as Big Eight champion for the first time in a dozen years, has a league game scheduled with Iowa State.

Minnesota, No. 6, the surprise power of the Big Ten, plays Michigan in the 61st annual Little Brown Jug game. The Gophers, who were beaten by just about everyone in the league last year, will have no cinch.

Another important Big Ten game pits Ohio State, No. 9, against Wisconsin, which lost in the final minute to Iowa last week, while Baylor, No. 7, current favorite to win the Southwest Conference title, engages Texas A&M.

Washington, No. 8, top dog on the West Coast, might not have things all its own way against Oregon State (4-1), what with All-America quarterback Bob Schloredt out with a broken collar bone.

Notre Dame and Northwestern meet in the television game of the week — 1:15 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, (ABC-TV).

Browns 10-Point Pick, Steelers Favored By 3½

By The Associated Press

The Cleveland Browns, bidding for their once familiar role as kingpins of the National Football League, are 10-point favorites to beat the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday and strengthen their hold on first place in the NFL's Eastern Division.

The Browns' chief rivals for the spot, the New York Giants, are idle in a six-game program which is not expected to do much shaking up of the standings.

The Baltimore Colts and Chicago Bears, tied for the Western Division lead with 3-1 records, are heavily favored to win their fourth game of the campaign.

The Colts, behind quarterback Johnny Unitas, are a 14-point choice over the Detroit Lions, who have shown a conspicuous absence of scoring punch. The Bears are figured to be a touchdown better than the Los Angeles Rams.

The Green Bay Packers are favored by nine points over the San Francisco 49ers at Milwaukee; the St. Louis Cardinals are 10 over the Dallas Cowboys; and the Pittsburgh Steelers are 3½ over the Redskins at Washington.

Supplementing the NFL program are three games in the new American League. Houston defends its Eastern division lead against the Titans at New York. Boston plays at Denver and Oakland at Buffalo.

Fast Hopewell Backs Spell Out 32-13 Defeat For Midland

Chuldenko Scores For Leopards

Lightening fast backs swept across the gridiron Friday night as Hopewell took home a 32-13 decision over the Leopards in a homecoming game at Midland.

Hopewell piled up a 32-0 lead before Midland punched across a pair of touchdowns in the fourth quarter.

John Chuldenko accounted for both of Midland's TD's coming on runs of 4 yards. The first Midland drive was for 45 yards and the second for 30.

Bob Conti and Chuck Lundy paced Hopewell's atack by scoring two touchdowns each. Lundy tallied on runs of 5 and 20 yards while his teammate turned in a 42-yard sprint and one for 7.

Bob Fuller, a guard, picked up a fumble and ran 5 yards for the other Hopewell tally in the third quarter.

Hopewell's scoring came fast. The first touchdown by Lundy was turned in with the game only 3 minutes old. Four minutes later Conti was going over.

During halftime ceremonies; Miss Beth Ann Newtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Newtz, 447 Ohio Ave., was crowned the 1960 homecoming queen.

The loss gave Midland a 1-4-1 record.

Dewey Attacks Kennedy, Says He Backs Nixon

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey struck at Sen. John F. Kennedy Friday night in Oregon, a state Dewey carried in his 1948 bid for the presidency.

The former New York governor and two-time presidential nominee of the Republicans said he was for Vice President Richard M. Nixon because he felt Nixon had learned the lessons of history.

He praised the position of Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, on the defense of Quemoy and Matsu which Nixon said he would defend if they were attacked as a prelude to attacking Formosa.

Dewey said Kennedy's position had been rejected by the U.S. Senate, by the President and by history.

"So Sen. Kennedy says we should give up Quemoy and Matsu because they are only four miles off the shore of China," Dewey said. "He says the islands are indefensible.

"What about Berlin?" asked Dewey. "Berlin is not four miles from the Communist world. It is just across the street and entirely surrounded."

4 Negroes Given Death Sentences For Girl Attack

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Four Negroes heard the sentence of death by electrocution passed upon them Friday night, after a jury of 12 white men convicted them of raping a young white girl.

Robert Parks, 23; J. C. Kelley, 17; Wilson Williams, 17; and James Cunningham, 22, stood quietly as the sentences were read. Parks suddenly began weeping and pulled out a handkerchief to wipe his eyes.

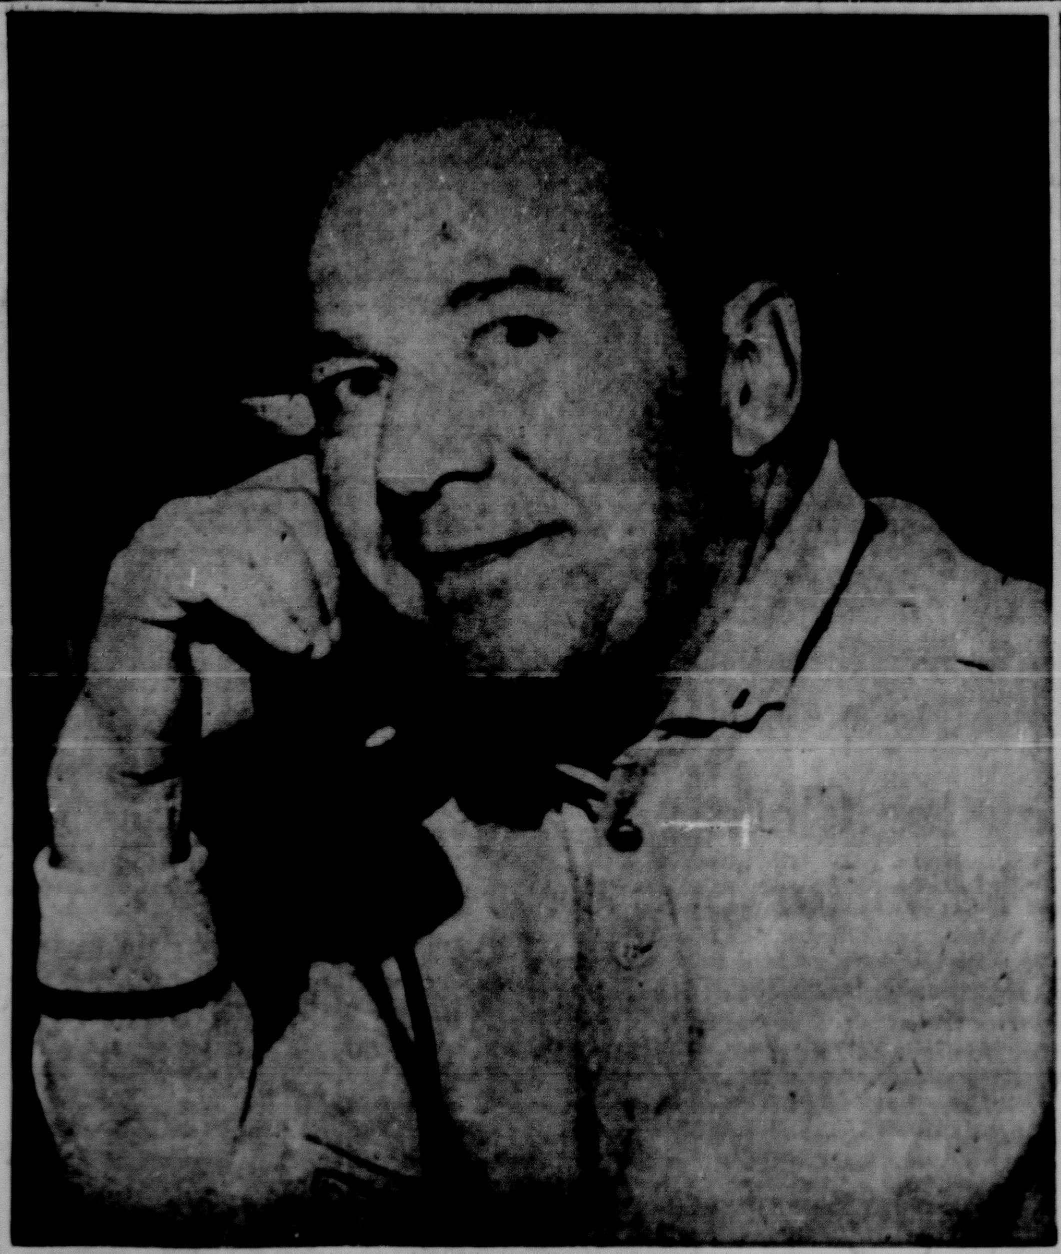
Punishment, as provided by Tennessee law, was fixed by the jury, with Criminal Court Judge Campbell Carden passing sentence. The judge said he would set a date for the electrocution later.

Defense attorneys were given 30 days in which to file motion for a new trial. Negro attorney Adolphe Birch, defending all but Cunningham, indicated to reporters that such a motion would be filed.

The four Negroes were convicted of raping the 17-year-old girl Aug. 4 as she and a boy friend were parked in a levers' lane. The girl, from Twenty-Nine Palms, Calif., was here visiting relatives at the time.

Reds Fire On Quemoy

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Communists fired 33 shells at the Quemoy Islands Friday night in the first action against the complex in four days, the Chinese Nationalist Defense Ministry reported today.



ED LOPAT, one-time star Yankee southpaw, chats on the phone at his home in Hillsdale, N. J. after being released as pitching coach of the Yankees Friday in new manager Ralph Houk's first move to re-organizing the coaching staff. Dayton Area Man Gets 15 Years For Robbery

CLEVELAND (AP)—After commenting that Harry E. Highfill, 22, of near Dayton, had "hit high" in his $52,526 robberty of a Canton National Bank branch two months ago, Judge Girard E. Kalbfleisch sentenced him to 15 years in a federal prison Friday.

Highfill was arrested Sept. 9, two days after he robbed the bank, by FBI agents in a Dayton hotel. He had $47,000 of the loot with him. It was his first criminal venture.

Iowa, Mississippi Facing Stern Tests In Top Games

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The second half of the college football season gets under way today with Iowa and Mississippi, the two top clubs in the nation, facing stern tests.

Iowa, which has won only one of its four games by a decisive margin, tackles Purdue in a Big Ten game, while Mississippi, pushed out of the No. 1 spot in the Associated Press poll this week by the Hawkeyes, goes against Arkansas in a night game.

Iowa has beaten Oregon State, Michigan State and Wisconsin by a total of 29 points. The Hawkeyes did clobber Northwestern 42-0 in their sole show of offensive power.

Purdue is no setup. The Boilermakers are rated No. 10 in the country and a victory over Iowa would enhance their chances of winning the Big Ten title.

Like Iowa, Mississippi has had some uncomfortable moments, just as virtually every other major unbeaten in the nation. Arkansas (4-1) edged Texas last week and probably is Mississippi's toughest test yet. But fullback Jo Paul Alberty is out with injuries and that will hurt.

The Rebs, with Jake Gibbs spearheading their drive, have sailed through five opponents. But they had trouble with Memphis State and against punchless Tulane last week, finished operations with a 26-13 verdict.

Syracuse, relegated to the No. 3 spot because of unimpressive victories in its first four games, has a date with winless West Virginia. The Orange, national champions last year, will have to run up a big score to regain some of its prestige.

Navy, which is making threats to move in as top team in the East should Syracuse falter, is rated at No. 4 in the country. The Middies tangle with Penn of the Ivy League and should have no great problem.

Defense-minded Missouri, No. 5, hoping to displace Oklahoma as Big Eight champion for the first time in a dozen years, has a league game scheduled with Iowa State.

Minnesota, No. 6, the surprise power of the Big Ten, plays Michigan in the 61st annual Little Brown Jug game. The Gophers, who were beaten by just about everyone in the league last year, will have no cinch.

Another important Big Ten game pits Ohio State, No. 9, against Wisconsin, which lost in the final minute to Iowa last week, while Baylor, No. 7, current favorite to win the Southwest Conference title, engages Texas A&M.

Washington, No. 8, top dog on the West Coast, might not have things all its own way against Oregon State (4-1), what with All-America quarterback Bob Schloredt out with a broken collar bone.

Notre Dame and Northwestern meet in the television game of the week — 1:15 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, (ABC-TV).

Browns 10-Point Pick, Steelers Favored By 3½

By The Associated Press

The Cleveland Browns, bidding for their once familiar role as kingpins of the National Football League, are 10-point favorites to beat the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday and strengthen their hold on first place in the NFL's Eastern Division.

The Browns' chief rivals for the spot, the New York Giants, are idle in a six-game program which is not expected to do much shaking up of the standings.

The Baltimore Colts and Chicago Bears, tied for the Western Division lead with 3-1 records, are heavily favored to win their fourth game of the campaign.

The Colts, behind quarterback Johnny Unitas, are a 14-point choice over the Detroit Lions, who have shown a conspicuous absence of scoring punch. The Bears are figured to be a touchdown better than the Los Angeles Rams.

The Green Bay Packers are favored by nine points over the San Francisco 49ers at Milwaukee; the St. Louis Cardinals are 10 over the Dallas Cowboys; and the Pittsburgh Steelers are 3½ over the Redskins at Washington.

Supplementing the NFL program are three games in the new American League. Houston defends its Eastern division lead against the Titans at New York. Boston plays at Denver and Oakland at Buffalo.

Glaremanship, Timemanship

Nixon And Kennedy Work Hard On 2 New Elements

By ARTHUR EDSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy tossed in a couple of new elements in what was probably their last debate.

They both worked hard on glaremanship and timemanship.

Glaremanship: that's the art of staring fixedly at your opponent while he's talking, in the hope this may disconcert him.

In the other debates, neither paid much heed to the other. This time they gave each other the steady glare, with no noticeable results.

But timemanship — that's the art of talking on after the time limit is clearly up—worked much better.

Nixon has shown remarkable ability to use every second of his time, and a little more so. This apparently is the same theory as playing possession ball in basketball or football. As long as you hang on to the ball, the other fellow can't score.

Well, they both used it Friday night. The word "cut" would be flashed above the cameras, which is television jargon for, "That's all, brother." Often each would finish his sentence, and it would turn out to be a very long sentence.

And at least once Kennedy exceeded his time enough that it nettled Nixon.

As Kennedy raced along with the "cut" sign showing, saying, "and I challenge you tonight..." Nixon made a "T" sign with his fingers to indicate the time was up. Unperturbed, Kennedy hurried on to the finish.

This reporter was in the studio for their joint television meetings in Chicago, Washington and here in New York Friday night, and was with Nixon in Los Angeles while the two debated a continent apart.

It was obvious Friday night that both were far more relaxed than they were in previous meetings. Each smiled occasionally, and Kennedy once broke into a broad grin.

Neither showed the tenseness nor the rigidity that has marked their previous meetings. There probably are a couple of reasons for that. Both now have become old TV debate hands, used to the mechanics of the show. And both have become thoroughly at home with their material.

What with the scheduling difficulties, and the disagreements over length and format, this probably was the last of the television debates for this campaign.

It has been an interesting experience to watch, especially from close up.

And undoubtedly this newest phenomenon in politicking will be much discussed and disputed before another presidential campaign rolls around.

Is this the best way to get the issues before the country?

And isn't there a danger that a future president might be picked merely because he is a fine TV personality?

This year both candidates are glib and self-assured, veterans of answering questions in hundreds of news conferences.

But what about the candidate who hasn't had this training, and who still might make a good president?

And so you sit there watching the two of them, and you think of George Washington.

Poor George. He was a lousy speech-maker, and so he never could have passed today's TV test. Yet he has set precedents that have stood up so nicely the next president will still be following them.

And then you think of Lincoln. Poor Abe. It's hard to imagine him in pancake makeup with lighting experts trying to get that mournful shadow out of his eyes.

It probably is just as well television was so long getting invented.

Cancer Society's Fund Hits $16,100

A total of $16,100 has been collected in the 1960 countywide fund drive of the Columbiana County unit of the American Cancer Society, according to Galen Greenisen of Salem, drive chairman. Greenisen also has been named chairman of the 1961 drive.

He said "this falls short of the goal of $24,400 for the county and undoubtedly medical aid to cancer victims will have to be curtailed this year unless additional funds are received."

A portion of this year's funds will be used for educational purposes and preventive study. The Cancer Prevention Study Survey, started in the fall of 1959, is being operated for the second year.

Columbiana County researchers now are checking their families enrolled in the six-year study.

Slightly over 2 per cent of all Americans between 45 and 59 and nearly 2 per cent of those between 45 and 74 have been enrolled in the test, he said.

A formal name for the organization will be authorized. Robert Cole is temporary chairman for the group, whose membership extends throughout the Southern School District.

3-Day Auto Show Slated

be a wide space in the center for the convenience of visitors.

A 12-foot right-of-way will be kept open in the center of the street for those at the show. In addition, it will be available for use of emergency vehicles, if necessary.

Meanwhile, westbound traffic on Route 39, which normally follows E. 5th St., will be re-routed via Broadway, E. and W. 4th Sts. and Jefferson St.

Most plans for the exhibit were whipped into shape Friday at a meeting of the ELMA committee and auto dealers at the Chamber of Commerce office. The ELMA committee is comprised of Charles Averill, chairman, Richard Kerin, Jack Steinberg, James Locke, George A. Shaw, Carl Metz and Don Eckert.

The two-block area will take on a festival appearance for the combination auto show and retailers' promotion.

The Ohio Power Co. has agreed to install higher - powered bulbs in the street lights along the stretch so that the area will receive twice the normal illumination. It also has given authority for stringing of supporting wires between its poles for display of banners, placards and other decorations used by merchants and auto dealers.

In addition, many of the auto dealers and merchants expect to use spotlights and other extra illumination to highlight their exhibits.

THE ELMA committee said it is working on establishment of temporary parking lots to help accommodate the influx of visitors expected at the show and also to compensate for the fact closing of the street will take 42 metered parking spaces out of service.

Stores will encourage their employes not to drive downtown during the three days. They will be asked instead to form car pools or use public transportation. Bus company operators will be approached to determine if they will furnish additional service during the three days, including extra runs through the day and extension of operations later into the evening.

The 42 affected parking meters normally would produce approximately $155 in revenue over a three-day period. The merchants group has made arrangements to reimburse the city for half of the revenue it will lose.

Provisions are being made for police protection of the new autos, which will be left in place from the opening of the show until its closing three days later.

THE SHOW will operate throughout the schedule of store hours, but the heaviest crowds are expected in the afternoons and evenings. E. 5th will be closed beginning at midnight Wednesday, Nov. 2, to permit the displays to be arranged.

Downtown merchants will participate on an individual basis. In addition to featuring fall and winter merchandise and emphasizing attractive displays and decorations tied in with the auto show, many are planning special features and promotions. However, merchants will have no sidewalk displays. The "Auto Mall" area will be reserved exclusively for the new cars.

THE ELMA committee termed the mall display "unique" and pointed out that few cities in the U. S. have made a street in the heart of the business area available for introduction of new cars.

The committee explained the mall arrangement is particularly attractive from the standpoint of the visitors, as they will be able to browse through the show at leisure without thought to possible traffic dangers.

In previous years, introduction of new car models was strung out from Sept. 1 nearly to Jan. 1, a period of four months. But this year, the U. S. manufacturers will bring out their new models between Sept. 1 and Oct. 31, which makes it possible to stage a general "introduction" of the lines while public interest is at is peak.

Planning for "Auto Mall" dates back to July, when the special ELMA committee held its first meeting. The committee said it plans other special promotions to emphasize the downtown shopping area's importance as the hub of all civic and commercial life.

In its plan to set aside the E. 5th St. display area and re-route Route 39 temporarily, the committee received approval from the administration, Council and the police, fire and street departments.

Governor Candidate Tours Hancock Towns

Harold E. Neely, Republican candidate for governor of West Virginia, took his campaign to the streets of Hancock County communities Friday.

Neely, accompanied by James Ravoira of Weirton, county GOP chairman, chatted with residents while strolling through Chester, Newell, New Cumberland and Weirton.

Ravoira said Neely may appear at a Republican rally Nov. 1 in the Polish Hall in Weirton.

Jaycees Open Show Plans

Preliminary plans have been started for the annual Home Show sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The show will be held this year at the former American Paper Products building. City and area merchants are invited to display their products.

A survey will be made of the merchants to determine what spring dates they prefer.

Further plans will be outlined at a committee meeting Monday night at 7:30 at the home of Richard Hunsicker of Wedgewood Ave., East End.

The committee inspected the former Paper Products Co. building Thursday night. A representative of a Canton firm was present to submit a bid for erecting booth partitions and providing backdrop materials.

Delmar Manning is chairman. Those attending the meeting were Manning, Hunsicker, B. J. Mangano, Paul Zehnder, Jack Hales, first vice president, and James Allison, president.

The Jaycee social committee also met Thursday night and made plans for a bowling party Dec. 2 at the Headpin. The committee includes Paul Carter, chairman, Don Triller, Frank Potts and R. Marks Forssell.

SALINEVILLE — The Ruritan Club will hold its annual Halloween costume parade Oct. 29 with cash prizes to be awarded winning masqueraders.

Homer Smith and Carl Gamble are co - chairmen. Parade marshal will be Atty. Warren Bettis.

The masqueraders will assemble at the Washington Township House at 6:45 (DST) and the parade will begin at 7. It will proceed to the Light House Skating Rink for judging of costumes. Cider and doughnuts will be served.

Judges will be Kenneth Leishman, Kathryn Mundy and S. R. Davis. Prizes will be awarded in a variety of categories, including best adult bride and bridegroom, best child bride and bridegroom, best adult comedy couple, child comedy couple, most grotesque, funniest, most novel, best homemade mask, best "Uncle Sam," best clown, best witch and best ghost.

A record hop will follow. Merchants and civic groups have been invited to enter floats.

Women's Quartet Makes Top 10 In Detroit Contest

The Heathertones of the local chapter of the Sweet Adelines participated in the first round of the International Sweet Adelines Quartet competition in Detroit Friday night.

Of the 45 groups competing, the local quartet was rated in the top ten last night. They also made a recording. The final competition will be held tonight.

The categories in which the groups are judged on include balance and blend, voice expressions, harmony and accuracy and stage presence.

The quartet includes Mrs. Lorida Harvey, tenor; Miss Norma Jones, baritone; Mrs. Betty Pettibon, lead, and Mrs. Betty Damaska, bass. Glenn A. Woods is director of the local chapter.

Sixteen members of the chapter, including Mrs. Ruth Rhinehart, president, are attending the event.

2 From Wellsville Injured At Salem

Two Wellsville residents and another from Lisbon were injured Friday night in a three-car collision in Salem after the Wellsville-Salem game.

Treated at Salem Central Clinic were:

Janice Apple, 16 of Lisbon; lacerations of the scalp and forehead.

Estelle Long, 45, of Wellsville; sprained back and sprained left arm.

Mary Elliott, 19, Wellsville; shaken up.

Police said the accident occurred at 10:20 when a car driven by Daryl Donahey, 18, Lisbon, crashed into the rear of a halted vehicle operated by William W. Menough, 49, Wellsville. The Menough car then hit the rear of a vehicle operated by Ralph E. Welch, 44, Wellsville. Welch was also halted for a stop sign at the intersection.

Donahey was cited for reckless operation.

3 Chester Area Boys Hurt In Upset Of Auto

A "blowout" on a cruve, causing their car to overturn, sent three Chester area boys to City Hospital at 1:30 a. m. today with minor injuries.

The accident occurred on Route 30 beyond the West Virginia State line in Pennsylvania. All three were passengers in James Cosgrove's auto, it was reported.

Treated were John Temple, 16, of Laurel Heights, Chester, bruises and cuts of thighs; James Eberhart, 17, of Chester R.D. 1, cut of right knee, and Richard Reber, 16, of 208 3rd St., Chester bruises and cuts of right leg.

The Carnegie barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police had no report of the accident.

U.N. Parade Will Be Held Monday Night

The parade marking the city's observance of the 15th anniversary of the United Nations will begin Monday night at 7:30, according to M. J. Sweeney, chairman.

Sweeney said area churches will observe United Nations Day during morning services Sunday.

He said the parade will form at 5th St. and Broadway and go out 5th to Jackson St., turn onto 6th St. and then to Broadway.

Harold E. Taylor of American Legion Post 4 will be parade marshal. Sweeney said commanders of various veterans' posts will serve as his aides.

The parade will be led by a police escort. The massed colors of various veterans units will participate.

Participants will include American Legion Posts 4 and 374 of the city, 121 of Chester and 163 of Lawrenceville, Disabled American Veterans Post 47, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 66, the Marine Corps League Detachment and Military Order of Cooties.

Also marching will be the East Liverpool High School Band, Beaver Local High School Band, the Grant District Burial Squad, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Navy Mothers, Gold Star Mothers, Job's Daughters, Shriners Band, the East Liverpool Democrat Club, the Republican Men's Club, Civil Defense and fire trucks.

Sweeney said a U.N. Day race will be featured at Waterford Park Monday afternoon.

Following the parade, a record hop will be held at the former Trotter Hardware building on Dresden Ave. Free refreshments will be provided teenagers.

but requiring identification for visitors from other posts or for those otherwise unknown.

The doorman is said to have delayed entry for the raiders by pushing several times on the door buzzer, apparently as a warning to the steward, the mayor said. They were finally let in, however.

Sale of liquor by the drink is illegal in West Virginia but the practice generally is ignored, in the county areas at least, as long as the bars and clubs buy their whisky from the state stores.

Slot machines were reported to have returned Thursday to Hancock County establishments, including those in Chester, but the mayor said "I didn't see any" in the Legion home.

He said that as Kiszczak was refusing to let the raiders enter he kept pushing the door button. "I believe he was sounding a warning bell," the mayor said.

Mayor Collins, Republican, who succeeded Burton T. Ward, a Democrat, has been the leader of a reform movement ever since he took office and was officially commended by the West Virginia Crime Commission.

The commendation for "conscientious efforts in enforcing city and state laws in Chester" was accompanied by a promise of co-operation by the state group with the mayor and Chester residents in law enforcement.

Both Collins and Ward were called to testify at the commission's extensive hearings in Wheeling in September when a picture of widespread liquor and gambling violations in Hancock County was painted by a parade of witnesses.

Carl Graham is co-chairman with Chaney in the committee, which was organized after the commission's hearings disclosed the widespread violations in Hancock and other Northern Panhandle counties.

Because of lack of co-operation on the part of Weirton residents, the committee said recently it will concentrate its cleanup efforts on the upper part of Hancock for the time being.

Debates

debate, and would answer it. Herbert G. Klein, the vice president's press secretary, said there would be further discussion of scheduling problems and program structure. He refused to go beyond saying another contest was "in the realm of possibility."

Neither contestant personally claimed victory in No. 4. Each said it wasn't his practice to do so.

But Robert Kennedy, the senator's brother and campaign manager, said he felt the Democratic candidate's performance was his best so far and the candidate himself was very pleased.

Klein termed it "a clear-cut victory for the vice president."

Foreign policy was the subject of the debate, and the antagonists stuck to the theme.

They stood behind podiums angled toward each other and close enough for them to shake hands, if they'd chosen. Each appeared more relaxed than in any of their previous encounters.

Nixon wore makeup, and there were no complaints about his appearance as there were after the first debate. Kennedy wore none.

They rapped each other crisply, but their exchanges were not as caustic as in their last engagement.

Cancer Society's Fund Hits $16,100

A total of $16,100 has been collected in the 1960 countywide fund drive of the Columbiana County unit of the American Cancer Society, according to Galen Greenisen of Salem, drive chairman. Greenisen also has been named chairman of the 1961 drive.

He said "This falls short of the goal of $24,000 for the county and undoubtedly medical aid to cancer victims will have to be curtailed this year unless additional funds are received."

A portion of this year's funds will be used for educational purposes and preventive study. The Cancer Prevention Study Survey, started in the fall of 1959, is being operated for the second year.

Columbiana County researchers now are checking their families enrolled in the six-year study.

Slightly over 2 per cent of all Americans between 45 and 59 and nearly 2 per cent of those between 45 and 74 have been enrolled in the test, he said.

3-Day Auto Show Slated

be a wide space in the center for the convenience of visitors.

A 12-foot right-of-way will be kept open in the center of the street for those at the show. In addition, it will be available for use of emergency vehicles, if necessary.

Meanwhile, westbound traffic on Route 39, which normally follows E. 5th St., will be re-routed via Broadway, E. and W. 4th Sts. and Jefferson St.

Most plans for the exhibit were whipped into shape Friday at a meeting of the ELMA committee and auto dealers at the Chamber of Commerce office. The ELMA committee is comprised of Charles Averill, chairman, Richard Kerin, Jack Steinberg, James Locke, George A. Shaw, Carl Metz and Don Eckert.

The two-block area will take on a festival appearance for the combination auto show and retailers' promotion.

The Ohio Power Co. has agreed to install higher - powered bulbs in the street lights along the stretch so that the area will receive twice the normal illumination. It also has given authority for stringing of supporting wires between its poles for display of banners, placards and other decorations used by merchants and auto dealers.

In addition, many of the auto dealers and merchants expect to use spotlights and other extra illumination to highlight their exhibits.

THE ELMA committee said it is working on establishment of temporary parking lots to help accommodate the influx of visitors expected at the show and also to compensate for the fact closing of the street will take 42 metered parking spaces out of service.

Stores will encourage their employes not to drive downtown during the three days. They will be asked instead to form car pools or use public transportation. Bus company operators will be approached to determine if they will furnish additional service during the three days, including extra runs through the day and extension of operations later into the evening.

The 42 affected parking meters normally would produce approximately $155 in revenue over a three-day period. The merchants group has made arrangements to reimburse the city for half of the revenue it will lose.

Provisions are being made for police protection of the new autos, which will be left in place from the opening of the show until its closing three days later.

THE SHOW will operate throughout the schedule of store hours, but the heaviest crowds are expected in the afternoons and evenings. E. 5th will be closed beginning at midnight Wednesday, Nov. 2, to permit the displays to be arranged.

Downtown merchants will participate on an individual basis. In addition to featuring fall and winter merchandise and emphasizing attractive displays and decorations tied in with the auto show, many are planning special features and promotions. However, merchants will have no sidewalk displays. The "Auto Mall" area will be reserved exclusively for the new cars.

THE ELMA committee termed the mall display "unique" and pointed out that few cities in the U. S. have made a street in the heart of the business area available for introduction of new cars.

The committee explained the mall arrangement is particularly attractive from the standpoint of the visitors, as they will be able to browse through the show at leisure without thought to possible traffic dangers.

In previous years, introduction of new car models was strung out from Sept. 1 nearly to Jan. 1, a period of four months. But this year, the U. S. manufacturers will bring out their new models between Sept. 1 and Oct. 31, which makes it possible to stage a general "introduction" of the lines while public interest is at its peak.

Planning for "Auto Mall" dates back to July, when the special ELMA committee held its first meeting. The committee said it plans other special promotions to emphasize the downtown shopping area's importance as the hub of all civic and commercial life.

In its plan to set aside the E. 5th St. display area and re-route Route 39 temporarily, the committee received approval from the administration, Council and the police, fire and street departments.

Man Freed On $2,500 Bond In Theft Case

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tadeus Strom, 30, of Garfield Heights is free on $2,500 bond today to appear in Municipal Court next Friday on charges he stole $20,000 worth of merchandise from his employer during the last four years.

Strom, a stock and mail clerk for the George Worthington Co., wholesale hardware firm, pleaded innocent Friday. Detectives said he had about $5,000 worth of tools at his home and in his car when arrested and that he had sold stolen items at half price, much of it to mail order customers.

Governor Candidate Tours Hancock Towns

Harold E. Neely, Republican candidate for governor of West Virginia, took his campaign to the streets of Hancock County communities Friday.

Neely, accompanied by James Raveira of Weirton, county GOP chairman, chatted with residents while strolling through Chester, Newell, New Cumberland and Weirton.

Raveira said Neely may appear at a Republican rally Nov. 1 in the Polish Hall in Weirton.

Jaycees Open Show Plans

Preliminary plans have been started for the annual Home Show sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The show will be held this year at the former American Paper Products building. City and area merchants are invited to display their products.

A survey will be made of the merchants to determine what spring dates they prefer.

Further plans will be outlined at a committee meeting Monday night at 7:30 at the home of Richard Hunsicker of Wedgewood Ave., East End.

The committee inspected the former Paper Products Co. building Thursday night. A representative of a Canton firm was present to submit a bid for erecting booth partitions and providing backdrop materials.

Delmar Manning is chairman. Those attending the meeting were Manning, Hunsicker, B. J. Mangano, Paul Zehnder, Jack Hales, first vice president, and James Allison, president.

The Jaycee social committee also met Thursday night and made plans for a bowling party Dec. 2 at the Headpin. The committee includes Paul Carter, chairman, Don Triller, Frank Potts and R. Marks Forssell.

Salineville Club Plans Prizes For Costume Parade

SALINEVILLE — The Ruritan Club will hold its annual Halloween costume parade Oct. 29 with cash prizes to be awarded winning masqueraders.

Homer Smith and Carl Gamble are co - chairmen. Parade marshal will be Atty. Warren Bettis.

The masqueraders will assemble at the Washington Township House at 6:45 (DST) and the parade will begin at 7. It will proceed to the Light House Skating Rink for judging of costumes. Cider and doughnuts will be served.

Judges will be Kenneth Leishman, Kathryn Mundy and S. R. Davis. Prizes will be awarded in a variety of categories, including best adult bride and bridegroom, best child bride and bridegroom, best adult comedy couple, child comedy couple, most grotesque, funniest, most novel, best homemade mask, best "Uncle Sam," best clown, best witch and best ghost.

A record hop will follow. Merchants and civic groups have been invited to enter floats.

Women's Quartet Makes Top 10 In Detroit Contest

The Heathertones of the local chapter of the Sweet Adelines participated in the first round of the International Sweet Adelines Quartet competition in Detroit Friday night.

Of the 45 groups competing, the local quartet was rated in the top ten last night. They also made a recording. The final competition will be held tonight.

The categories in which the groups are judged on include balance and blend, voice expressions, harmony and accuracy and stage presence.

The quartet includes Mrs. Lorida Harvey, tenor; Miss Norma Jones, baritone; Mrs. Betty Pettibon, lead, and Mrs. Betty Damaska, bass. Glenn A. Woods is director of the local chapter.

Sixteen members of the chapter, including Mrs. Ruth Rhinehart, president, are attending the event.

2 From Wellsville Injured At Salem

Two Wellsville residents and another from Lisbon were injured Friday night in a three-car collision in Salem after the Wellsville-Salem game.

Treated at Salem Central Clinic were:

Janice Apple, 16 of Lisbon, lacerations of the scalp and forehead.

Estelle Long, 41, of Wellsville, sprained back and sprained left arm.

Mary Elliott, 19, Wellsville, shaken up.

Police said the accident occurred at 10:20 when a car driven by Daryl Donahey, 18, Lisbon, crashed into the rear of a halted vehicle operated by William W. Menough, 49, Wellsville. The Menough car then hit the rear of a vehicle operated by Ralph E. Welch, 44, Wellsville. Welch was also halted for a stop sign at the intersection.

Donahey was cited for reckless operation.

3 Chester Area Boys Hurt In Upset Of Auto

A "blowout" on a curve, causing their car to overturn, sent three Chester area boys to City Hospital at 1:30 a. m. today with minor injuries.

The accident occurred on Route 30 beyond the West Virginia State line in Pennsylvania. All three were passengers in James Cosgrove's auto, it was reported.

Treated were John Temple, 16, of Laurel Heights, Chester, bruises and cuts of thighs; James Eberhart, 17, of Chester R.D. 1, cut of right knee, and Richard Reiter, 16, of 200 3rd St., Chester bruises and cuts of right leg.

The Carnegie barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police had no report of the accident.

U.N. Parade Will Be Held Monday Night

The parade marking the city's observance of the 15th anniversary of the United Nations will begin Monday night at 7:30, according to M. J. Sweeney, chairman.

Sweeney said area churches will observe United Nations Day during morning services Sunday.

He said the parade will form at 5th St. and Broadway and go out 5th to Jackson St., turn onto 6th St. and then to Broadway.

Harold E. Taylor of American Legion Post 4 will be parade marshal. Sweeney said commanders of various veterans' posts will serve as his aides.

The parade will be led by a police escort. The massed colors of various veterans units will participate.

Participants will include American Legion Posts 4 and 374 of the city, 121 of Chester and 163 of Lawrenceville, Disabled American Veterans Post 47, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 66, the Marine Corps League Detachment and Military Order of Cooties.

Also marching will be the East Liverpool High School Band, Beaver Local High School Band, the Grant District Burial Squad, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Navy Mothers, Gold Star Mothers, Job's Daughters, Shriners Band, the East Liverpool Democrat Club, the Republican Men's Club, Civil Defense and fire trucks.

Sweeney said a U.N. Day race will be featured at Waterford Park Monday afternoon.

Following the parade, a record hop will be held at the former Trotter Hardware building on Dresden Ave. Free refreshments will be provided teenagers.

Chester

but requiring identification for visitors from other posts or for those otherwise unknown.

The doorman is said to have delayed entry for the raiders by pushing several times on the door buzzer, apparently as a warning to the steward, the mayor said. They were finally let in, however.

Sale of liquor by the drink is illegal in West Virginia but the practice generally is ignored, in the county areas at least, as long as the bars and clubs buy their whisky from the state stores.

Slot machines were reported to have returned Thursday to Hancock County establishments, including those in Chester, but the mayor said "I didn't see any" in the Legion home.

He said that as Kisscsak was refusing to let the raiders enter he kept pushing the door button. "I believe he was sounding a warning bell," the mayor said.

Mayor Collins, Republican, who succeeded Burton T. Ward, a Democrat, has been the leader of a reform movement ever since he took office and was officially commended by the West Virginia Crime Commission.

The commendation for "conscientious efforts in enforcing city and state laws in Chester" was accompanied by a promise of cooperation by the state group with the mayor and Chester residents in law enforcement.

Both Collins and Ward were called to testify at the commission's extensive hearings in Wheeling in September when a picture of widespread liquor and gambling violations in Hancock County was painted by a parade of witnesses.

Carl Graham is co-chairman with Chaney in the committee, which was organized after the commission's hearings disclosed the widespread violations in Hancock and other Northern Panhandle counties.

Because of lack of co-operation on the part of Weirton residents, the committee said recently it will concentrate its cleanup efforts on the upper part of Hancock for the time being.

Debates

debate, and would answer it. Herbert G. Klein, the vice president's press secretary, said there would be further discussion of scheduling problems and program structure. He refused to go beyond saying another contest was "in the realm of possibility."

Neither contestant personally claimed victory in No. 4. Each said it wasn't his practice to do so.

But Robert Kennedy, the senator's brother and campaign manager, said he felt the Democratic candidate's performance was his best so far and the candidate himself was very pleased.

Klein termed it "a clear-cut victory for the vice president."

Foreign policy was the subject of the debate, and the antagonists stuck to the theme.

They stood behind podiums angled toward each other and close enough for them to shake hands, if they'd chosen. Each appeared more relaxed than in any of their previous encounters.

Nixon wore makeup, and there were no complaints about his appearance as there were after the first debate. Kennedy wore none.

They rapped each other crisply, but their exchanges were not as caustic as in their last engagement.

WSCS Service Set At Georgetown

The Week of Prayer and Self Denial will be observed in the Georgetown Methodist Church Wednesday at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Louis Wagner, spiritual life secretary of the WSCS, will be in charge. The topic will be "Think On These Things."

A community Halloween party will be sponsored by the Church School Friday at 7:30 p. m. in the social rooms. Refreshments will be served.

The committee includes Mrs. James Adney, Mrs. Harold Stewart, Mrs. Walter Reed, Mrs. Andrew G. McHaffie, Mrs. Erma Mackall and Miss Flora Nash.

Mrs. Donald Nunn, whose husband is stationed at Eglin Air Force Base in Florida, and their children are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Nunn. S.Sgt. Nunn will join his family in the near future.

Mrs. Marie Andrews and children, Rose Marie and Harold Lee, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Musuraca of East Liverpool Tuesday.

Mrs. Harry Frost of East Liverpool has concluded a visit with Mrs. Charles Finley.

Commissioner Faces Indictment On Bribery

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—Con Ison, Clermont County commissioner, was to surrender today to face an indictment on four counts of bribery involving contributions by builders.

The county grand jury returned the indictment Friday after three days of study in which it heard 26 witnesses.

Ison, who seeks reelection Nov. 8, was charged with accepting $1,500 from Cherry Grove Plaza, $200 from Carl Finn and James Hall, $200 from Gene Romohr via John Hall and $50 from Early Jackey.

The probe grew out of what Ison called an amended statement of primary campaign expenses, which he filed last month.

In it he listed $450 in contributions by the Halls, Finn and Jackey. In his first statement, he listed no contributions.

Former U.S. Citizen Is Arrested In Cuba

HAVANA (AP)—Maj. William Morgan, who gave up his American citizenship to follow Fidel Castro, has been arrested on suspicion of helping insurgents in the Escambray Hills, the Cuban army announced Friday night.

Morgan, of Toledo, Ohio, claimed in August 1959 that he posed as an anti-Castro plotter and successfully baited a trap that led to the arrest of several hundred Cubans and the capture of a planeload of invaders from the Dominican Republic.

The Army communique said he and Maj. Jesus Carreras are under investigation on charges of aiding anti-Castro rebels "at the direction of foreign interests."

2 Brothers Killed On Bikes In Hit-Skip

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Two brothers were killed Friday night when their bicycles were struck by a hit-skip car 3½ miles north of here on Ohio 4, the Highway Patrol reported.

They were identified as William and Leonard Faulkner, 25 and 19, respectively, of Rt. 1, Eby Road, Germantown, Montgomery County.

The alleged driver of the hit-skip car was apprehended by police in West Alexandria, Preble County, after the patrol broadcast a description of the auto and its license.

New Trial Requested In Bomb Hoax Case

CINCINNATI (AP) — Edward Schwartz, convicted Wednesday of making a false bomb report, has asked U.S. District Court for a new trial. Schwartz asserted Friday that Judge John Druffel failed to properly instruct the jury on circumstantial evidence.

The 56-year-old carpenter was sentenced to a year in prison and a $1,000 fine on charges he fasely told an airline last Labor Day that a passenger had explosives in luggage.

2 Remain At Large In Reformatory Escape

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Still at large today are Mansfield Reformatory escapees Charles R. West of Washington County and Paul E. Charles of Scioto County.

West, servimg 1-3 years for issuing checks with insufficient funds, and Charles, serving 1-15 years for burglary and grand larceny, walked away from the reformatory's front lawn Friday after raking leaves.

Shippingport WSCS To Hold Observance

The WSCS of the Green Valley Methodist Church of Shippingport will sponsor a Week of Prayer and Self-denial, starting with a program Thursday night at 7. Mrs. Raymond Scott is in charge.

About 15 attended a meeting of the Willing Workers Class Monday night at the church. Mrs. Jeanette Hayward and Mrs. Sarah Christy were hostesses.

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORY of our Mother, Mrs. Freda Neilson Hale who died Oct. 24, 1959.
We did not know the pain you had or hear your final sigh. We only know you passed away without a last goodby. Gone, gone, forever. How we miss your smiling face. But you left us to remember none on earth could take your place. A happy home we once enjoyed, how sweet the memory still, but death has left loneliness the world can never fill.
Your Family

3 CARD OF THANKS

WE would like to take this opportunity to thank all those who assisted during the death of Husband and Father, John Franklin Cramer, especially Rev. Estell and Rev. Hunt and Martin Funeral Home, for words of comfort and those who sent flowers and kind assistance.
Mrs. Anna Cramer and Family.

WE wish to extend our thanks to all the kind friends and neighbors whose expressions of sympathy meant so much to us upon the death of our husband and father Okie C. Smith. Special thanks to the Rev. WSCS Service Set At Georgetown

The Week of Prayer and Self Denial will be observed in the Georgetown Methodist Church Wednesday at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Louis Wagner, spiritual life secretary of the WSCS, will be in charge. The topic will be "Think On These Things."

A community Halloween party will be sponsored by the Church School Friday at 7:30 p. m. in the social rooms. Refreshments will be served.

The committee includes Mrs. James Adney, Mrs. Harold Stewart, Mrs. Walter Reed, Mrs. Andrew G. McHaffie, Mrs. Erma Mackall and Miss Flora Nash.

Mrs. Donald Nunn, whose husband is stationed at Eglin Air Force Base in Florida, and their children are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Nunn. S.Sgt. Nunn will join his family in the near future.

Mrs. Marie Andrews and children, Rose Marie and Harold Lee, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Musuraca of East Liverpool Tuesday.

Mrs. Harry Frost of East Liverpool has concluded a visit with Mrs. Charles Finley.

Commissioner Faces Indictment On Bribery

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—Con Ison, Clermont County commissioner, was to surrender today to face an indictment on four counts of bribery involving contributions by builders.

The county grand jury returned the indictment Friday after three days of study in which it heard 26 witnesses.

Ison, who seeks reelection Nov. 8, was charged with accepting $1,500 from Cherry Grove Plaza, $200 from Carl Finn and James Hall, $200 from Gene Romohr via John Hall and $50 from Early Jackey.

The probe grew out of what Ison called an amended statement of primary campaign expenses, which he filed last month.

In it he listed $450 in contributions by the Halls, Finn and Jackey. In his first statement, he listed no contributions.

Former U.S. Citizen Is Arrested In Cuba

HAVANA (AP)—Maj. William Morgan, who gave up his American citizenship to follow Fidel Castro, has been arrested on suspicion of helping insurgents in the Escambray Hills, the Cuban army announced Friday night.

Morgan, of Toledo, Ohio, claimed in August 1959 that he posed as an anti-Castro plotter and successfully baited a trap that led to the arrest of several hundred Cubans and the capture of a planeload of invaders from the Dominican Republic.

The Army communique said he and Maj. Jesus Carreras are under investigation on charges of aiding anti-Castro rebels "at the direction of foreign interests."

2 Brothers Killed On Bikes In Hit-Skip

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Two brothers were killed Friday night when their bicycles were struck by a hit-skip car 3½ miles north of here on Ohio 4, the Highway Patrol reported.

They were identified as William and Leonard Faulkner, 25 and 19, respectively, of Rt. 1, Eby Road, Germantown, Montgomery County.

The alleged driver of the hit-skip car was apprehended by police in West Alexandria, Preble County, after the patrol broadcast a description of the auto and its license.

New Trial Requested In Bomb Hoax Case

CINCINNATI (AP) — Edward Schwartz, convicted Wednesday of making a false bomb report, has asked U.S. District Court for a new trial. Schwartz asserted Friday that Judge John Druffel failed to properly instruct the jury on circumstantial evidence.

The 56-year-old carpenter was sentenced to a year in prison and a $1,000 fine on charges he falsely told an airline last Labor Day that a passenger had explosives in luggage.

2 Remain At Large In Reformatory Escape

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Still at large today are Mansfield Reformatory escapees Charles R. West of Washington County and Paul E. Charles of Scioto County.

West, serving 1-3 years for issuing checks with insufficient funds, and Charles, serving 1-15 years for burglary and grand larceny, walked away from the reformatory's front lawn Friday after raking leaves.

Shippingport WSCS To Hold Observance

The WSCS of the Green Valley Methodist Church of Shippingport will sponsor a Week of Prayer and Self-denial, starting with a program Thursday night at 7. Mrs. Raymond Scott is in charge.

About 15 attended a meeting of the Willing Workers Class Monday night at the church. Mrs. Jeanette Hayward and Mrs. Sarah Christy were hostesses.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORY of our Mother, Mrs. Freda Neilson Hale who died Oct. 24, 1959.
We did not know the pain you had or hear your final sigh. We only know you passed away without a last goodby. Gone, gone, forever. How we miss your smiling face. But you left us to remember none on earth could take your place. A happy home we once enjoyed, how sweet the memory still, but death has left loneliness the world can never fill.
Your Family

3 CARD OF THANKS

WE would like to take this opportunity to thank all those who assisted during the death of Husband and Father, John Franklin Cramer, especially Rev. Estell and Rev. Hunt and Martin Funeral Home, for words of comfort and those who sent flowers and kind assistance.
Mrs. Anna Cramer and Family.

WE wish to extend our thanks to all the kind friends and neighbors whose expressions of sympathy meant so much to us upon the death of our husband and father Okie C. Smith. Special thanks to the Rev. Ralph Hicks, Martin Funeral Home, those who sent flowers and pallbearers. — Smith & Barron Families.

WE wish to express our sincere thanks to all the kind friends and neighbors whose expressions of sympathy meant so much to us during the recent death of our beloved husband and father — WILLIAM J. FALOON,

THIS HOME IS LIKE A RICH WIDOW

THE BETTER YOU KNOW HER, THE BETTER—

YOU LIKE HER

She is not new on the outside, except for her new coat of paint, and her new extra heavy roof. Her kitchen will compare with any kitchen in a new home with it's Marlite walls and ceiling, built in range, double bowl stainless sink, upholstered breakfast nook and new windows. The bath is also Marlite and would do credit to any new home. Likewise, two of the three bedrooms are very modern. The total storage space is more than adequate. The basement is divided, making a recreation room easy to arrange, and the furnace is oil automatic. This home is located on the Northside, has two lots, all city utilities and fine neighbors. $13,700. 1200 Jennings Ave.

THIS HOME IS LIKE A RICH WIDOW

THE BETTER YOU KNOW HER, THE BETTER—

YOU LIKE HER

She is not new on the outside, except for her new coat of paint, and her new extra heavy roof. Her kitchen will compare with any kitchen in a new home with it's Marlite walls and ceiling, built in range, double bowl stainless sink, upholstered breakfast nook and new windows. The bath is also Marlite and would do credit to any new home. Likewise, two of the three bedrooms are very modern. The total storage space is more than adequate. The basement is divided, making a recreation room easy to arrange, and the furnace is oil automatic. This home is located on the Northside, has two lots, all city utilities and fine neighbors. $12,700, 1200 Jennings Ave.

THERE IS A BRIGHT FUTURE IN REAL ESTATE

YOU'RE MISSING THE BOAT IF YOU ARE MAKING YOUR OWN HOME PAYMENTS. WOULD YOU CONSIDER A NEW DOUBLE HOUSE IN A GOOD RESIDENTIAL LOCATION? WE KNOW THAT MOST OF THE INCOME PROPERTY FOR SALE IS DOWNTOWN, BUT WE HAVE AN EXCELLENT ONE IN PLEASANT HEIGHTS THAT CAN GIVE YOU A 4 ROOM AND BATH ON ONE SIDE, AND A COMPLETELY SEPERATE 3 ROOM AND BATH APARTMENT. FULL BASEMENT UNDER BOTH SIDES, GARAGE, LARGE LOT, HARDWOOD FLOORS, AND A TOTAL PRICE OF $15,500.00

For a large family home at a low-low price—we have a 4 bedroom, 2 story home listed for sale on CERAMIC ST. in Pleasant Heights for $6,500.00. Good coal furnace, large lot, 4 bedrooms, and a real down to earth price.

4 bedroom, Stone house in BLOOMFIELD with a full 1 acre level lot, take over the GI balance of $11,500.00, and pay the $2300.00 difference in cash. Payments are $85 per month on a GI Loan.

STAUNTON AVE. GLENMOOR. YOU'LL BE SURPRISED AT THE AMOUNT OF ROOM IN THIS 1½ STORY COTTAGE. LIVINGROOM IS 15X30, LARGE DININGROOM, KITCHEN, DINETTE, 1 BEDROOM AND BATH DOWNSTAIRS, PLUS 2½ BEDROOMS UPSTAIRS. LOT SIZE IS 88X200, FULL BASEMENT, OIL FURNACE, DETACHED GARAGE, PERMANENT WATER SOFTENER, AND A TOTAL PRICE OF $13,900.00

5TH AVE. LACROFT—It doesn't sound possible, but there's a 4 room and bath home with 6 lots, good furnace, good well and septic tank, and bath, all for sale at the low price of $4000.00

GLENMOOR—1 acre—4 bedrooms—full basement—garage—carpeted livingroom — HOW MUCH MORE DO YOU MANT FOR $12,900.00

ONE OF THE NICEST 3 BEDROOM, 1 STORY BRICK HOMES ON BELMAR AVE. HAS BEEN REDUCED TO $17,000.00, AND THE OWNER SAYS SELL IT. FULL 6 ROOM AND BATH HOME, WITH SEPERATE DININGROOM, FULL BASEMENT, GAS FURNACE, 7 YEARS OLD, BEAUTIFULLY LANDSCAPED LOT, DETACHED 2 CAR GARAGE, AND READY TO BE OCCUPIED.

A 3 bedroom 1 story home near town on a 75x75 foot lot for $8000.00 sounds almost impossible, and if we add the new gas furnace, shingle roof, and an electric range all for the same price. YOU HAD BETTER LOOK.

Due to the recent death of Mrs. Pelley her son in Texas says sell the home at 727 SOPHIA ST. for $6500.00 NOW! BETTER SEE IT.

LISBON ST. NEAR THE NEW SHERWOOD SCHOOL 30X130 FOOT LOT, 5 ROOM AND BATH, 1½ STORY HOME, GOOD CONDITION, CONVENIENT LOCATION ON THE BUS LINE, GOOD COAL FURNACE, $800 DOWNPAYMENT $6000.00 TOTAL PRICE, AND THE PAYMENTS WOULD BE JUST $50 PER MONTH. YOU CAN'T RENT AS GOOD A HOME FOR THE AMOUNT OF THIS MONTHLY PAYMENT.

A good 2 story, 4 bedroom home at the foot of Market St. This is not a rental property that has been destroyed, but a very well cared for home—good roof—gas heat—hardwood floors. The owner has moved in with her married daughter. The price is $7800.00

$5500.00 will buy an income of over $100 per month. Double house at 923 MAY ST. You add it up, but we think its a real good investment.

HOW ABOUT A TRADE??

LOTS OF THESE PROPERTIES CAN BE TRADED FOR LARGER — SMALLER — OR OLDER HOMES. IF YOU WANT A HOME, BUT ARE AT A LOSS TO KNOW WHAT TO DO FIRST. PUT FIRST THINGS FIRST — CALL GEORGE.

On one of the best streets in Maplewood we have a 3 bedroom cottage that is on the market. All hardwood floors, carpeted throughout, full basement, garage, gas furnace, city sewer and water. $15,500.00 takes the carpet, drapes, and the home.

On Rt. 170 in a fairly new residential section—a 6 room and bath home, 1 story, 5 year old, lot size 175x280, Calcutta school district. The home is extra well built 3 bedrooms, plus a full diningroom. $15,750.00

IF YOU ARE THINKING OF BUILDING A ONE STORY 3 BEDROOM HOME WITH A BASEMENT GARAGE, IN A GOOD LOCATION, AND WANT SOME FEATURES LIKE BIRCH KITCHEN, GAS FURNACE, CITY WATER AND SEWER, LEVEL LOT (100X200), ALL BEAUTIFULLY PLASTERED, AND HARDWOOD FLOORS, YOU HAD BETTER THINK TWICE, AND THEN CALL US TO LOOK ONCE AT THIS HOME THAT WE JUST DESCRIBED. WE DON'T THINK YOU CAN OR WILL WANT TO TRY TO BUILD IT WHEN WE HAVE IT FOR SALE COMPLETE FOR $13,000.00

MANY EXTRAS TO OFFER ON THIS ONE—Double house at 813-15 BANK ST. 5 extra large rooms on one side, new gas furnace, 2 bedrooms, and extra income from the 2 bedroom 4 room and bath home on the other side. It has gas heat, and all utilities are seperate. Close to town and McKinley school district. Total price $9000.00

$3000.00 down, and the income from one half of this house will pay the mortgage off in 10 years. Total price $8000.00. Rent one 5 room and bath side, and live in the other. Stores in the same block—school one half block—town 3 blocks. Both sides heated with gas, full basements, seperate meters, and located at 955 AMBROSE AVE.

ECONOMICAL BUT SOLID CONSTRUCTION MADE IT POSSIBLE FOR THE OWNER TO BUILD THE 2 STORY 6 ROOM AND BATH AT 148 BEECHWOOD AVE. FOR A LEVEL LOT WITH FULL BASEMENT, NEW GAS FURNACE, AND WE CAN STILL SELL IT FOR $9900.00. CITY WATER AND SEWER ASSESSMENT ALL PAID.

HOLLIDAY ST. — EAST END — LEVEL LOT—QUIET RESIDENTIAL STREET—A-1 NEIGHBORHOOD — ONE STORY 2 BEDROOM HOME—DETACHED DOUBLE GARAGE—COAL FURNACE —ALL YOURS FOR $9000.00

Chances are you have never been on RAY ST. and chances are you never expected a 6 room, 3 bedroom home for $5500.00. We have it, and will GLADLY SHOW IT TO YOU. Good coal furnace, extra large lot, EXTRA LOW PRICE.

Into each life some rain must fall, but it won't come through the slate roof of this 2 story home at 830 ST. GEORGE ST. This home is one of the better homes in East End and must be sold to settle an estate. Price $8000.00

WE HAD TROUBLE APPRAISING THIS HOME BECAUSE THE REPLACEMENT COST WOULD BE ABOUT $50,000.00, AND 2 LOTS LIKE THE ONES THE HOME IS LOCATED ON CANNOT BE FOUND ON NORTH SIDE. WE CAN'T TAKE TO MUCH OFF THE VALUE, BECAUSE IT IS BRICK, THE FLOORS ARE HARDWOOD, WALLS ARE PLASTERED, AND THE HOME HAS 4 BEDROOMS AND BATH ON THE SECOND FLOOR PLUS 4 ROOMS AND BATH ON THE FIRST. VERY SUITABLE DOWNSTAIRS ROOM FOR A DOCTOR OR OTHER OFFICE. ONLY 1 BLOCK FROM LINCOLN SCHOOL—1 BLOCK FROM THE CITY BUS—AND THE STREET IS PAVED AND STILL QUIET AND ALL RESIDENTIAL. TOTAL PRICE $19,500.00

A small lot but a LOT of HOME is what you'll find at 849 OHIO AVE. for $9000.00. This is an excellent location, 5 rooms and bath and a half, full basement, and a good furnace.

A 2 story, 3 bedroom home at 1709 PENN AVE. will fill many needs — close to school — easing commuting to MIDLAND to work —good condition—and priced at $9000.00

626 RILEY AVENUE—$6,300. 6 ROOMS—3 BEDROOMS—GAS HEAT—GARAGE—AND LARGE SIZE LOTS.

RT. 30—SUBSTATION—1½ ACRE ESTATE WITH A 2 BEDROOM, 1 STORY MODERN BRICK HOME WITH DIVIDED BASEMENT, RECREATION ROOM, OIL FURNACE, OPEN FIREPLACE, CARPETED LIVINGROOM AND DININGROOM, AND ONLY 8 YEARS OLD. $21,000.00

Perhaps you've heard of Brightview Addition — perhaps you haven't, but we feel sure you'll agree that its the nicest all new addition inside the East Liverpool city limits for many years. The street is blacktopped with city water-sewer, gas, fireplugs, mail service, etc. For your Sunday drive — go North on St. Clair to Orchard Grove turn left (west) to Fairmont St. (2nd St.) and proceed south 1 block to the new blacktopped street — turn right, and you will be on Brightview Drive. There is a new 2 story home available for occupancy almost immediately, and if you're interested further — CALL FOR AN APPOINTMENT.

STAGECOACH SETTLEMENT

We have a new addition open on the Frank Fisher Farm to develop, and we have 42 LEVEL LOTS, available at a price of $1100.00 each — 100x200 foot lots. The street is already established and the homes will be started soon. We'll either sell you a lot or build your home. Terms if necessary. Be sure to call for information. To see this location—go north on Park Blvd. to the Stage Coach Trail and turn right.

Financing is our speciality. Low downpayments, Land Contracts, Direct Loan Papers, VA Guaranteed Loans with small downpayments, and FHA financing available. Regardless of the size of your bankroll or the quality property you have in mind, the odds are good that we will show you how you can own it.

THERE IS A BRIGHT FUTURE IN REAL ESTATE

YOU'RE MISSING THE BOAT IF YOU ARE MAKING YOUR OWN HOME PAYMENTS. WOULD YOU CONSIDER A NEW DOUBLE HOUSE IN A GOOD RESIDENTIAL LOCATION? WE KNOW THAT MOST OF THE INCOME PROPERTY FOR SALE IS DOWNTOWN, BUT WE HAVE AN EXCELLENT ONE IN PLEASANT HEIGHTS THAT CAN GIVE YOU A 4 ROOM AND BATH ON ONE SIDE, AND A COMPLETELY SEPERATE 3 ROOM AND BATH APARTMENT. FULL BASEMENT UNDER BOTH SIDES, GARAGE, LARGE LOT, HARDWOOD FLOORS, AND A TOTAL PRICE OF $15,500.00

ONE OF THE NICEST 3 BEDROOM, 1 STORY BRICK HOMES ON BELMAR AVE. HAS BEEN REDUCED TO $17,000.00, AND THE OWNER SAYS SELL IT. FULL 6 ROOM AND BATH HOME, WITH SEPERATE DININGROOM, FULL BASEMENT, GAS FURNACE, 7 YEARS OLD, BEAUTIFULLY LANDSCAPED LOT, DETACHED 2 CAR GARAGE, AND READY TO BE OCCUPIED.

For a large family home at a low-low price—we have a 4 bedroom, 2 story home listed for sale on CERAMIC ST. in Pleasant Heights for $6,500.00. Good coal furnace, large lot, 4 bedrooms, and a real down to earth price.

4 bedroom, Stone house in BLOOMFIELD with a full 1 acre level lot, take over the GI balance of $11,500.00, and pay the $2300.00 difference in cash. Payments are $85 per month on a GI Loan.

A 3 bedroom 1 story home near town on a 75x75 foot lot for $8000.00 sounds almost impossible, and if we add the new gas furnace, shingle roof, and an electric range all for the same price. YOU HAD BETTER LOOK.

Due to the recent death of Mrs. Pelley her son in Texas says sell the home at 727 SOPHIA ST. for $6500.00 NOW! BETTER SEE IT.

STAUNTON AVE. GLENMOOR. YOU'LL BE SURPRISED AT THE AMOUNT OF ROOM IN THIS 1½ STORY COTTAGE. LIVINGROOM IS 15X30, LARGE DININGROOM, KITCHEN, DINETTE, 1 BEDROOM AND BATH DOWNSTAIRS, PLUS 2½ BEDROOMS UPSTAIRS. LOT SIZE IS 88X200, FULL BASEMENT, OIL FURNACE, DETACHED GARAGE, PERMANENT WATER SOFTENER, AND A TOTAL PRICE OF $13,900.00

LISBON ST. NEAR THE NEW SHERWOOD SCHOOL, 30X130 FOOT LOT, 5 ROOM AND BATH, 1½ STORY HOME, GOOD CONDITION, CONVENIENT LOCATION ON THE BUS LINE, GOOD COAL FURNACE, $800 DOWNPAYMENT $6000.00 TOTAL PRICE, AND THE PAYMENTS WOULD BE JUST $50 PER MONTH. YOU CAN'T RENT AS GOOD A HOME FOR THE AMOUNT OF THIS MONTHLY PAYMENT.

5TH AVE. LACROFT—It doesn't sound possible, but there's a 4 room and bath home with 6 lots, good furnace, good well and septic tank, and bath, all for sale at the low price of $4000.00

GLENMOOR—1 acre—4 bedrooms—full basement—garage—carpeted livingroom — HOW MUCH MORE DO YOU MANT FOR $12,900.00

A good 2 story, 4 bedroom home at the foot of Market St. This is not a rental property that has been destroyed, but a very well cared for home—good roof—gas heat—hardwood floors. The owner has moved in with her married daughter. The price is $7800.00

$5500.00 will buy an income of over $100 per month. Double house at 923 MAY ST. You add it up, but we think its a real good investment.

HOW ABOUT A TRADE??

LOTS OF THESE PROPERTIES CAN BE TRADED FOR LARGER — SMALLER — OR OLDER HOMES. IF YOU WANT A HOME, BUT ARE AT A LOSS TO KNOW WHAT TO DO FIRST, PUT FIRST THINGS FIRST — CALL GEORGE.

On one of the best streets in Maplewood we have a 2 bedroom cottage that is on the market. All hardwood floors, carpeted throughout, full basement, garage, gas furnace, city sewer and water. $15,200.00 takes the carpet, drapes, and the home.

On Rt. 170 in a fairly new residential section—a 6 room and bath home, 1 story, 5 year old, lot size 175x280, Calcutta school district. The home is extra well built 3 bedrooms, plus a full diningroom. $15,750.00

Chances are you have never been on RAY ST. and chances are you never expected a 6 room, 3 bedroom home for $5500.00. We have it, and will GLADLY SHOW IT TO YOU. Good coal furnace, extra large lot, EXTRA LOW PRICE.

Into each life some rain must fall, but it won't come through the slate roof of this 2 story home at 830 ST. GEORGE ST. This home is one of the better homes in East End and must be sold to settle an estate. Price $8000.00

IF YOU ARE THINKING OF BUILDING A ONE STORY 3 BEDROOM HOME WITH A BASEMENT GARAGE, IN A GOOD LOCATION, AND WANT SOME FEATURES LIKE BIRCH KITCHEN, GAS FURNACE, CITY WATER AND SEWER, LEVEL LOT (100X200), ALL BEAUTIFULLY PLASTERED, AND HARDWOOD FLOORS, YOU HAD BETTER THINK TWICE, AND THEN CALL US TO LOOK ONCE AT THIS HOME THAT WE JUST DESCRIBED. WE DON'T THINK YOU CAN OR WILL WANT TO TRY TO BUILD IT WHEN WE HAVE IT FOR SALE COMPLETE FOR $13,000.00

WE HAD TROUBLE APPRAISING THIS HOME BECAUSE THE REPLACEMENT COST WOULD BE ABOUT $30,000.00, AND 2 LOTS LIKE THE ONES THE HOME IS LOCATED ON CANNOT BE FOUND ON NORTH SIDE. WE CAN'T TAKE TO MUCH OFF THE VALUE, BECAUSE IT IS BRICK, THE FLOORS ARE HARDWOOD, WALLS ARE PLASTERED, AND THE HOME HAS 4 BEDROOMS AND BATH ON THE SECOND FLOOR PLUS 4 ROOMS AND BATH ON THE FIRST. VERY SUITABLE DOWNSTAIRS ROOM FOR A DOCTOR OR OTHER OFFICE. ONLY 1 BLOCK FROM LINCOLN SCHOOL—1 BLOCK FROM THE CITY BUS—AND THE STREET IS PAVED AND STILL QUIET AND ALL RESIDENTIAL. TOTAL PRICE $18,000.00

MANY EXTRAS TO OFFER ON THIS ONE—Double house at 813-15 BANK ST. 5 extra large rooms on one side, new gas furnace, 2 bedrooms, and extra income from the 2 bedroom 4 room and bath home on the other side. It has gas heat, and all utilities are seperate. Close to town and McKinley school district. Total price $9000.00

$3000.00 down, and the income from one half of this house will pay the mortgage off in 10 years. Total price $8000.00. Rent one 3 room and bath side, and live in the other. Stores in the same block—school one half block—town 2 blocks. Both sides heated with gas, full basements, seperate meters, and located at 955 AMBROSE AVE.

A small lot but a LOT of HOME is what you'll find at 849 OHIO AVE. for $9000.00. This is an excellent location, 5 rooms and bath and a half, full basement, and a good furnace.

A 2 story, 3 bedroom home at 1700 PENN AVE. will fill many needs — close to school — easing commuting to MIDLAND to work — good condition—and priced at $9000.00

ECONOMICAL BUT SOLID CONSTRUCTION MADE IT POSSIBLE FOR THE OWNER TO BUILD THE 2 STORY 6 ROOM AND BATH AT 148 BEECHWOOD AVE. FOR A LEVEL LOT WITH FULL BASEMENT, NEW GAS FURNACE, AND WE CAN STILL SELL IT FOR $9900.00. CITY WATER AND SEWER ASSESSMENT ALL PAID.

HOLLIDAY ST. — EAST END — LEVEL LOT—QUIET RESIDENTIAL STREET—A-1 NEIGHBORHOOD — ONE STORY 2 BEDROOM HOME—DETACHED DOUBLE GARAGE—COAL FURNACE —ALL YOURS FOR $9000.00

626 RILEY AVENUE—$6,300. 6 ROOMS—3 BEDROOMS—GAS HEAT—GARAGE—AND LARGE SIZE LOTS.

RT. 30—SUBSTATION—1½ ACRE ESTATE WITH A 3 BEDROOM, 1 STORY MODERN BRICK HOME WITH DIVIDED BASEMENT, RECREATION ROOM, OIL FURNACE, OPEN FIREPLACE, CARPETED LIVINGROOM AND DININGROOM, AND ONLY 8 YEARS OLD. $21,000.00

Perhaps you've heard of Brightview Addition — perhaps you haven't, but we feel sure you'll agree that its the nicest all new addition inside the East Liverpool city limits for many years. The street is blacktopped with city water-sewer, gas, fireplugs, mail service, etc. For your Sunday drive — go North on St. Clair to Orchard Grove turn left (west) to Fairmont St. (2nd St.) and proceed south 1 block to the new blacktopped street — turn right, and you will be on Brightview Drive. There is a new 2 story home available for occupancy almost immediately, and if you're interested further — CALL FOR AN APPOINTMENT.

STAGECOACH SETTLEMENT

We have a new addition open on the Frank Fisher Farm to develop, and we have 42 LEVEL LOTS, available at a price of $1100.00 each — 100x200 foot lots. The street is already established and the homes will be started soon. We'll either sell you a lot or build your home. Terms if necessary. Be sure to call for information. To see this location—go north on Park Blvd. to the Stage Coach Trail and turn right.

Financing is our speciality. Low downpayments, Land Contracts, Direct Loan Papers, VA Guaranteed Loans with small downpayments, and FHA financing available. Regardless of the size of your bankroll or the quality property you have in mind, the odds are good that we will show you how you can own it.

Grange Seats At Hookstown

Charles Stewart, master, headed a list of new officers installed by the Hookstown Grange Thursday night. Fifty-five adults and 35 youngsters were present.

Walker Cowden of Millers Run Grange, Washington County, was in charge of the installing team. Chester Elliott, retiring master, presided.

Installed besides Stewart were Charles Hartzell, overseerer; Mrs. Chester Elliott, lecturer; Lawrence Searight, steward; James Hubbard, assistant steward.

Mrs. Raymond Searight, chaplain; Chester Elliott, treasurer; Mrs. Brooks Searight, secretary; William Stewart, gatekeeper.

Miss Jean Floyd, Pomona; Miss Nancy Moore, Flora; Mrs. Bernard Glenn, lady assistant steward, and Thomas Glenn, executive committee.

Use of the hall was granted the Raccoon Township Republican Club for a meeting Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart were named delegates to the state Grange meeting Monday through Thursday in Harrisburg. Refreshments were served by the young people with Mrs. Charles Hartzell and Leland Floyd aiding. Halloween favors were distributed. Youngsters sold Christmas gifts.

A series of KDKA broadcasts about filth in the mails on "Program PM." was called to the attention of members. Next meeting is Nov. 3.

Court Resets Hearing On New Trial Motion

Hearing on a motion for a new trial for William H. Thomas, 44, of 1010 Anderson Ave., Wellsville, has been continued until Friday at 10 a. m. in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon.

Neither Thomas nor his counsel, Atty. John Breckinridge, of Warren showed up in court yesterday when the motion was to have been aired. There was no explanation for their absence. Williams is free on bond.

He was convicted Oct. 11 after a jury trial on a charge of unlawful assault with intent to rape on complaint of a Wellsville woman.

She said he grabbed her and dragged her to his parked car June 3. Her screams aroused neighbors and the man fled.

Lodge Planning Talks In Cincinnati Today

CINCINNATI (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican vice presidential nominee, plans to get here early for a little campaigning on his own before Vice President Richard M. Nixon arrives Tuesday.

Lodge is scheduled for a noon television appearance and a brief talk in suburban Oakley before Nixon, the GOP presidential choice, appears for a television address from Cincinnati Gardens at 7:30 p.m.

Inauguration Slated For Oberlin President

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP)—Oberlin College today inaugurates its ninth president, in a mixture of simple ceremony and age-old pageantry.

Dr. Robert K. Carr, 52, formally takes over the reins of the nationally-known coeducational college. He has been serving since Jan. 1, when he succeeded Dr. William E. Stevenson.

Ruritans Hear Guest

SALINEVILLE — About 28 attended a meeting of the Ruritan Club Thursday night at the Calvary United Presbyterian Church at which Muhammad Akram of Pakistan spoke on the farming and customs of his country. He is an International Farm Youth Exchange student.

East Junior Boy Wins Cherry Pie Contest

Terry Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kennedy, 1703 Park Ave., a freshman, won the cherry pie baking contest held Friday afternoon at the East Junior High School.

Charlotte Ludwig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ludwig, 2027 Ohio Ave., also a freshman, was runnerup.

The contest was sponsored by the Ohio Power Co.

Faculty members were judges.

The winner is eligible for the county contest Nov. 5 at Lisbon High School. Miss Ludwig will be alternate.

Other contestants included Dan Banfield, Janet Clutter and Kathy McKinnon.

Man Given 10 Years On Counterfeit Charge

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 10-year sentence was handed Friday to Hugh A. Lynn, 37, of Youngstown, accused of operating a printing press that turned out counterfeit $20 bills that flooded the Cleveland area early last month.

Burt W. Griffin, assistant U.S. attorney, told the court Lynn had two plates, each with $20 bill impressions, when he was arrested. Sentence was pronounced by U.S. District Court Judge Girard E. Kalbfleisch.

County Women's Christmas Tea Set For Nov. 2-3

LISBON — The annual Christmas-at-Home Tea of Columbiana County rural women will be held Nov. 2-3 at the Salem Christian Church.

This year's theme is "An old-fashioned Christmas," according to Mrs. Rudy Hrovatic of Salem R.D. 3, chairman.

Exhibits will include gifts from the cupboard, cookies, aprons, baked goods and old-fashioned Christmas presents.

Demonstrations will be given on making coat hanger items, dolls, old-fashioned gifts, quilts and articles from wood.

The Columbiana County Home Demonstration Council will sponsor the affair, with each unit participating. Mrs. Joshua Henderson of Salem R.D. 3 is president of the council.

It is open to the public and hours will be 4 to 9:30 p. m. Wednesday and 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday.

Bananas grow in bunches weighing from 40 to 100 pounds on large herbaceous plants which resemble palms. The flower bud hangs downward, while the growing bananas point upward.

Grange Seats At Hookstown

Charles Stewart, master, headed a list of new officers installed by the Hookstown Grange Thursday night. Fifty-five adults and 35 youngsters were present.

Walker Cowden of Millers Run Grange, Washington County, was in charge of the installing team. Chester Elliott, retiring master, presided.

Installed besides Stewart were Charles Hartzell, overseerer; Mrs. Chester Elliott, lecturer; Lawrence Searight, steward; James Hubbard, assistant steward.

Mrs. Raymond Searight, chaplain; Chester Elliott, treasurer; Mrs. Brooks Searight, secretary; William Stewart, gatekeeper.

Miss Jean Floyd, Pomona; Miss Nancy Moore, Flora; Mrs. Bernard Glenn, lady assistant steward, and Thomas Glenn, executive committee.

Use of the hall was granted the Raccoon Township Republican Club for a meeting Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart were named delegates to the state Grange meeting Monday through Thursday in Harrisburg. Refreshments were served by the young people with Mrs. Charles Hartzell and Leland Floyd aiding. Halloween favors were distributed. Youngsters sold Christmas gifts.

A series of KDKA broadcasts about filth in the mails on "Program PM," was called to the attention of members. Next meeting is Nov. 3.

Court Resets Hearing On New Trial Motion

Hearing on a motion for a new trial for William H. Thomas, 44, of 1010 Anderson Ave., Wellsville, has been continued until Friday at 10 a. m. in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon.

Neither Thomas nor his counsel, Atty. John Breckinridge, of Warren showed up in court yesterday when the motion was to have been aired. There was no explanation for their absence. Williams is free on bond.

He was convicted Oct. 11 after a jury trial on a charge of unlawful assault with intent to rape on complaint of a Wellsville woman.

She said he grabbed her and dragged her to his parked car June 3. Her screams aroused neighbors and the man fled.

Lodge Planning Talks In Cincinnati Today

CINCINNATI (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican vice presidential nominee, plans to get here early for a little campaigning on his own before Vice President Richard M. Nixon arrives Tuesday.

Lodge is scheduled for a noon television appearance and a brief talk in suburban Oakley before Nixon, the GOP presidential choice, appears for a television address from Cincinnati Gardens at 7:30 p.m.

Inauguration Slated For Oberlin President

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP)—Oberlin College today inaugurates its ninth president, in a mixture of simple ceremony and age-old pageantry.

Dr. Robert K. Carr, 52, formally takes over the reins of the nationally-known coeducational college. He has been serving since Jan. 1, when he succeeded Dr. William E. Stevenson.

Ruritans Hear Guest

East Junior Boy Wins Cherry Pie Contest

Terry Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kennedy, 1703 Park Ave., a freshman, won the cherry pie baking contest held Friday afternoon at the East Junior High School.

Charlotte Ludwig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ludwig, 2027 Ohio Ave., also a freshman, was runnerup.

The contest was sponsored by the Ohio Power Co.

Faculty members were judges.

The winner is eligible for the county contest Nov. 5 at Lisbon High School. Miss Ludwig will be alternate.

Other contestants included Dan Banfield, Janet Clutter and Kathy McKinnon.

Man Given 10 Years On Counterfeit Charge

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 10-year sentence was handed Friday to Hugh A. Lynn, 27, of Youngstown, accused of operating a printing press that turned out counterfeit $20 bills that flooded the Cleveland area early last month.

Burt W. Griffin, assistant U.S. attorney, told the court Lynn had two plates, each with $20 bill impressions, when he was arrested. Sentence was pronounced by U.S. District Court Judge Girard E. Kalbfleisch.

County Women's Christmas Tea Set For Nov. 2-3

LISBON — The annual Christmas-at-Home Tea of Columbiana County rural women will be held Nov. 2-3 at the Salem Christian Church.

This year's theme is "An old-fashioned Christmas," according to Mrs. Rudy Hrovatic of Salem R.D. 3, chairman.

Exhibits will include gifts from the cupboard, cookies, aprons, baked goods and old-fashioned Christmas presents.

Demonstrations will be given on making coat hanger items, dolls, old-fashioned gifts, quilts and articles from wood.

The Columbiana County Home Demonstration Council will sponsor the affair, with each unit participating. Mrs. Joshua Henderson of Salem R.D. 3 is president of the council.

It is open to the public and hours will be 4 to 9:30 p. m. Wednesday and 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday.

Next in Space:

A THREE-MAN TRIP AROUND THE MOON

This rocket expert looks ahead to America's first fully piloted spaceship

By WILLY LEY AUTHOR OF "ROCKETS AND SPACE TRAVEL" AND "THE CONQUEST OF SPACE"

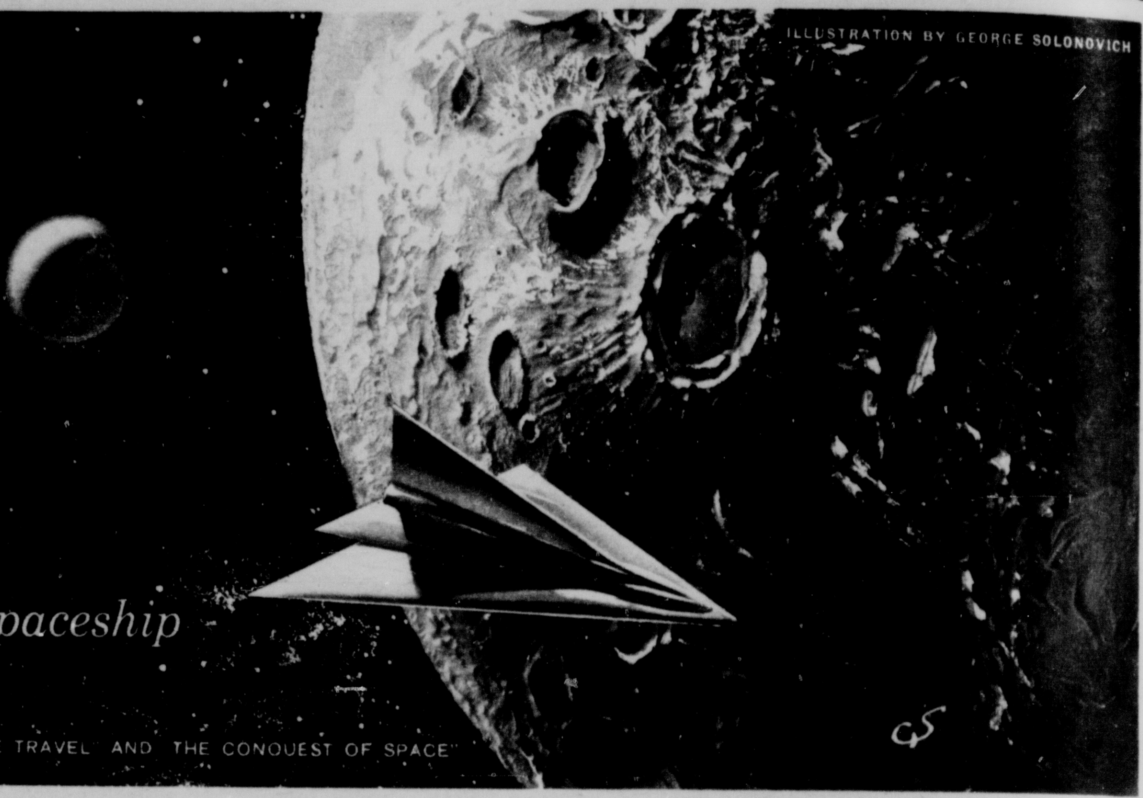

ILLUSTRATION BY GEORGE SOLONOVICH

ONE DOESN'T have to be a prophet to predict that within the next few years men will travel in various orbits around the earth. It is quite certain that about six years from now there will be a permanent, manned, artificial satellite—most likely two: one American and one Russian. And there will be the first attempts to get a manned rocketship to loop around our natural moon without landing there.

Project Mercury, as you know, aims at putting a man into orbit around the earth in a capsule. But what follows after the Mercury capsule has carried a man into space and back?

It is necessary to realize that the man in the Mercury capsule is more a passenger than he is a pilot. Of course, he will be kept busy with various experiments, observations, and assignments, but actually he won't have to do a thing for the successful completion of the trip. For example, he will throw the firing switch for the retro-rockets which make his capsule slow down for re-entry. But if for any reason he can't do this, it will be done for him by remote control.

The next step after the Mercury capsule, then, is evidently a space flight in which the pilot functions as a pilot.

A plan for such a flight has existed for more than a year. Called "Mrs. V" (from the initials of *M*aneuverable and *R*ecoverable *S*pace *V*ehicle), the idea was to have an airplane-shaped space vehicle which would re-enter the atmosphere, slow down mainly by taking advantage of air resistance, and finally land on a runway in the same way a fast jet does.

While this plan was developed by one group of scientists and engineers, another group built something that, with some modifications, could be called "Mrs. V," namely the X-15 rocket research plane. The so-called "final flight" of the X-15 is going to be a gigantic arc 400 miles long, with its highest point 100 miles above the ground, terminating in a landing on a conveniently located runway.

Today, space scientists tend to return to the thinking which was taken for granted by the pioneers of rocketry some 30 years ago. Both the Mercury capsule and the current X-15 are designed for just one man. But after Mercury has done its job, the goal will be to put entire crews into space rather than a single man!

The reasons are easy to see. The flight of the Mercury capsule has been carefully planned so that the man inside will be there for not more than about nine hours. But for a mission lasting 36 hours, we obviously need more than one man. Somebody has to sleep awhile to be rested and alert for the difficult re-entry.

THIS SOUNDS simple, but there are many hidden problems, the most important of which centers around the word "sleep." Eating and drinking should be possible under weightlessness because in these functions medical researchers know precisely which muscle does what.

But in the case of sleep, we don't know. And since we don't know just what being asleep depends on, we can't make a good prediction, except that apparently a man falls asleep when he is tired enough, no matter what goes on around him.

Our hope is to replace the "Mrs. V" project (which still had a single-seater ship in mind) with Project Apollo, which will accommodate three men. The Apollo may be considered the first full-fledged American spaceship. For with a Saturn rocket as the first stage, Apollo could not only go into orbit, it could fly around the moon. For this trip, it would first go into orbit around the earth, then accelerate into an orbit which would carry it toward the spot where the moon will be when the spaceship gets there.

To make sure that the ship does not hit the moon, or pass it at too great a distance, so-called "mid-course corrections" will be needed. This means that the ship must move in the right direction with precisely the right velocity. This can be established by a combination of radar tracking from the ground and astronomical observations by the men aboard. The problem will then be fed into a computer (on the ground), and the ship will be given the necessary guidance.

When near the moon—say not farther than 1,000 miles away—the moon's gravitational pull will bend the ship's path into a hairpin curve. The crew may wish to circle the moon, taking pictures. In that case the ship would have to reduce its speed when near the moon so that it is "captured," as astronomers call it.

Just as a capsule has to "do something" to break out of an orbit around the earth, the spaceship would have to use rocket power to break out of its lunar orbit. It would have to accelerate in order to get back into an orbit which would bring it back to earth.

All this is an easily foreseeable development. But whether this ship will be a rather drastic development of the present X-15, or be derived from the Mercury capsule, or be a completely new design cannot be predicted so easily. The odds favor the last possibility, however.

In any event, we can count on the fact that after Project Mercury it will no longer be "man in space" but "crews in space."

Sen. and Mrs.

LADY BIRD JOHNSON

What Kind of Second Lady Would

WITH THE ELECTION of either Henry Cabot Lodge or Lyndon Baines Johnson as Vice President of the United States, the country's Second Lady, as I discovered by visiting recently with each of the "candidates," will be a woman of charm, elegance, intelligence, of what used to be called "breeding," and of an earnest dedication to her husband's cause.

What more important role could one have than to be, as Emily Lodge has been, the wife and confidante of America's permanent representative to the United Nations with the rank of Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary, the Chairman of the U. S. delegation to the 11th General Assembly, U. S. representative in the Security Council, and a member of President Eisenhower's cabinet? Only perhaps to be the wife, confidante, and active working partner, as Lady Bird Johnson has been, of Lyndon B. Johnson, the hard-hitting, dynamic, indefatigable majority leader of the U. S. Senate, whose power on occasion has been described as second only to that of the President.

Their early influences ill-equipped Lady Bird Johnson and Emily Lodge for the strenuous demands of public life. Mrs. Lodge had been reared in the Brahmin tradition of keeping one's own counsel. And Mrs. Johnson, when her mother died not long before her sixth birthday, lived the lonely life of a country child brought up by her mother's intellectual but unworldly maiden sister.

"Aunt Effie," Lady Bird told me, "opened my mind to books and my spirit to beauty, but she neglected to give me any insight into the practical matters a girl should know about. Something even as simple as how to match colors was outside my ken. And so, except for visits to my kinfolk in Alabama, where I swam with my cousins or had parties, I had no outside relationships."

Both Emily Sears and Lady Bird Taylor somehow broke through the cocoon. At 18, Emily Sears met Henry Cabot Lodge at a dance. "I thought Cabot looked pretty good," she told me. "We were married two years later. He was then a Washington correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune, and being the wife of a newspaperman was my coming of age."

The thawing of Lady Bird Taylor's reserve began when she was 17 and became friends with Mrs. Gene Lassater of Henderson, Tex., who arranged for her to meet some friends and advised her how to dress. Above all, as Lady Bird puts it, "She made me feel important for the first time."

Upon her graduation from the University of Texas, Lady Bird's father gave her a present of a trip to New York and Washington. Before she left Texas, Mrs. Lassater gave her a glowing description of the young secretary of Congressman Richard M. Kleberg of Texas and suggested that she look him up while she was in Washington. Lady Bird was too absorbed by the excitement of seeing new places to bother about the Congressman's secretary—a man named Lyndon B. Johnson.

Two months later, however, the young secretary was himself visiting in Texas where, at Mrs. Lassater's, he met Lady Bird by accident. That night she and a group of friends joined him at a party. The next day Lady Bird met him again. A few weeks later, after a whirlwind courtship which was disapproved by both his parents and her Aunt Effie, Lyndon Johnson and Lady Bird Taylor were married.

"Though we have lived happily ever after," she told me, "I admit I married him with a great deal of apprehension!"

They're More Dynamic in Person

Both "candidates" for Second Lady seem more attractive, more vivacious face-to-face than they do on television or in photographs. Behind Emily Lodge's dignified demeanor, one detects a tomboy, pixie quality, a tremendous zest for living that makes her seem girlish in her 50s. In clothes, tastes, and hairdress, the accent is on casualness.

"In winter," Mrs. Lodge says, "I prefer sweaters and skirts or casual straight dresses to anything else. Blacks, reds, pale pinks are my favorite colors. I like going without a hat. And jewelry doesn't mean much to me. It's a bother to put on. Flowers in the house, which are much more tempting than jewels, are my luxury."

Lady Bird Johnson, 48, petite, and a Southern charmer with chiseled features, gives the impression of being a woman of purpose. And, along with purpose, there is the magic of color—the spell she creates by choosing bright colors—Chinese reds, The Women Behind The Candidates yellows to match the yellow rose of her native state, and vivid greens to set off her dark, slightly graying hair and dark skin tone.

In general, her clothes are of two different kinds—for Washington, the required formalities, including hats and gloves; for the LBJ ranch in Johnson City, Tex., cotton blouses or sweaters and skirts. Jewelry she keeps to a dignified minimum—a strand of pearls, a gold bracelet, and almost always earrings and a gold pin in the form of a bird, which is both her namesake and mascot. For, although christened Claudia Alta, she has been "Lady Bird" on all but legal documents ever since a family maid, enchanted with her as a petite, dark-eyed youngster, had remarked, "She's as purty as a little ladybird."

The essence of both the Lodges' and the Johnsons' marriages is to let the husband be the leader. Lady Bird says: "Lyndon sets the pattern." Emily puts it another way: "I'm a great follower-along."

When Lyndon lets Lady Bird know what he wants, he expects her to execute it. Once, for instance, he announced that he wanted music in every room on the Johnsons' ranch. Lady Bird had it piped in. On another occasion he told her he wanted a new lawn for a party that was to take place within three weeks. It was fall then, and to have the lawn constructed seemed impossible. Yet Lady Bird managed, and Lyndon had his wish.

The Johnson marriage gained in depth five years ago during the Senator's convalescence from a heart attack. "At that time he wanted me to laugh a lot, to be around 24 hours a day, and always to have lipstick on," she says. "During those days we rediscovered the meaning and freshness of life."

They Have Private Lives, Too

A family friend says of the Johnsons' marriage: "They work in close harmony. They are not demonstrative with each other in the presence of other people, but there will always be her solicitous 'Darlin', why aren't you taking your nap?' I remember once when he came home in a lather after some busy days in Austin and San Antonio. Relaxing as he stepped into the air-conditioned ranch, he remarked, 'I want to kiss Mrs. Johnson.' He looked all over the house until he found her."

Always, as far as her husband's public life has been concerned, Emily Lodge has preferred to stay in the background. During the eight years of his U. N. ambassadorship, however, she has found herself playing an active role. Fluent in French because she attended Paris schools, she has talked easily with diplomats. Much U. N. diplomacy has been carried on at parties, sometimes two or three a day, and the Lodges also have had frequent gatherings of their own.

Famous among U. N. delegates were their "song fests," at which Ambassador Lodge let go in a sonorous baritone in any of several languages. "As for me," says Emily Lodge, "I only clapped."

As to her husband's campaign for the Vice Presidency, Mrs. Lodge told me she was looking forward to the traveling, meeting people, the handshaking, but "I won't make a speech. Won't is the word. I never have and never will. There's something ghastly about getting up with your mouth open while other mouths are closed."

The Lodges, in their marriage, have always preserved a quiet corner of privacy. "The most wonderful thing about Cabot," Mrs. Lodge told me, "is that he is the least boring man. He plays as hard as he works. He laughs easily and out loud, and I like that in anybody. Just to hear him sing makes me happy. He likes Wagner; I prefer Verdi or Puccini. We even have political arguments, but he usually convinces me. And though I'm lazy, my husband makes me walk two miles every night. He doesn't really make me, but I know that if I don't go with him, he'll go without me, and I'd rather go than be left alone. But I get even by making him look at the shop windows."

The Johnsons have two teen-age daughters—Lynda Bird, 16, and Lucy Baines, 13. Lynda is a student at National Cathedral School, a private school for girls in Washington. Lady Bird herself is a member of the school's board and of its PTA. Lucy attends a public junior high school.

"The girls made their own decision about their schools," Lady Bird told me. "Lucy preferred a public school partly out of her philosophy of life and partly because of the rivalry with her sister that made her unwilling to be in the same school." In Texas both girls attend a small country school.

in Washington, seeing their busy father less than they would like, Lynda and Lucy have dubbed themselves "deprivileged children."

Lucy writes poetry. "Some of it is doggerel," her mother told me, "but some is very beautiful. She also has the knack of creating original tunes on the piano."

Emily Lodge, with two sons and eight grandchildren, likes to speak of "all 14 of us." Both Lodge sons, like their father, are Harvard graduates. George Cabot Lodge, a former newspaperman, is Assistant Secretary of Labor and lives in Washington. Henry Sears Lodge, a salesman for an engineering corporation, lives in the family home in Beverly, Mass. Though geographically separated, all 14 Lodges meet for Sunday dinner.

Both Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Lodge are two-home, two-milieu women. For Lady Bird there is the three-story house between the North Cleveland and Chevy Chase sections of Washington. If elected, the Johnsons will stay here. And there is also the LBJ ranch on the Pedernales River in the picturesque hill country of Central Texas.

For Emily Lodge, home in New York for the past eight years has been Apartment 42-A of the Waldorf Towers. But in September, Ambassador James Wadsworth moved in and Ambassador Lodge and his wife moved out to find their new home on the campaign road. If elected, they will buy a small house in Washington.

The Lodges' true home, however, built on Mrs. Lodge's father's estate in Beverly, is a 14-room, two-story French provincial of white-painted brick near the Atlantic shore.

Marriage wrote finis to the business career for which Lady Bird prepared at college. But 17 years ago, when her father remarried and was eager to settle her mother's estate, Lady Bird acquired two Texas radio stations and holdings in several others. And so, a year before the birth of her first child, Lady Bird became a working business woman. Today she gives four months a year to the stations and, on the third floor of her Washington home, keeps an office for KTBC and Channel 7 in Austin, Tex., and for KRGU in Weslaco, Tex., with which she is always in touch.

There Is Time for Pastimes

So far as hobbies are concerned, Mrs. Lodge's main one is reading. She voraciously consumes novels, biographies, essays, and poetry, and allows her literary instincts full sway in the 10,000-volume library which her husband inherited from his famous grandfather, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge.

In music, she has a similar catholicity of taste. For, while she enjoys Mozart, Bach, Chopin, and Samuel Barber, she also enjoys jazz.

Mrs. Johnson is a reader, too, but only in "little nicks of time," as she puts it. The recent nicks have been enough, however, for her to rediscover F. Scott Fitzgerald and Thomas Wolfe. She says, "Lyndon's tastes set the tone of the house. I wish he would read more. And though I like his favorite music, which is The Yellow Rose of Texas and Strauss waltzes, I wish we had more variety."

Another of her hobbies has been photography. She has many home movies and stills of the campaigns, though she has allowed the hobby to lapse.

As for the part Mrs. Lodge and Mrs. Johnson will play as Second Lady, Mrs. Lodge says, "I'll do whatever Cabot wants me to do." Says Mrs. Johnson: "Lyndon will set the blueprint of my role as Mrs. V.P. I'll make it as big as he wants me to. And knowing Lyndon, I know he is going to want to make the office of Vice President just as dynamic as is consonant with the Constitution. We've been studying the Constitution very carefully."

With the approaching election, Mrs. Lodge refuses to look ahead because she believes to do so is bad luck and that "sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." Mrs. Johnson thinks her party has "more than a 50-50 chance." As for the possible change in her own life that victory in the election would bring: "The question I ask myself is whether, as Mrs. V.P., I will be able to devote time to my radio-television stations."

As both Lady Bird Johnson and Emily Lodge move toward the moment of decision, neither regards the other as a rival. Says Mrs. Lodge of Mrs. Johnson: "There is no gladiator bout between us. She is charming. I like her very much."

Says Mrs. Johnson of Mrs. Lodge: "I do not think of myself as running against Emily. I used to know her well when her husband was a Senator and we worked together for the Senate's Red Cross Committee. More recently, Lyndon addressed the U.N., and the Lodges were our hosts. She was easy and friendly. I like her very much."

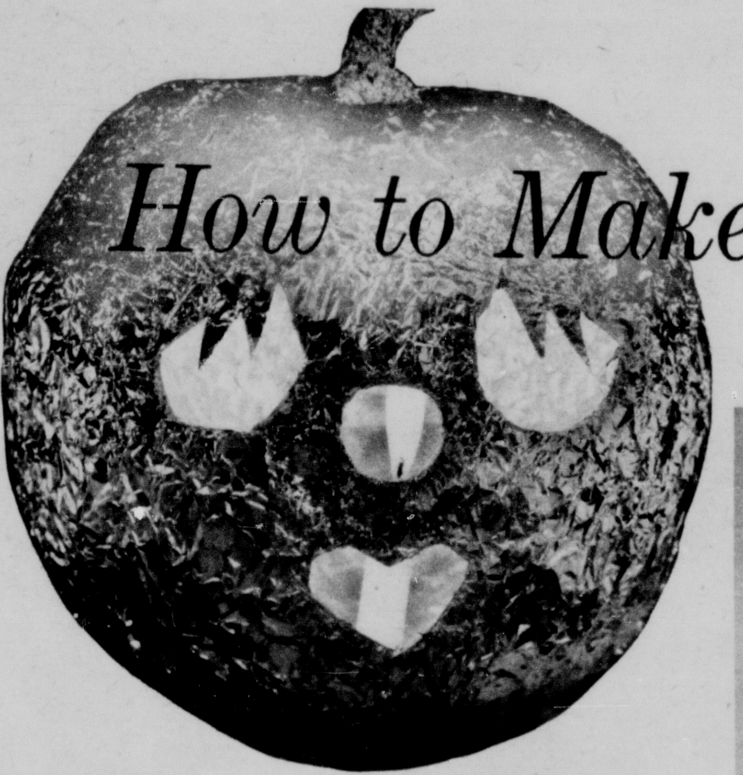
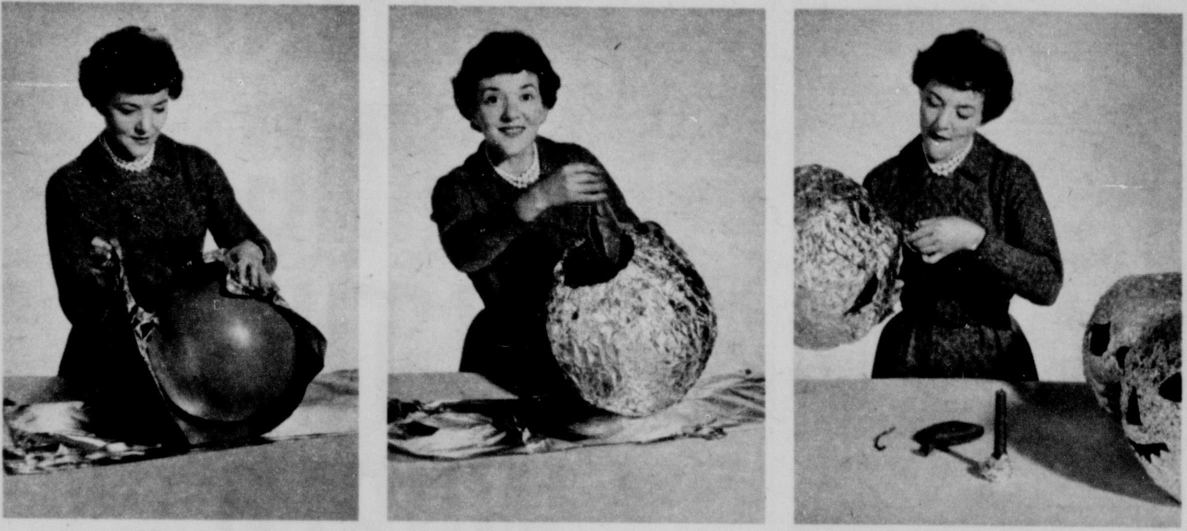
How to Make a Halloween Pumpkin



"CURSES, FOILED AGAIN!" pumpkins may well exclaim this Halloween as the fad grows to make jack-o'-lanterns out of aluminum foil. Instead of excavating mounds of fruit from a real pumpkin and laboriously carving features with a knife, kids can construct jack-o'-lanterns around a big balloon (which can be used over and over), then cut out amusing eyes, noses, and mouths with a scissors. Just follow the simple step-by-step directions shown here. Traditionalists may take heart from knowing that the aluminum-foil method leaves more makings for pumpkin pie.



First step in making aluminum-foil jack-o'-lanterns is to wrap sheets of foil around inflated balloon, which is tied with pipe cleaner to keep air inside.

Remove pipe cleaner to deflate balloon and take it out of hole. Finally, snip out fanciful eyes, noses, and mouths, make pumpkin stem top, and insert candle.

THE MOST IMPORTANT THING IN THE WORLD

Frankly, says this teen-age idol, it's me! Here's how he explains his startling philosophy of life

By BOBBY DARIN

and Robert Gaines

When I was a kid growing up in a tenement section of the Bronx, my mother said something I will never forget.

I was talking to her about what I wanted to be when I was an old guy of 25. She turned to me and in a serious, quiet voice said that only one thing mattered in any successful life: "You must realize that you are the most important thing in the world.

"You've got to believe this if you're ever going to get anywhere on this earth," she said. "You've also got to realize the vastness of the world. No matter how important you are, you're only one small person in a world where everybody believes he is just as important as you."

It was good advice, and I've tried to follow it. I remember two years back when I wanted to do an album of songs, some of them new arrangements of old-timers. This was during the period I was still known exclusively as a rock 'n' roll singer.

In trying to apply my mother's philosophy, I made the decision along with my record company to take the money earned from "Splish Splash" and "Queen of the Hop," and pour it back into myself through this album of pop material. Although the record-company executives weren't as crazy about the idea as they might have been, I believed it was the right thing to do. And that particular album just happened to be responsible for the sudden skyrocketing of my career.

One of the songs I included was Kurt Weill's "Mack the Knife." Between the album and singles of that song which came out later, I sold more than a million and took that first important step out of rock 'n' roll into really adult singing. "Mack the Knife" proved one thing: you've got to believe in yourself enough so that no one can force you to back down to where you get stuck in the crowd.

When it comes to planning, I've got a mind like an IBM machine. Nearly everything I do is part of a master plan to make me the most important entertainer in the world. I'm not a spontaneous human being. Show me any top entertainer or top business executive, and I'll show you a guy who has mapped out his life from the very start.

Sometimes, though, I can go overboard by pushing too hard. I've got to watch that streak of fake in me. For example, I like to play up ordinary things with tricks, gags, stunts. When I walk into a strange room, I usually try to cover my nervousness by shouting and playing to the entire room.

This is a weakness. Maybe when I'm a bit more grown-up, I'll be able to cut out this "wingadingding" nonsense and just walk into a room straight.

Lord knows, I don't expect anybody to think the way I do. Nor do I figure that I'm the guy to tell people, especially teen-agers, what to do with their lives. But the trouble with the world, I think, is that there aren't enough egotists who really think they're important. There aren't enough individuals—tough-minded, independent thinkers who are self-centered enough to stick to their own ideas.

The rock 'n' roll craze is a perfect example of group thinking. It hit the country like a tidal wave in 1953. Suddenly, we were flooded to the eyeballs with rock 'n' roll. I was writing a few songs that year while trying to break in as a pop singer. I took a ballad I was excited about over to a friend who was a music publisher.

The publisher took one look at it, shrugged his shoulders, and said sourly, "Who needs it? All the kids are buying these days is rock 'n' roll."

I took the song home, changed it in about 15 minutes to a rock 'n' roll beat with a new name, and mailed it off to the same publisher. A day later, I got a call. "Great, kid," he said. "This is the kind of stuff we're looking for. Send us more!"

So how are you going to think independently in this rock 'n' roll world? First you've got to have something upstairs to think with. This means you've got to listen and learn. You've got to know as much as possible about the world.

I get frightened when I bump into things I don't know about, and this is what's wrong with kids today. They get scared, too, but instead of learning about the problem, they slip into conformity, where others think for them.

An awful lot of American parents aren't helping the problem, either. They're so busy giving their children the best of everything that they're robbing them of the ability to do things on their own.

The way I see it, parents ought to be guideposts to a kid. They should direct the youngster and teach him, not force him into a set pattern.

For example, if my mother had seen me rolling on the floor when I was little, she wouldn't have worried: if that's what I wanted to do, I could do it. If, on the other hand, there was broken glass on the floor, she would have warned me and told me that I would get cut and it would hurt if I didn't stop.

She wouldn't just swat me on the head and say, "Stop that. It's stupid." If I stayed on the floor and cut myself, I had nobody to blame but me. My mother showed me the way but let me learn by myself. She didn't squeeze the individualism out of me that way.

In all fairness, I've got to say that many kids don't give their parents a fair shake. You hear a constant wail from teens that "my father doesn't talk to me." But how would the kids know? They're not even listening; they're too busy trying to get the car out of Dad for Saturday night.

Part of education is making flubs. The first song I sold was a flop called "My First Real Love." But that didn't stop me.

The real blunder with most kids I meet is not that they make these flubs, but that they don't make them often enough. Their theory is: why try for something hard? Why try to be tops when you can join the crowd of second-raters?

Learning, I find, is a continuous process, and a great way to learn is from people. I can sometimes learn more having dinner with friends in New York than I can from five volumes of philosophy. You don't have to think like a guy to learn from him or to like him. But to be his friend, you've got to accept the fact that he can be different from you.

A famous entertainer, for example, is a good friend of mine, but we're as different as Fabian and Crosby. Once, in a night club in Los Angeles, I saw him wasting his time sitting at a table after the show with a small army of people. He didn't know half of them, and they were only there because he was famous and not just Joe Blow from Hohokus.

I walked over to him. "Waddya need all these characters for?" I said bluntly. He looked at me, surprised and hurt. I suddenly had the feeling that I had asked a painful question—and there was no reason for my doing it. That's the way he is; I'm the way I am.

I'm not like him or Sinatra or Como. I'm just Bobby Darin—an individual—but I can still be friends with all of them.

Sure, I've got my faults. I'm the egomaniac you read about. I'm an honest guy, but I can sometimes be cruel. I try to be completely objective about myself. But in the meantime, I'm a guy with some very definite ideas about just how my life should be lived.

I think that I come first. But when I say "Jump," the fewer people that jump, the better I like it!

I'm not saying you should be like me. I'm only saying you should be exactly like you and not try to be like anybody else.

I know that I'm the most important guy in the world! It would be a better world if you felt the same way about you.

Can a person survive being struck directly by a bolt of lightning? Here is the amazing story of a woman who did

By Mrs. GORDON WETZEL as told to James D. Thompson

A LIGHT RAIN had been falling most of the morning, but my brother Okey (short for Orin), his wife Ann, our friend Midge Gallagher, and I decided to go ahead with our plans to play a round of golf.

Actually, Okey was along because of the rain. He owns a landscaping firm and had sent his men home because of the bad weather.

Reluctant at first to accompany three women on the course, he was finally persuaded to join us. Of course, from the first tee on, he was mercilessly teased, especially by me, whenever he outdrove us. "No one asked you to come along anyway. You're just showing off," I would accuse in mock anger.

By the 14th green, the warm drizzle we had been playing in turned to heavy rain. We agreed to play out the hole and then head for a nearby shelter.

When it was my turn, my shot dropped into a bunker, a sandy hollow near the green. While the others waited, I walked to the bunker. With my seven-iron in hand, I stood beside the ball.

Cradling the steel club in my left hand, I studied the shot and moved my right hand to grip the shaft.

Before my right hand ever touched the club, I was struck by a bolt of lightning! I fell. Breath left me—life left me. I was dead! It was a long time before I learned how I came to live again after I was struck. Okey, Ann, and Midge, hearing the crash of the bolt, ran toward the bunker. Okey reached me first. Just as he got to where I was lying, Midge shouted, "Breathe into her mouth."

Okey said later that the same thought had already popped into his mind, but he had only seen the mouth-to-mouth breathing process demonstrated once on television.

It was an ordeal. The burnt ozone in the air and in my lungs was so strong it nauseated him. He would breathe into my mouth, pause, retch, cough, and choke, then start over again.

Midge stood by Okey while Ann rushed to call an ambulance. As they waited for it to arrive, consciousness returned to me. I became aware of my brother's voice pleading desperately with me to "keep breathing, don't stop." It took every ounce of strength I possessed.

The doctors have said that I was dead! If my brother hadn't administered artificial respiration, I would have remained dead. He had to perform the act three times, because after being revived, my lungs would fail and I would lapse back into nothingness. My brother's presence of mind, his faith, and his courage brought me back to life each time my breathing stopped. Finally, my own lungs recovered enough to take over the job of keeping me alive.

ONCE THE AMBULANCE arrived, I was given an oxygen mask. I rode in a sea of pain. At the hospital I was taken to the emergency room where they had to cut my clothes off of me. The lightning had ripped the zipper out of my jacket and burned a hole six inches in diameter in the front of my shorts and my underclothing. The pain was like a hot searing iron through my body.

I tried to tell those around me of the torture I was in, but I couldn't make anyone understand my words. I was aware of a nurse trying to take my rings off my left hand, and I pleaded with her not to because it hurt so. I forced myself to look at the hand: it was torn apart from burns! I could hear Okey telling me that my husband Gordon was on the way and my children were safe. Then the doctor came with a hypodermic needle, and everything subsided.

When I awoke, my husband was standing at the foot of my bed. He smiled at me and said encouragingly, "You're going to be all right."

It was a strain to hear all his words. I asked him to speak louder. Only after he bent and put his lips close to my ear did I realize he had been talking in his normal tone.

"My hearing is practically gone, isn't it?" I asked.

"Nonsense," he said. "Stop worrying. You're going to be fine, dear."

I didn't know then that the doctors had told my husband and my brother that they held little hope for my life.

People who are struck by lightning either suffer minor injuries or die. The doctors feared I had suffered heart and brain damage.

MY MOTHER, a practical nurse for years, has since told me that her composure was completely shattered when she saw me for the first time. The sight of me lying with oxygen tubes in my nostrils and the awful yellow-brown cast of my skin convinced her I would be the first of her children to die.

I was in the hospital a long time. Extensive tests showed no brain damage, and my heart repaired itself through rest and relaxation. Before I left the hospital, my hand was operated on, but I will never regain full use of it.

When the going gets rough, I remind myself how very close I came to not being here at all. It helps me to live with my hearing loss in one ear and with the fact that I must take frequent rests every day and cannot be the active mother I had been to my three daughters. But I look at my family and thank God for not taking me from them. And I thank Him for my brother's presence that day.

The amazed doctors told Gordon that when the lightning bolt struck, I must have died, at least by medical standards. Each time I ceased breathing while Okey was giving me mouth-to-mouth respiration, I died again. They said that only through Okey's efforts was I kept alive and that, indeed, I owed my life to him—not once but three times.

I keep thinking how fortunate I am that he saw that demonstration of mouth-to-mouth breathing. And I can only hope my story will lead others to learn about this great life saver.

Brush Your Teeth With Bicarbonate of Soda

Ask your dentist this question. What dentifrice is recommended in literature of the American Dental Association? He can tell you—bicarbonate of soda, commonly called baking soda. Arm & Hammer soda helps clean both natural and artificial teeth thoroughly, safely. By helping to keep the mouth clean and fresh, it aids in preventing bad breath.

SAVE MONEY!—Use dentist-approved soda in place of fancy-flavored dentifrices, and a typical family can cut dentifrice costs 70% or more. Buy Arm & Hammer soda at food stores.

In certain areas, such as metropolitan New York, the same high quality soda is sold under the name COW BRAND.

CHURCH & DWIGHT CO., INC., 70 Pine St., N.Y. 5, N.Y.

came with a hypodermic needle, and everything subsided.

When I awoke, my husband was standing at the foot of my bed. He smiled at me and said encouragingly, "You're going to be all right."

It was a strain to hear all his words. I asked him to speak louder. Only after he bent and put his lips close to my ear did I realize he had been talking in his normal tone.

"My hearing is practically gone, isn't it?" I asked.

"Nonsense," he said. "Stop worrying. You're going to be fine, dear."

I didn't know then that the doctors had told my husband and my brother that they held little hope for my life.

People who are struck by lightning either suffer minor injuries or die. The doctors feared I had suffered heart and brain damage.

My MOTHER, a practical nurse for years, has since told me that her composure was completely shattered when she saw me for the first time. The sight of me lying with oxygen tubes in my nostrils and the awful yellow-brown cast of my skin convinced her I would be the first of her children to die.

I was in the hospital a long time. Extensive tests showed no brain damage, and my heart repaired itself through rest and relaxation. Before I left the hospital, my hand was operated on, but I will never regain full use of it.

When the going gets rough, I remind myself how very close I came to not being here at all. It helps me to live with my hearing loss in one ear and with the fact that I must take frequent rests every day and cannot be the active mother I had been to my three daughters. But I look at my family and thank God for not taking me from them. And I thank Him for my brother's presence that day.

The amazed doctors told Gordon that when the lightning bolt struck, I must have died, at least by medical standards. Each time I ceased breathing while Okey was giving me mouth-to-mouth respiration, I died again. They said that only through Okey's efforts was I kept alive and that, indeed, I owed my life to him—not once but three times.

I keep thinking how fortunate I am that he saw that demonstration of mouth-to-mouth breathing. And I can only hope my story will lead others to learn about this great life saver.

Toffee-Topped Fudge Cake

TO PREPARE: 25 MIN. TO BAKE: 40-45 MIN.

1 cup sifted flour
¼ cup cocoa
½ teaspoon baking soda
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
½ cup sugar
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 egg yolk, well beaten
⅔ cup buttermilk
1 egg white
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
¼ cup (about 1 oz.) finely chopped walnuts
¼ teaspoon vanilla extract

1. Grease bottom only of an 8x8x2-in. cake pan. Set aside.

2. Sift together the flour, cocoa, and baking soda; set aside.

3. Cream together the butter and 1 teaspoon vanilla extract until butter is softened. Add sugar and ¼ cup brown sugar gradually, creaming until fluffy after each addition. Add beaten egg yolk gradually, beating thoroughly.

4. Beating only until smooth after each addition, alternately add dry ingredients in fourths, buttermilk in thirds to the creamed mixture. Finally, beat only until smooth (do not overbeat). Turn batter into pan.

5. Bake at 350°F 30 to 35 min., or until cake tester or wooden pick comes out clean when inserted in center of cake.

6. About 5 min. before cake is done, beat egg white until frothy. Add the remaining brown sugar gradually, beating well after each addition. Continue beating until rounded peaks are formed and egg-white mixture does not slide when bowl is partially inverted. Fold in nuts and ¼ teaspoon vanilla extract.

7. Remove cake from oven. Cool on cooling rack 1 to 2 min. Carefully spread with the egg-white mixture. Return to oven and bake 10 min. longer.

8. Remove from oven. Cool completely in pan on cooling rack. Cut into squares.

Skillet Potatoes au Gratin

TO PREPARE AND COOK: 35 MIN.

4 large potatoes, pared and sliced
½ cup finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
1 cup water
½ cup cream
¼ cup butter, melted
½ cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese
3 slices bacon, diced and panbroiled until crisp
2 tablespoons butter
½ cup bread crumbs

1. Put sliced potatoes, onion, salt, pepper, and water into a heavy skillet. Cover and bring to boiling. Reduce heat and cook about 10 min., or until potatoes are just tender.

2. Add cream, ¼ cup butter, and cheese to skillet and mix lightly. Cook, uncovered, over low heat about 10 min., or until thoroughly heated.

3. Meanwhile, heat 2 tablespoons butter in a small skillet. Add bread crumbs and heat over low heat, moving frequently with a spoon until crumbs are lightly browned.

4. Transfer potatoes to warm serving dish and top with crumbs and bacon.

I was just thinking...®

DEAR MILKMAN:

If to my wondering eyes had appeared eight tiny reindeer when I opened my refrigerator tonight, I couldn't have been more amazed.

My idea of a standing order has been transformed into your idea of a standing army. There it stood, the entire white regiment. My kitchen looks like an outpost of your dairy.

The thing is, I wanted two bottles of homogenized for the dog and cat and two bottles of skim for me. That may seem unfair to people, but I'm fatter than my menagerie.

Remember what you put in my refrigerator? Three half gallons of homogenized and six quarts of skim. I don't know a single cow as generous as you are—and it's my budget you're breaking.

I briefed the fellow who started out on this route. He appeared to be a regular Albert Einstein, but he quit the next week. I told his successor, but he never showed up again. I don't know which milkman you are in the lineage, but I do know my order must be written somewhere in your little black book.

Maybe you think I'm being picky, but I've had a hard day. Before I got in the back door, I discovered the only rosebush which grew among the three I planted has completely disappeared. The dog (who takes homogenized) is acting a little peculiar about it, and I think he dug it up and buried it because even the hole where the rosebush grew is gone.

It's bad to lose a rosebush, but losing the hole, too, is enough to drive a woman wild.

So here's what I'm going to do after I take a bath in five quarts of milk. I'm going to bury all the bottles in the garden where the rosebush grew and see if I can hatch my own cow. And then you needn't bother to stop any more at all.

Sincerely,

Patty Johnson

My idea of a standing order has been transformed into your idea of a standing army. There it stood, the entire white regiment. My kitchen looks like an outpost of your dairy.

The thing is, I wanted two bottles of homogenized for the dog and cat and two bottles of skim for me. That may seem unfair to people, but I'm fatter than my menagerie.

Remember what you put in my refrigerator? Three half gallons of homogenized and six quarts of skim. I don't know a single cow as generous as you are—and it's my budget you're breaking.

I briefed the fellow who started out on this route. He appeared to be a regular Albert Einstein, but he quit the next week. I told his successor, but he never showed up again. I don't know which milkman you are in the lineage, but I do know my order must be written somewhere in your little black book.

Maybe you think I'm being picky, but I've had a hard day. Before I got in the back door, I discovered the only rosebush which grew among the three I planted has completely disappeared. The dog (who takes homogenized) is acting a little peculiar about it, and I think he dug it up and buried it because even the hole where the rosebush grew is gone.

It's bad to lose a rosebush, but losing the hole, too, is enough to drive a woman wild.

So here's what I'm going to do after I take a bath in five quarts of milk. I'm going to bury all the bottles in the garden where the rosebush grew and see if I can hatch my own cow. And then you needn't bother to stop any more at all.

Sincerely,

Peg Johnson

STOP OILY SKIN TO CHECK PIMPLES!

Don't pick, scratch, squeeze or merely "cover them up"

Doctors know that acne or pimples are caused by the germ called the acne bacillus. These germs invade overactive oil glands in the skin, cause blackheads and pus pockets; then your skin "breaks out."

What's needed is (1) to dry up the excessive oil that collects on skin; (2) to destroy acne germs on the skin, and (3) to stop itching and irritation so pimples can heal.

QUIPS AND QUOTES

"I find friends and associates so irritating!" a tense, nervous housewife told her doctor. He prescribed a tranquilizer and asked her to come back in a week.

"How does life look to you now?" the doctor asked her on her next visit.

"Terrible!" the housewife exclaimed. "I find friends and associates much sweeter now, but buying them tranquilizers is bankrupting me!"

"Tom wants me to fix his dinner, Helen. Suppose I call you back in about a minute?"

Two young boys in a movie theater were swinging their legs thoughtlessly and kicking the seats in front of them. A man occupying one of the seats turned around and said: "Stop that right now!"

One boy stubbornly kept kicking the seat until his companion whispered: "Better do what the man says. He ain't your father, you know."

The town's old doctor was also its "character." He'd stayed the same as always while the community "progressed," growing bigger and more prosperous. Ol' doc even drove the same ancient auto he'd used in the lean days before the war.

One morning he stepped from his cluttered office to find a group of teen-agers standing around the car, laughing at such oddities as running boards and vertical windshields.

"Well," the doctor told the young men, "I can say one thing for my car—it's paid for." Then he looked squarely from one to another. "But you're not . . . and you're not . . . and you're not."

Actress Sylvia Miles, who appears in the movie, "Parrish," confounds her bowling foe with another strike.

CAN WOMEN BOWL BETTER THAN MEN?

The feminine invasion of the bowling lanes has caused a revolution in the sport, and the effects are sometimes even reflected on the score sheets

By BOB DRISCOLL

NOT TOO LONG AGO, bowling alleys were frequented strictly by men. In recent years, however, the not-so-aromatic smell of stale beer and cigars has gradually been replaced by the fragrance of cosmetics and perfume.

And bowling-lane operators have acknowledged the surge of feminine interest by installing such niceties as modern snack bars, barbecue pits, swimming pools, even nurseries.

There's no doubt about it: women are entrenched in our bowling lanes to stay. Already, 13.4 million out of a national total of 30.4 million bowlers are women, and the number is increasing every day.

Men have readily adjusted to the "invasion" and now bowl side by side with their wives and girl friends. Their only concern is the realization that the gals can often bowl every bit as well as they can—sometimes embarrassingly better.

"Muscles don't make the bowler," observes Don Carter, widely considered the greatest bowler in the world today (he has racked up 13 perfect 300 games!). "It's the proper delivery of the ball—holding and releasing it correctly—that makes the high scorer. There's absolutely no reason why a gal can't practice until she's as adept as her husband."

Marion Ladewig, who has bowled as high as 288 during a professional career that has seen her average more than 190, says that a casual once-a-week woman bowler ordinarily averages 115-130 against the once-a-week male industrial-league bowler's 140-160.

"But that's only because the man has tougher competition and has probably been bowling longer," she explains. "A man and woman of identical bowling background can be expected to roll approximately the same score."

So if your wife takes up bowling, she'll probably beat you about half the time once she gets the knack of it.

MOST MEN have gallantly taken the attitude that it isn't so bad if they lose a game to a woman. Only the disgruntled husband who misses his "bowling night with the boys" still bothers to lament, and this group of malcontents is growing smaller. The majority admits that the interest of women has been the best thing that has happened to the sport since the invention of the automatic pin setter.

"Now that there are thousands of women coming to the lanes," as one long-time bowler puts it, "you can always look forward to first-class facilities; women simply won't settle for less. And it's not so hard on the eyes, either, to see women rolling a game or two with their neat, specially tailored bowling togs after years of seeing nothing but stout men with their shirttails hanging out and cigars clamped between their teeth. As a matter of fact, the presence of women has made the fellows spruce up."

If the trend continues, it shouldn't be long before husbands are boasting of their wives' bowling scores in much the same way as they've always boasted about their cooking.

FALSE SCENT
by Ngaio Marsh

Mary Bellamy's death caused a sensation. Everyone at her party had a cast-iron alibi – and they all thought Mary had killed herself. But Scotland Yard can prove that this was physically IMPOSSIBLE!

THE MAN WHO FOLLOWED WOMEN
by Bert and Dolores Hitchens

You're face-to-face with Pethro, the ape-man. His best friend was beaten to death and hurled into a concrete hopper. Now Pethro's coming for you . . . with a wrench that looks as big as a baseball bat!

TIGER ON MY BACK
by The Gordons

Bert lay motionless in the sand. He figured that if he played dead, maybe the sniper would be fooled and go away. But then he heard a familiar, dreaded rumble. A TANK was about to run over him!

Follow PERRY MASON As He Tackles These 6 Thrilling Cases

❶ The Case of the* DUPLICATE DAUGHTER

Things never looked blacker for Perry than in his latest case. His star witness refuses to say a word! But the D.A.'s star witness will HAVE to talk – because it's none other than PERRY HIMSELF!

❷ The Case of the* WAYLAID WOLF

Pretty Arlene Ferris insists she didn't kill "Wolf" Lamont. But so much evidence says she did that for the first time in his life, Perry tells a client she's going to prison for life – or to the gas chamber!

❸ The Case of the* SINGING SKIRT

A gambling hostess gets Perry into real hot water! Right now, the D.A. is making spectacular courtroom disclosures—charging PERRY not only with unethical methods – but with being an accomplice to MURDER!

❹ The Case of the* MYTHICAL MONKEYS

❺ The Case of the* DEADLY TOY

What started out as a routine "crank" investigation now involves murder, mayhem and millionaires – and a warrant for PERRY's arrest – on a charge of KIDNAPPING!

❻ The Case of the* CALENDAR GIRL

To save his client, Perry Mason builds an airtight case against Dawn Manning. But when the D.A. arrests her on a murder charge, she calls Perry. "I want you to be MY lawyer now!"
